Well we had some fun times this year even though we weren't in the same classes. (Sorry about the dumb stuff.) But Ferni were just starting and though our relationship has been shakey at times as it might seem to be now, ~~but~~ I know and I have faith that we will make it. I have to have someone that I really love and someone that really loves me, ~~and~~ If I am going to fulfill my life's ambitions. And I know that the love we share is all ^{the} love there could ever be between two people.

Our lives right now are hard to bare
With the war and hate that's everywhere
But I'll live my life with my love for you
Just praying there is something that I can do
And there will come a time when man will see
That Love Must Rule Eternity

Love Ben

So I see you have to be now that you have to be influenced by a girl who has a naughty girl who has influenced me all!!
can say is THANK-YOU!!

Terri,

Well, I suppose I should start out with many hellos. That has been the longest lasting of all. W.T.S finally wore out. Thank goodness "I mean really" dropped dead along with Jim. Last summer was such as gas I know there will never be another like it. That is when I first started to corrupt you..... Poor baby! I think our stage's of change have finally come to a halt. First the beach then Roadway, then we finally met the last stage of life, Bob & Ben. I'll never forget the heartattacks and tears we've had together over those two LBJ's. One thing bad about them, so that they have us to god damned whipped. Although Bob and I probably won't last near as long as you and Ben, we will still have more fun in the future. So bad about us being so dumb to get caught by our parents at everything we do. I wish they could only see how well we planned everything. We did then we could of at least got credit for that. Maybe if your not married by the time were able to move out, we can really show your parents what kind of little hell raisers we can really be. Only you & me know the secret of real good. All American fun. It comes in many forms but our favourite of all was Bob. Well maybe not. (That's Rainbow talk) We will be to depart, until Pat's hair goes straight - until he has some brains, and until your parents like me.... In other words - FOREVER. Love you your dear, sweet friend
ROSEY SUE

P.S. Notice each Almanac we have 2 different guys to swoon over. Who's it gonna be next year?

ACADEMICS

A. L. Westcott Returns

As a "returnee" to Franklin, Dr. Arthur Westcott brings a mighty goal. This is "to create a program that would appeal to each youngster". The school offers an adequate academic program for college-bound students. Vocational education, however, has been neglected. This deficiency is being eliminated through the development of automotive and vocational units and the building of facilities for such classes.

Dr. Westcott advocates the formulation of regular attendance habits in high school in preparation for the future.

Dr. Westcott believes that we each need a certain amount of recognition as an individual. He practices his belief by getting to know the students personally. You see him often in the halls between classes talking to the students.

"The real thrill comes from being a participant!" This is what Dr. Westcott said when asked how more students can become actively involved. Although many students have part-time jobs which prevent them from taking part in extra-curricular activities, there are some that need encouragement before becoming involved. Dr. Westcott stated, "One person must encourage another and this encouragement catches like fire. You need to dedicate yourself to your school and to your future, and participate in things with a missionary zeal."

Dr. Arthur L. Westcott, Principal

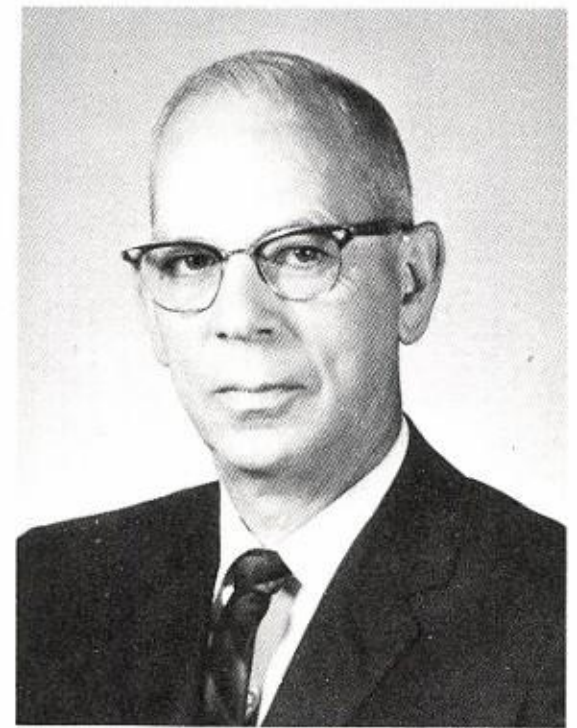

After two years in another assignment Dr. Westcott again serves the Franklin community. Here, he gets acquainted with his office.

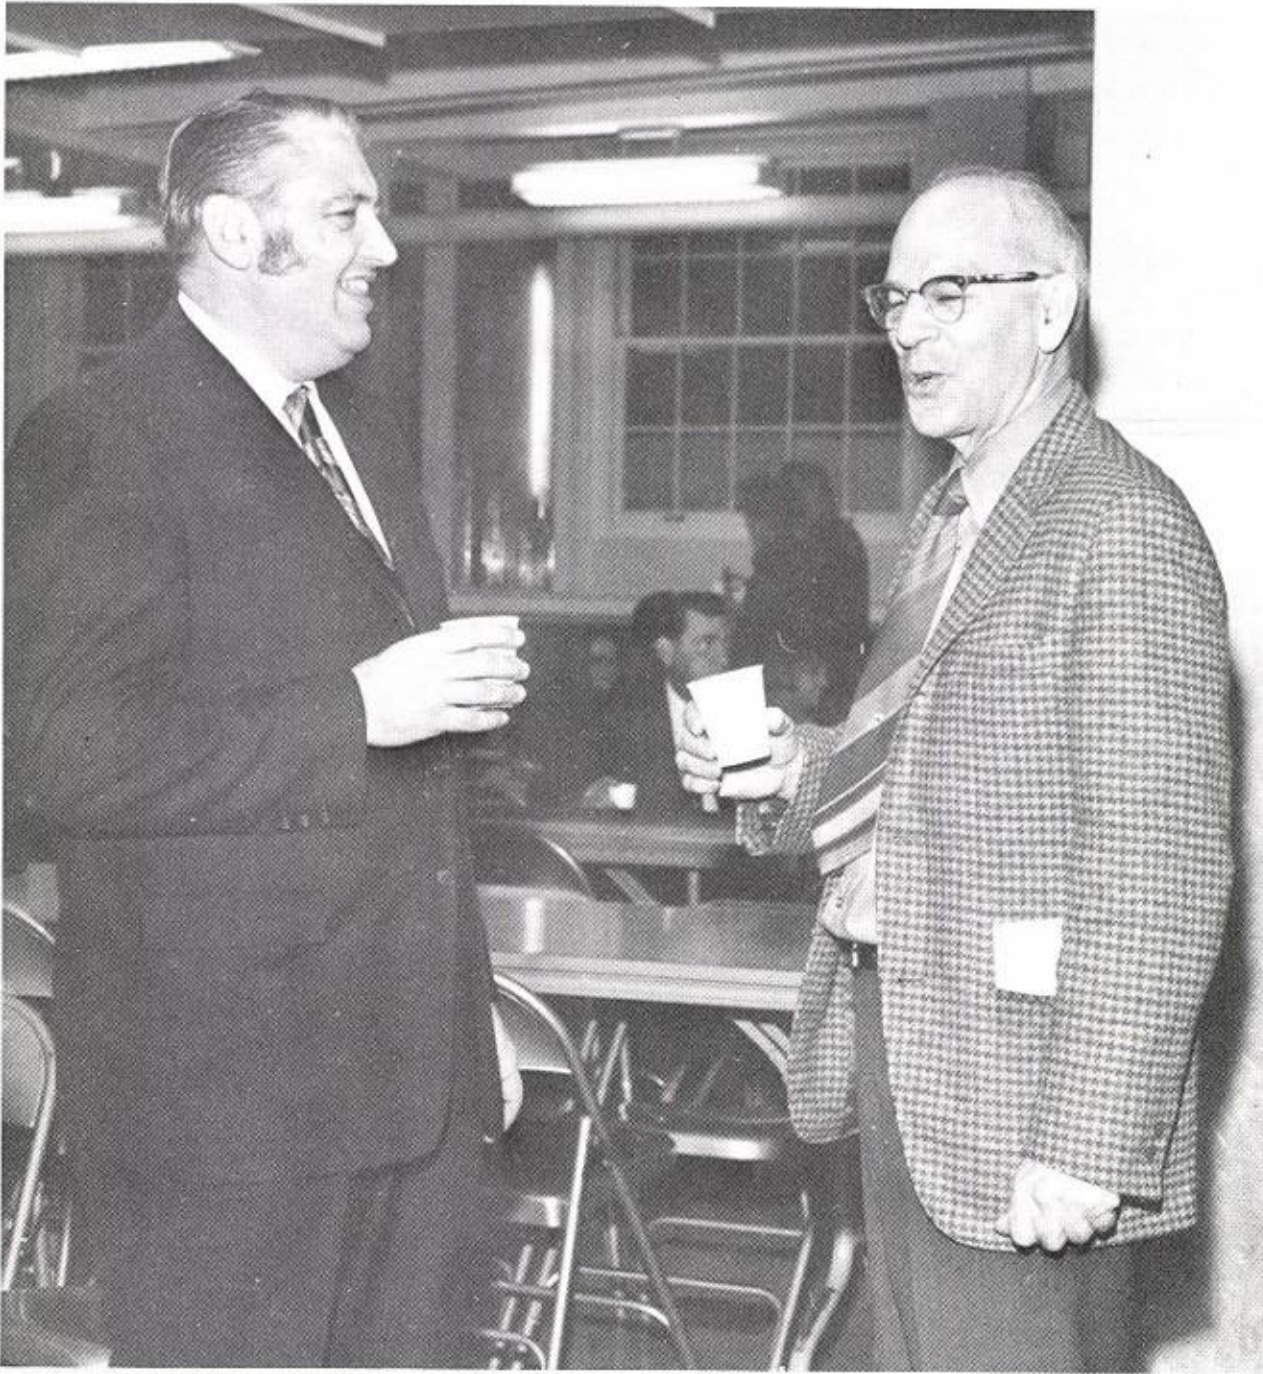

Mr. King Seeks Feedback

As supervising vice-principal, Mr. Jack King's duties include: evaluating teachers, selecting and distributing of all educational supplies, and programming and forecasting for the coming year. Mr. King works with teachers, department chairmen, and the Curriculum Council on the improvement of Franklin's curriculum.

Mr. King wants to get feedback from the students concerning their likes and dislikes of the curriculum, to help the Student Curriculum Council become an effective body.

Mr. Jack King

Mr. Jack King, vice-principal, happily speaks to a parent at PTA Wassail.

Mrs. Westcott (second from left) and Dr. Westcott discuss school activities with mothers and Mr. and Mrs. Johnson (on right).

Vice- Principals Advocate Need of Student Involvement

"Those who are active should exert every possible effort to encourage each person to take part in activities. Personal contact and request is the best way to encourage involvement." Mrs. Verna Miller feels that students should be drawn into involvement by others. Mrs. Miller supervises girls' affairs and activities and counseling. She promotes the establishment of excellent attendance habits.

"After being away from the high schools so long, it's just great to be back," commented Dr. C. V. Cremer. This is Dr. Cremer's first year working directly with young people after thirteen years with the Personnel Department of the Portland Public Schools. As administrative vice-principal for boys' attendance and discipline, school finance, and athletics. Dr. Cremer's long range goal is to encourage and persuade every young person to continue his education until high school graduation.

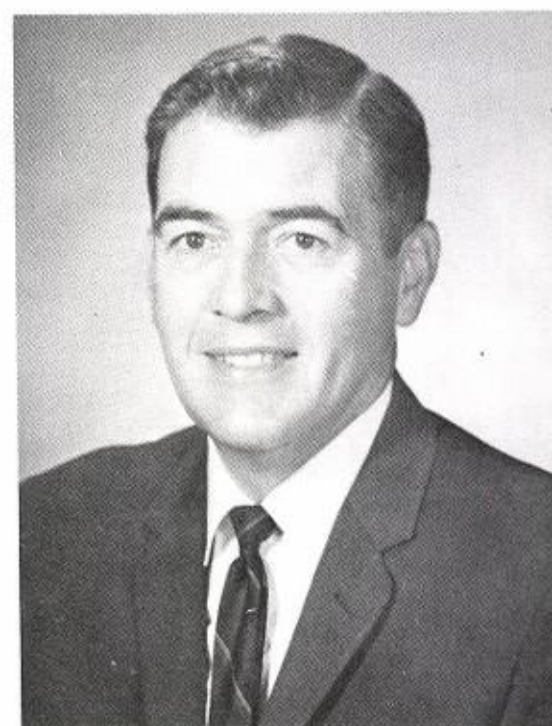

Dr. Cremer meets a Japanese wrestler with Gary Hunnel.

Mrs. Miller and Mr. Edward Wong participate in Christmas festivities.

Mrs. Verna Miller

Mr. Flitcroft and Mr. Wolf Aid the Ad- ministration

The Administrative Assistant at Franklin High School, Mr. Marvin Flitcroft, serves as an extension of both Administrative Vice Principals' offices. Mr. Flitcroft acts as their representative in carrying out duties involving conditions in halls, auditorium, cafeteria, and on or around the campus. In addition, the Administrative Assistant has duties which relate to attendance and welfare of students.

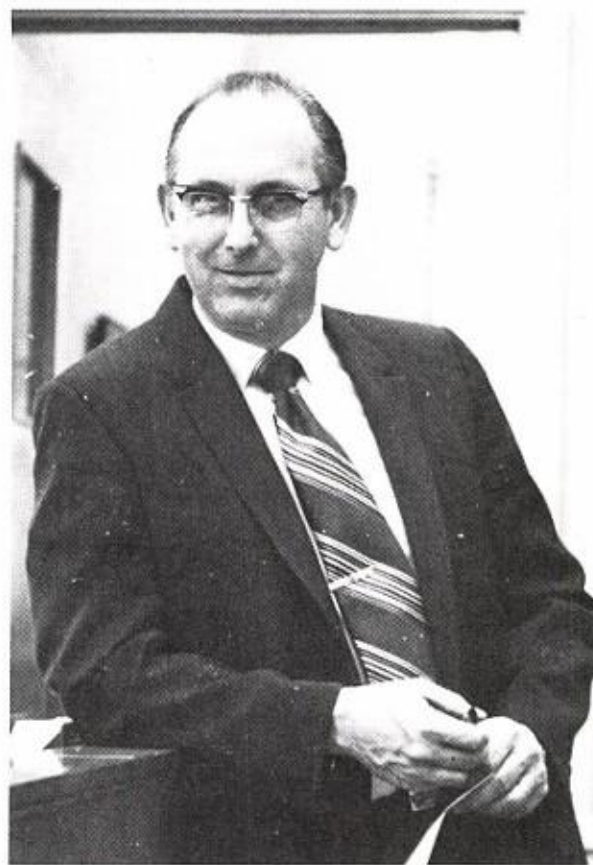

As Franklin's Athletic Director, Mr. Frank Wolf describes his position as that of a "Glorified Equipment Manager." He supervises all home games and keeps an account of the athlete equipment. Mr. Wolf feels an athletic program consists of "those people who participate and those who view as spectators." He believes more participation is needed, especially from the students. Before assuming the position of Athletic Director this year, Mr. Wolf was the football coach at Grant High School.

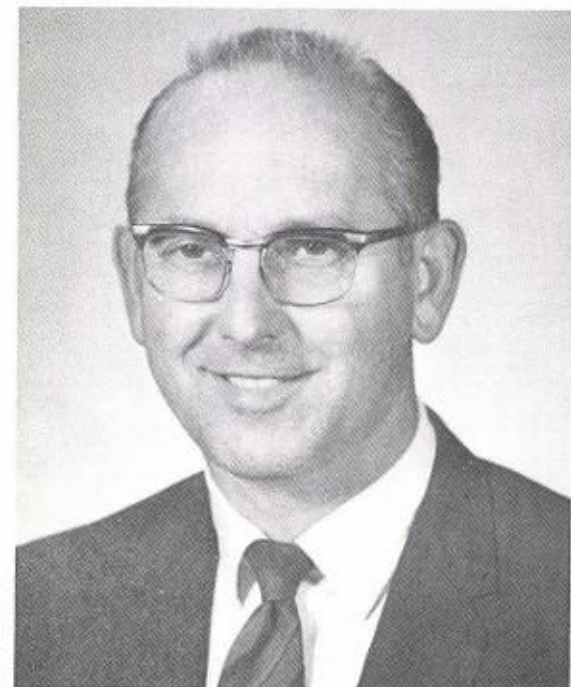

Mr. Marvin Flitcroft discusses school matters on the phone.

Secretaries Assist All

Checking, phoning, noting, typing, alphabetizing, mailing, filing, and answering are some of the jobs of Franklin's 14 secretaries. Secretaries work in the main and attendance offices, resource centers, book room and student store.

The secretaries train students to assist them with their duties.

Mrs. Helen Gottsch supervised all cafeteria operations. Adult workers prepared large, inexpensive lunches for the students. Students assist by serving and making change.

Mr. Ed Drais, head custodian, supervised the cleaning and upkeep of the building. Students helped with custodial duties. Maintenance is a never-ending chore.

Counselors Urge the Making of Wise Plans

To help you make wise plans and decisions as a student is the purpose of the Counseling Department. Counselors work with the individual students throughout their high school career.

Early Planning Helps Students

Mr. Richard Laughlin, Franklin's college co-ordinator, is very concerned by students who are late in planning for their future. But, he feels that it is the student's individual responsibility to ask for the necessary information. Mr. Laughlin works with the counselors and Mrs. Bonnae Lindley in the Vocational Information Center in sending this information to the students. Underclassmen should be encouraged to use all sources of information offered to avoid a last minute and perhaps a hasty decision.

200 Students Receive Jobs

As vocational counselor, Mr. Robert Coles finds part-time jobs for Franklin High School students along with working on the Neighborhood Youth Corps and Cosmetology programs.

Mr. Coles aided in providing students with a beneficial and meaningful work experience program. A grade of Pass or Fail is given for each term of work experience. This year he assisted 50 to 75 students in finding employment, and involved 150 students in the work experience program.

Mini-Courses Instituted by Curriculum Council

Mrs. Dee Gowing, Mr. Jack King, Dr. C. V. Cremer, and Mr. Richard Laughlin discuss and read over school materials.

Headed by Mr. Yoshinobu Terada, the Curriculum Council instituted a mini-course program in non-academic interest areas. Student opinions and suggestions were presented by the student members of the Council.

Miss Dorothy Grant made a proposal that a freshman entering a second-year foreign language class be granted a credit for work completed in grade school. This was adopted.

Course improvements, schedule improvements, problems concerning odd and even scheduling, and new courses were investigated by the Council.

P. T. A., Dads' Club Organize Money-Makers

"I'm just delighted with the help we've received this year," commented Mrs. Elizabeth Wong, PTA President. Annual PTA projects included textbook distribution and vision screening. Eight devoted mothers assisted in the registration of students on August 25, 26, and 31. The PTA helped the seniors with the Christmas wrap-station at Pay-Less. With the money earned at this wrap-station, football concession stands, and on glass collections, the PTA was able to give a $250.00 scholarship.

This year's Dads' Club is greater than ever, and have displayed their spirited activity by patrolling football and basketball games along with the track meets held at Franklin. Fall Dads' Club President Wayne Bergstrom noted that this year's membership numbers 126, and "we'd like to have more dads." The efforts from physical education teachers have, also, greatly helped the Dads' Club with their activities. Money making activities include the addition of concession stands at Franklin track meets. This money will be given to Franklin High School to aid in their endeavors and in scholarships for graduating senior students.

Students Prepare for Careers

Business education courses are designed to introduce the student to opportunities in the business world. Students interested in the fields of general office work, stenography, accounting, and marketing took specialized classes in these areas. Office practice acquaints students with various business machines in preparation for secretarial work. Courses in consumer education and exploratory business fields were available to all students.

Student secretary Pat Robinson takes a message during her turn in the main office.

Vocations Added in Business Department

To explore different occupations available in a hospital work area and to become more relaxed in a hospital atmosphere are the goals of the hospital worker program. During the second half of the year, the 59 students worked at Portland Adventist Hospital in various departments.

Horticulture classes were open again to juniors and seniors interested in landscaping, nursery, and floral work.

The student assistant program was open to seniors who may be interested in the teaching profession. After a brief time in the classroom, the students aid elementary or high school teachers in their duties.

Combined classes were part of the curriculum designed to help the freshmen adjust to high school. Taught by the same teacher in a two period block of time, the combination of English and social studies provides the student with a variation of the homeroom situation that he was accustomed to.

English classes cover grammar, Greek mythology, Shakespeare, and The Odyssey. Ancient Greek and European history are stressed in social studies classes.

Students Develop Acting Skills

Two important facets of beginning drama are the study of theater history and the basics of acting.

Advanced drama, reserved for juniors and seniors, provides the opportunity for student participation in the world of the theater.

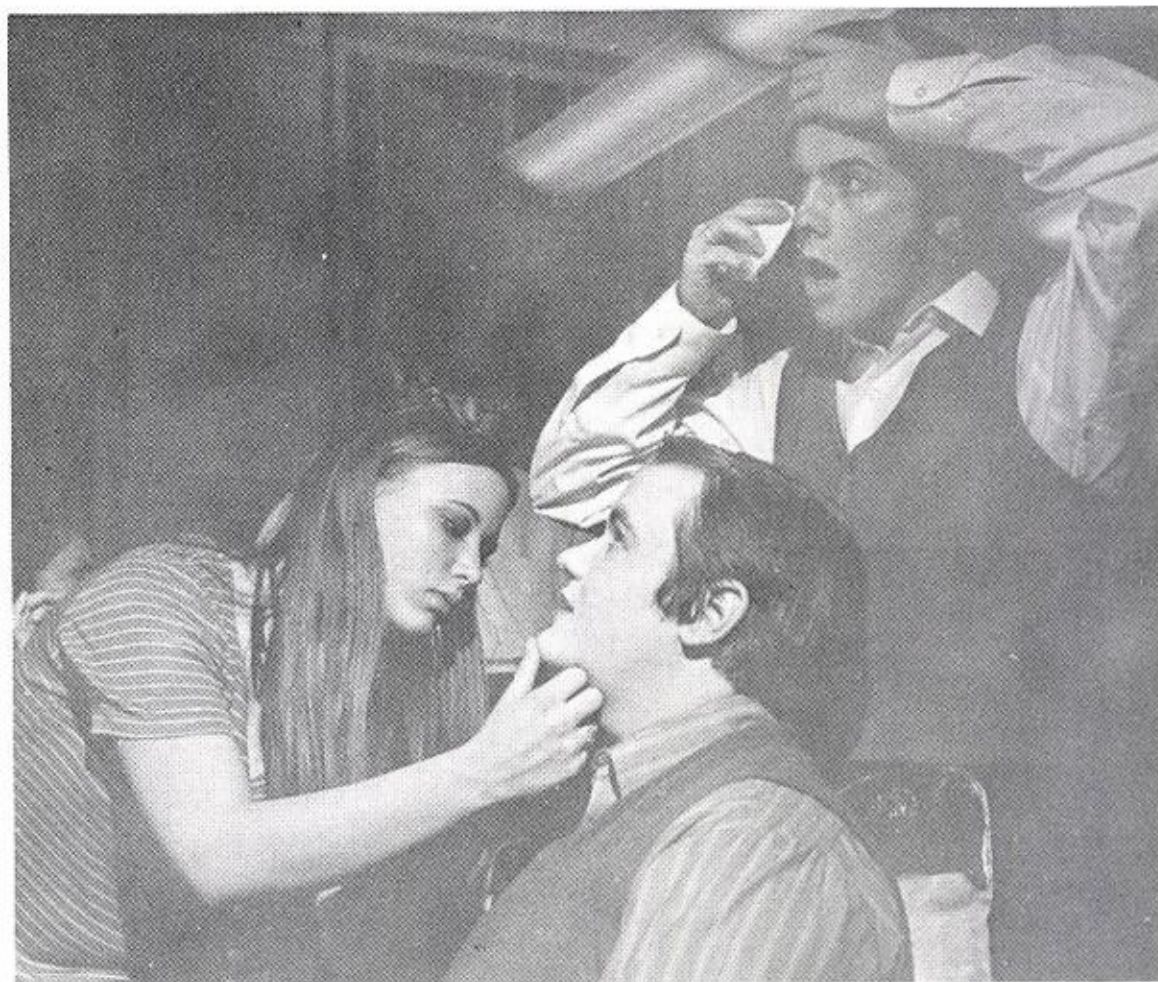

All drama students assist in the major plays of the year. "Scrooge," a short one-act play presented as part of the Christmas program, was written, directed, and performed by advanced drama students. "Lunchbox" theater was reinstated this year. English classes were approached for the writing of the scripts.

Experience Aids Students

Practical experiences are available in speech classes to express yourself in an effective manner in formal and informal situations. Students in first year classes concentrate on developing speaking confidence. Public speaking is stressed in second and third year classes along with extemporaneous speaking and the skills of argumentation. These students comprise the Franklin speech and debate teams and engage in inter-school and community speech events.

Half-Year Classes Start

A series of semester courses designed to provide an alternative to senior English was an innovation this year. These courses permit a student to concentrate on a subject for a greater length of time. Mass media, film-making, and poetry were some of the new courses offered by the English Department. Shakespeare, novels, and writing were other fields that were explored by the students.

Sophomores and juniors were involved in the regular one-year English course, intended to provide an overall view of several facets of our language. Juniors dwelt on American Literature and short stories. Sophomores studied poetry and Dickens.

Library assistants, under the direction of Mrs. Norlin, learned about the operations of the library. Their jobs include shelving and stamping books.

Freshmen and sophomores were able to use the library during their study halls. It was necessary for them to fill out a library permit slip to facilitate attendance taking. Juniors and seniors were free to use the library during their independent study time.

Supervised by Mrs. Eleanor Norlin, the library houses about 22,000 books which includes reference books and a special collection. The library circulates 118 magazines and 6 newspapers.

Computer Class Gains Popularity

General mathematics, algebra, geometry, and trigonometry were included in the usual sequence of courses offered by the math department. A course in consumer mathematics is concerned with earning, consumer buying and investments, taxation, and insurance. Calculus is taught at Portland Community College for advanced seniors.

Computer math was a new course offered this year. Students learned how a computer operates and about various computer languages. They used on-line time with the computer furnished by the Multnomah County Intermediate Education District.

Music Dept. Keeps Busy

As an excellent contribution to our school's total picture, the Music Department showed outstanding talent.

The musical "Brigadoon" was the highlight of the fall semester with nearly 200 people involved including orchestra personnel and "A" Choir.

Small ensembles, under the direction of Mr. Brewer, entertain regularly at various civic functions.

The band performs at the football and basketball games, and marches in the Rose Festival Parade. The Christmas Program and the Fine Arts Festival in the spring are other activities of the Music Department.

P. E. Keeps Kids in Shape

All students must take a year and a half of physical education classes. Freshmen play football, basketball, field hockey, and volleyball. Track, tumbling, and square dancing round out their program. Sophomores gain skill in life-time sports such as tennis, badminton, archery, and bowling. Advanced P.E. offered juniors and seniors a chance for further instruction.

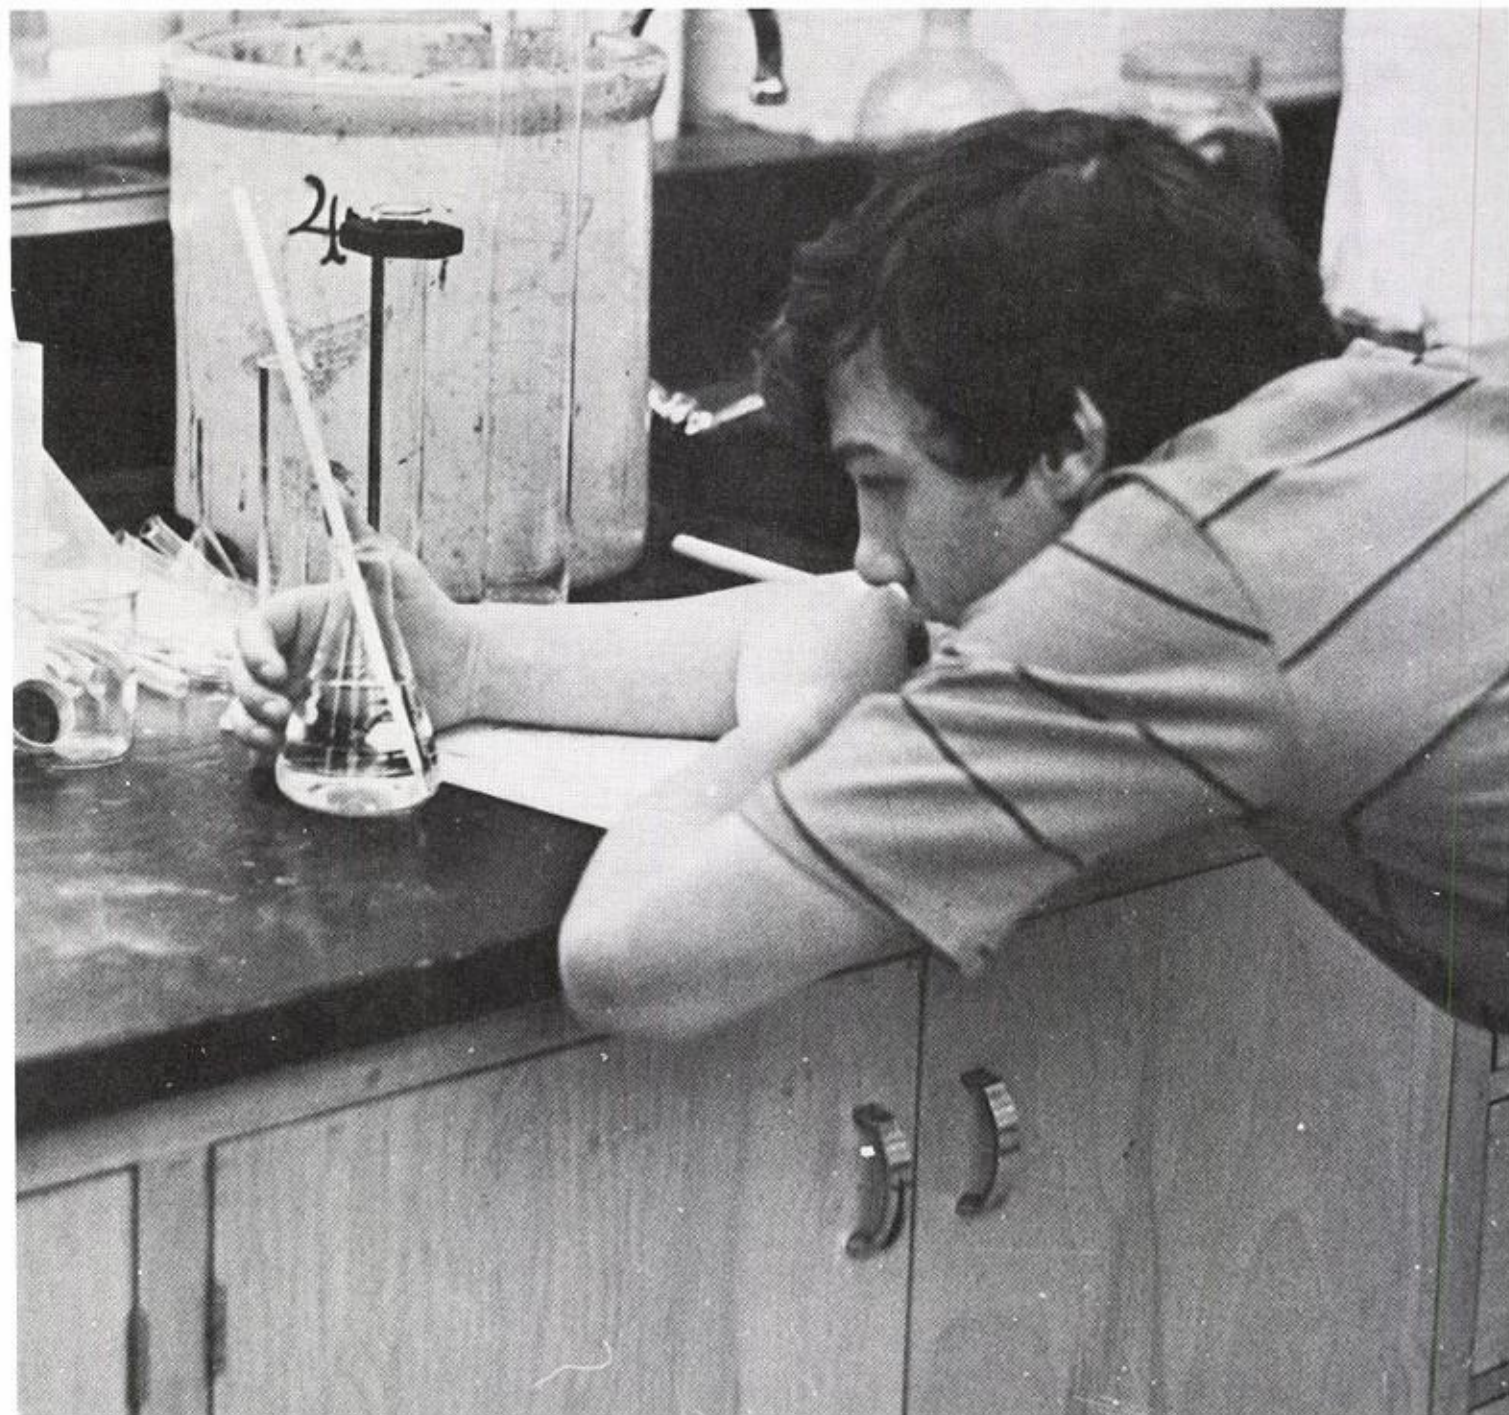

A half-year course in health is required for sophomores. Class discussion and instruction centered around drug use and abuse, sex education, mental health, and classroom driver education.

Goldfish, earthworms, moths, flies, hamburger, and a nibble on a student's finger were the diet of the fish.

Mr. Manning's Devotion Missed

"It doesn't matter how high the papers are stacked on your desk or how busy your schedule is, when a student comes in with a problem you . . . let him talk as long as he wants. You treat each student as the individual he is, and give each the opportunity of being exposed to many alternatives."

Assigned to Franklin High School since 1934, Mr. James W. Manning served as teacher, advisor, and college and vocational counselor. Through his close association with students, he helped them procure jobs, gain admission to the college of their choice, and obtain financial aid to further their education.

Mr. Manning initiated Career Information Conferences at Franklin. On alternate years, about 150 speakers from various fields of work visit the school to outline preparation requirements and highlights of 200 different kinds of career jobs and professions. The success of these conferences is shown by the fact that other schools have staged similar ones.

Mr. Manning, nationally known and highly regarded, received the Distinguished Service to Youth Award this year. He was one of the founders of the Pacific Northwest Association of College Admission Counselors. As a member of the Western Region High School-College Relations Committee for the College Board, the Sub-Committee on Youth Employment of the Governor's Committee on Children and Youth, and a Mapping Your Education Committee, his leadership became widely known.

Pausing for a moment, Mr. Manning reflects on a day's work.

Dr. Kenneth Erickson, Principal at Franklin from 1952 to 1960 described Mr. Manning as many others would have. "It would be difficult to find a man more devoted to the welfare of students. . . . He seeks no credit for himself."

Miss Collins Chooses Early Retirement

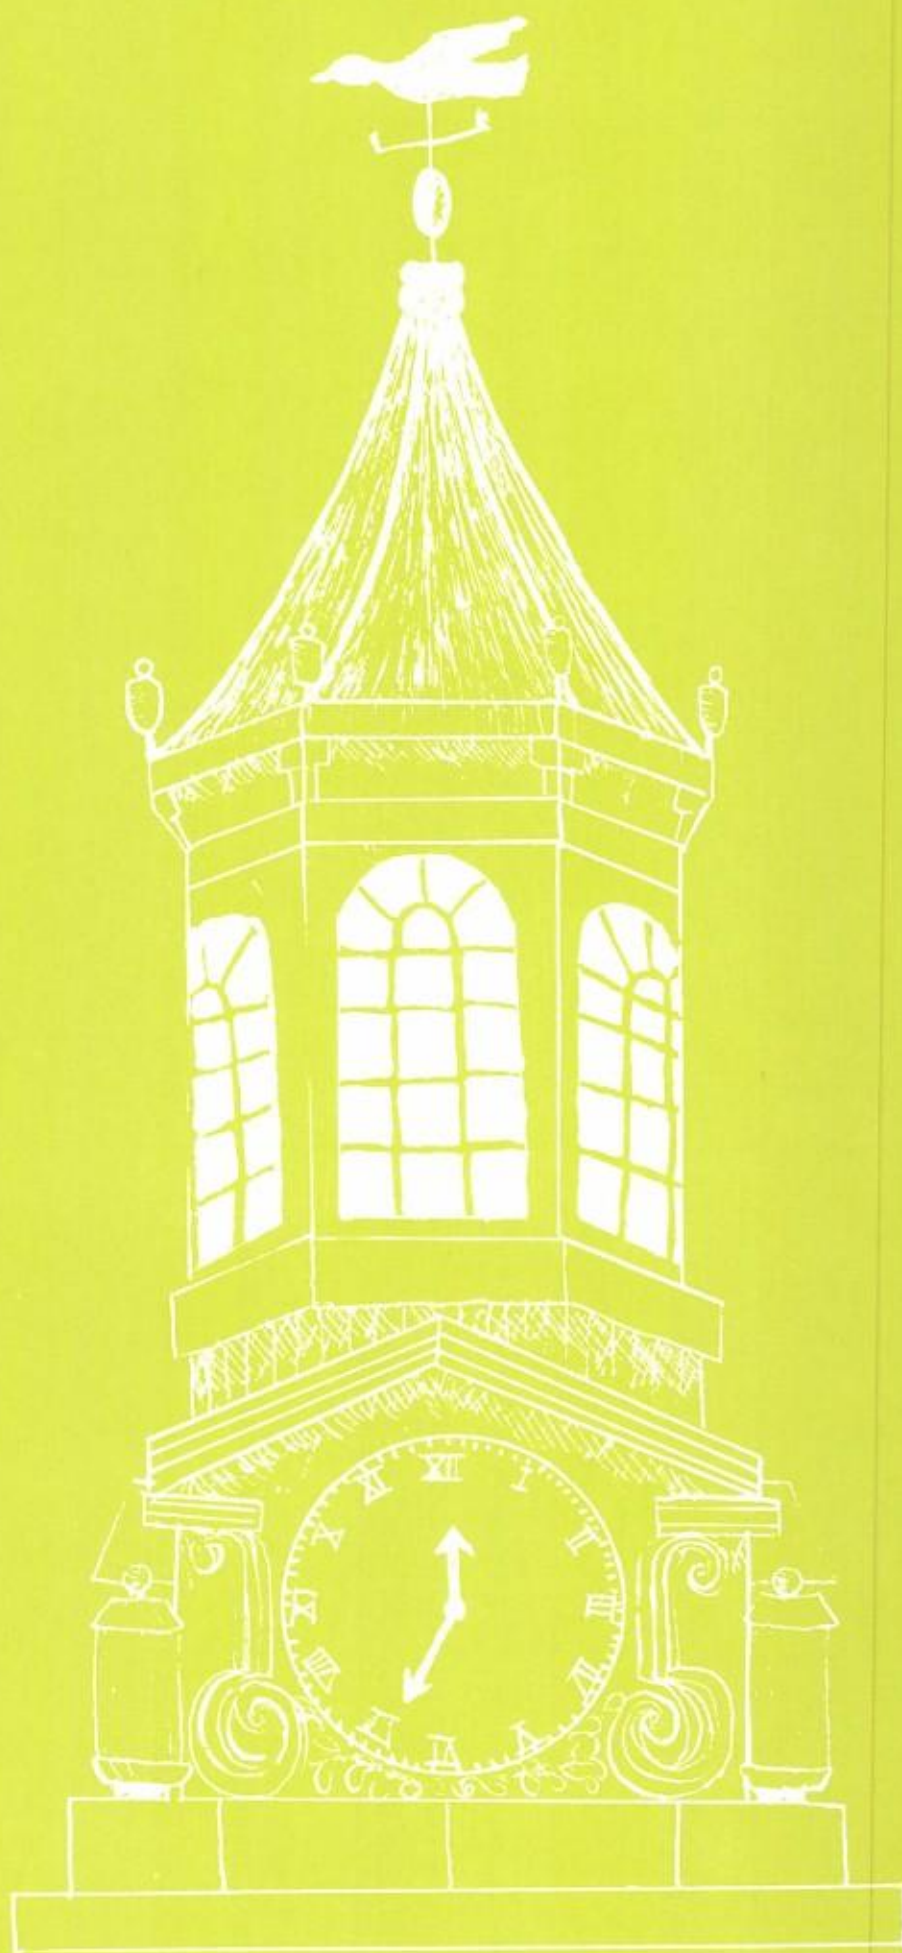

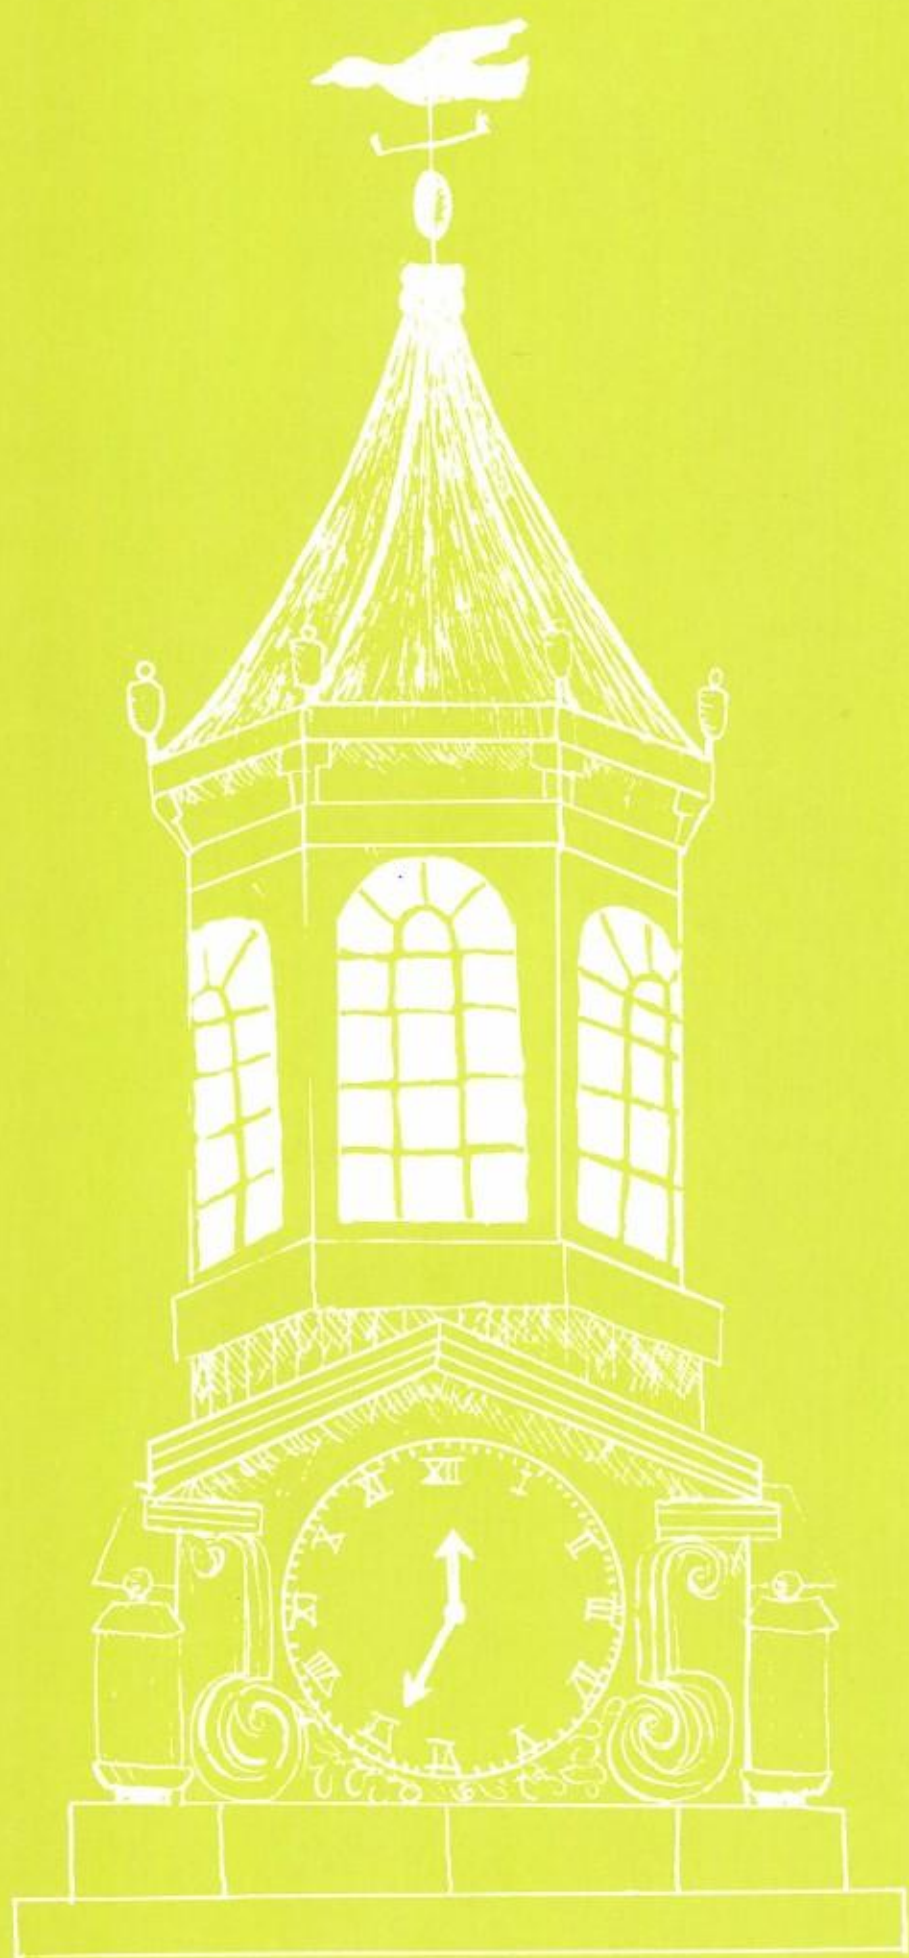

Choosing early retirement, Miss Thelma Collins ended her 38 year teaching career in September, 1970.

Miss Collins received her bachelor's degree from the University of Utah. She also graduated from Oregon College of Education. Possessing both grade and high school teaching certificates in Oregon, Utah, and Arizona, she was able to teach English and history at all levels. While at Franklin, Miss Collins was involved in extracurricular student activities. She trained the KOIN radio "Spell and Tell" team, a group similar to the present day High-Q game. Under her direction, the team won a lot of prizes for Franklin. Miss Collins was in charge of a scholarship recognition program that honored Franklin students during the 1930's. She was faculty advisor for Trefoil Girl Scouts and another school-oriented club.

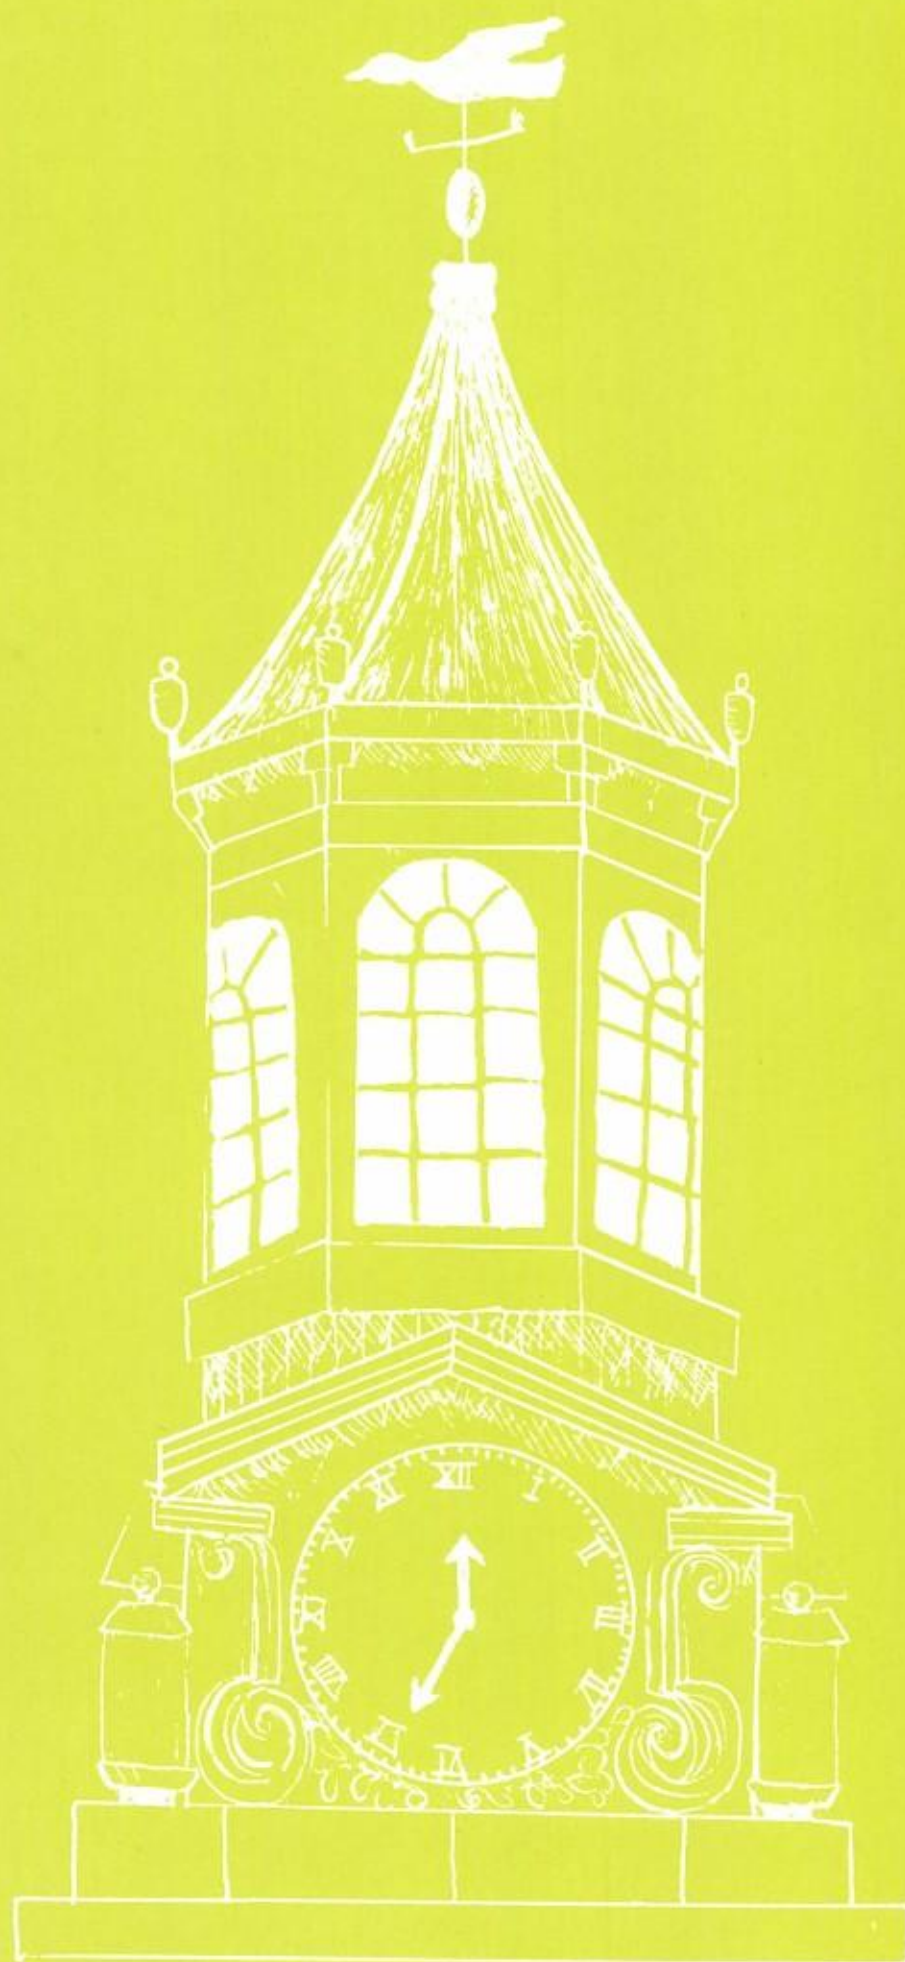

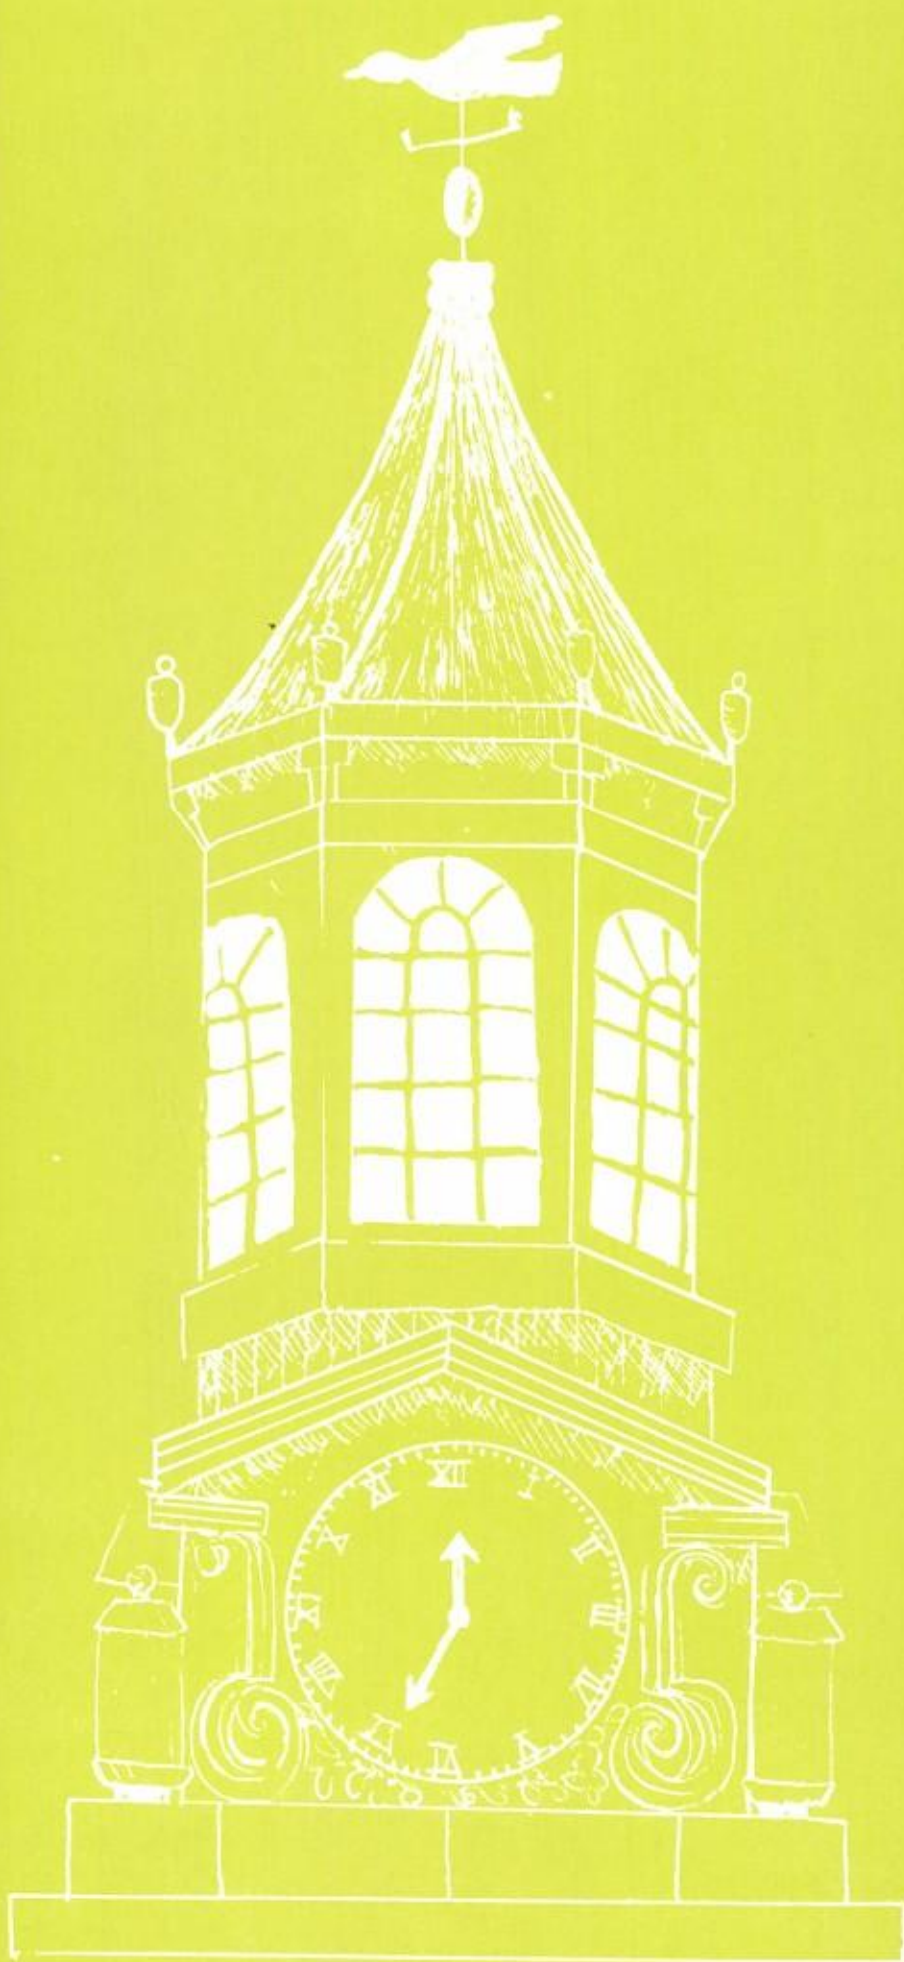

"Staying home and taking care of mother" are Miss Collins' immediate plans. She enjoys her cats and likes music. Eventually, she hopes to travel.

Student Government Survives

Due to student apathy, lack of cooperation with the Executive Cabinet, and poor attendance at Student Council meeting, a resolution to abolish student government was introduced by senior Jack Landau. The resolution proposed that the duties of Student Council and Executive Cabinet be assumed by the various class cabinets and the individual students.

A special assembly was arranged at which both sides of the proposal were debated. The largest voting turnout in several years met the proposal with defeat.

Executive cabinet's official stand: Because of present attitudes of apathy and lack of participation in student affairs on the part of a majority of students at Franklin High School, as evidenced by extremely low voting percentages, small numbers of students involved in student government, student council, and student body committees.

Be it therefore resolved that student council and executive cabinet be dissolved and discontinued henceforth. If at any time there is felt a need for an organization of student government, petitioning no less than 15 percent of the registered students in the school may initiate a ballot, and may be passed by a two-thirds majority of the votes cast.

Pam Louie and Denise Wong help Gary Hunnel and Dave Hopkins with their voting registration.

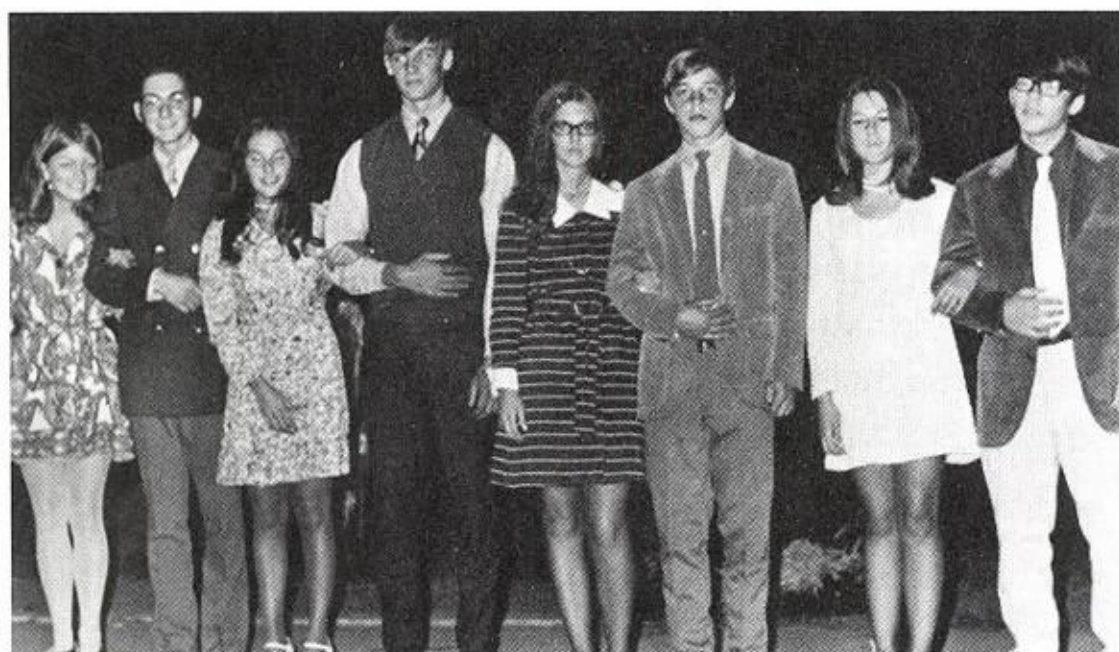

Queen Heather Reigns at Homecoming

With a bouquet of roses in her arms, the 1970 Homecoming Queen, Heather Beard, reigned throughout the evening of the second of October. She was crowned during half-time of the victorious game against Adams. The after-game dance featured "Mixed Blood."

Board Splurges, All Because of a Royal Ann

Franklin has a cherry tree. A Royal Ann cherry tree. Because of this Royal Ann cherry tree, the school board is spending $233.

The money isn't being used to clothe it, or house it, or even do anything with it. The money is simply going to protect the tree from the new Mechanical Cluster Building that is situated on the west side of the school.

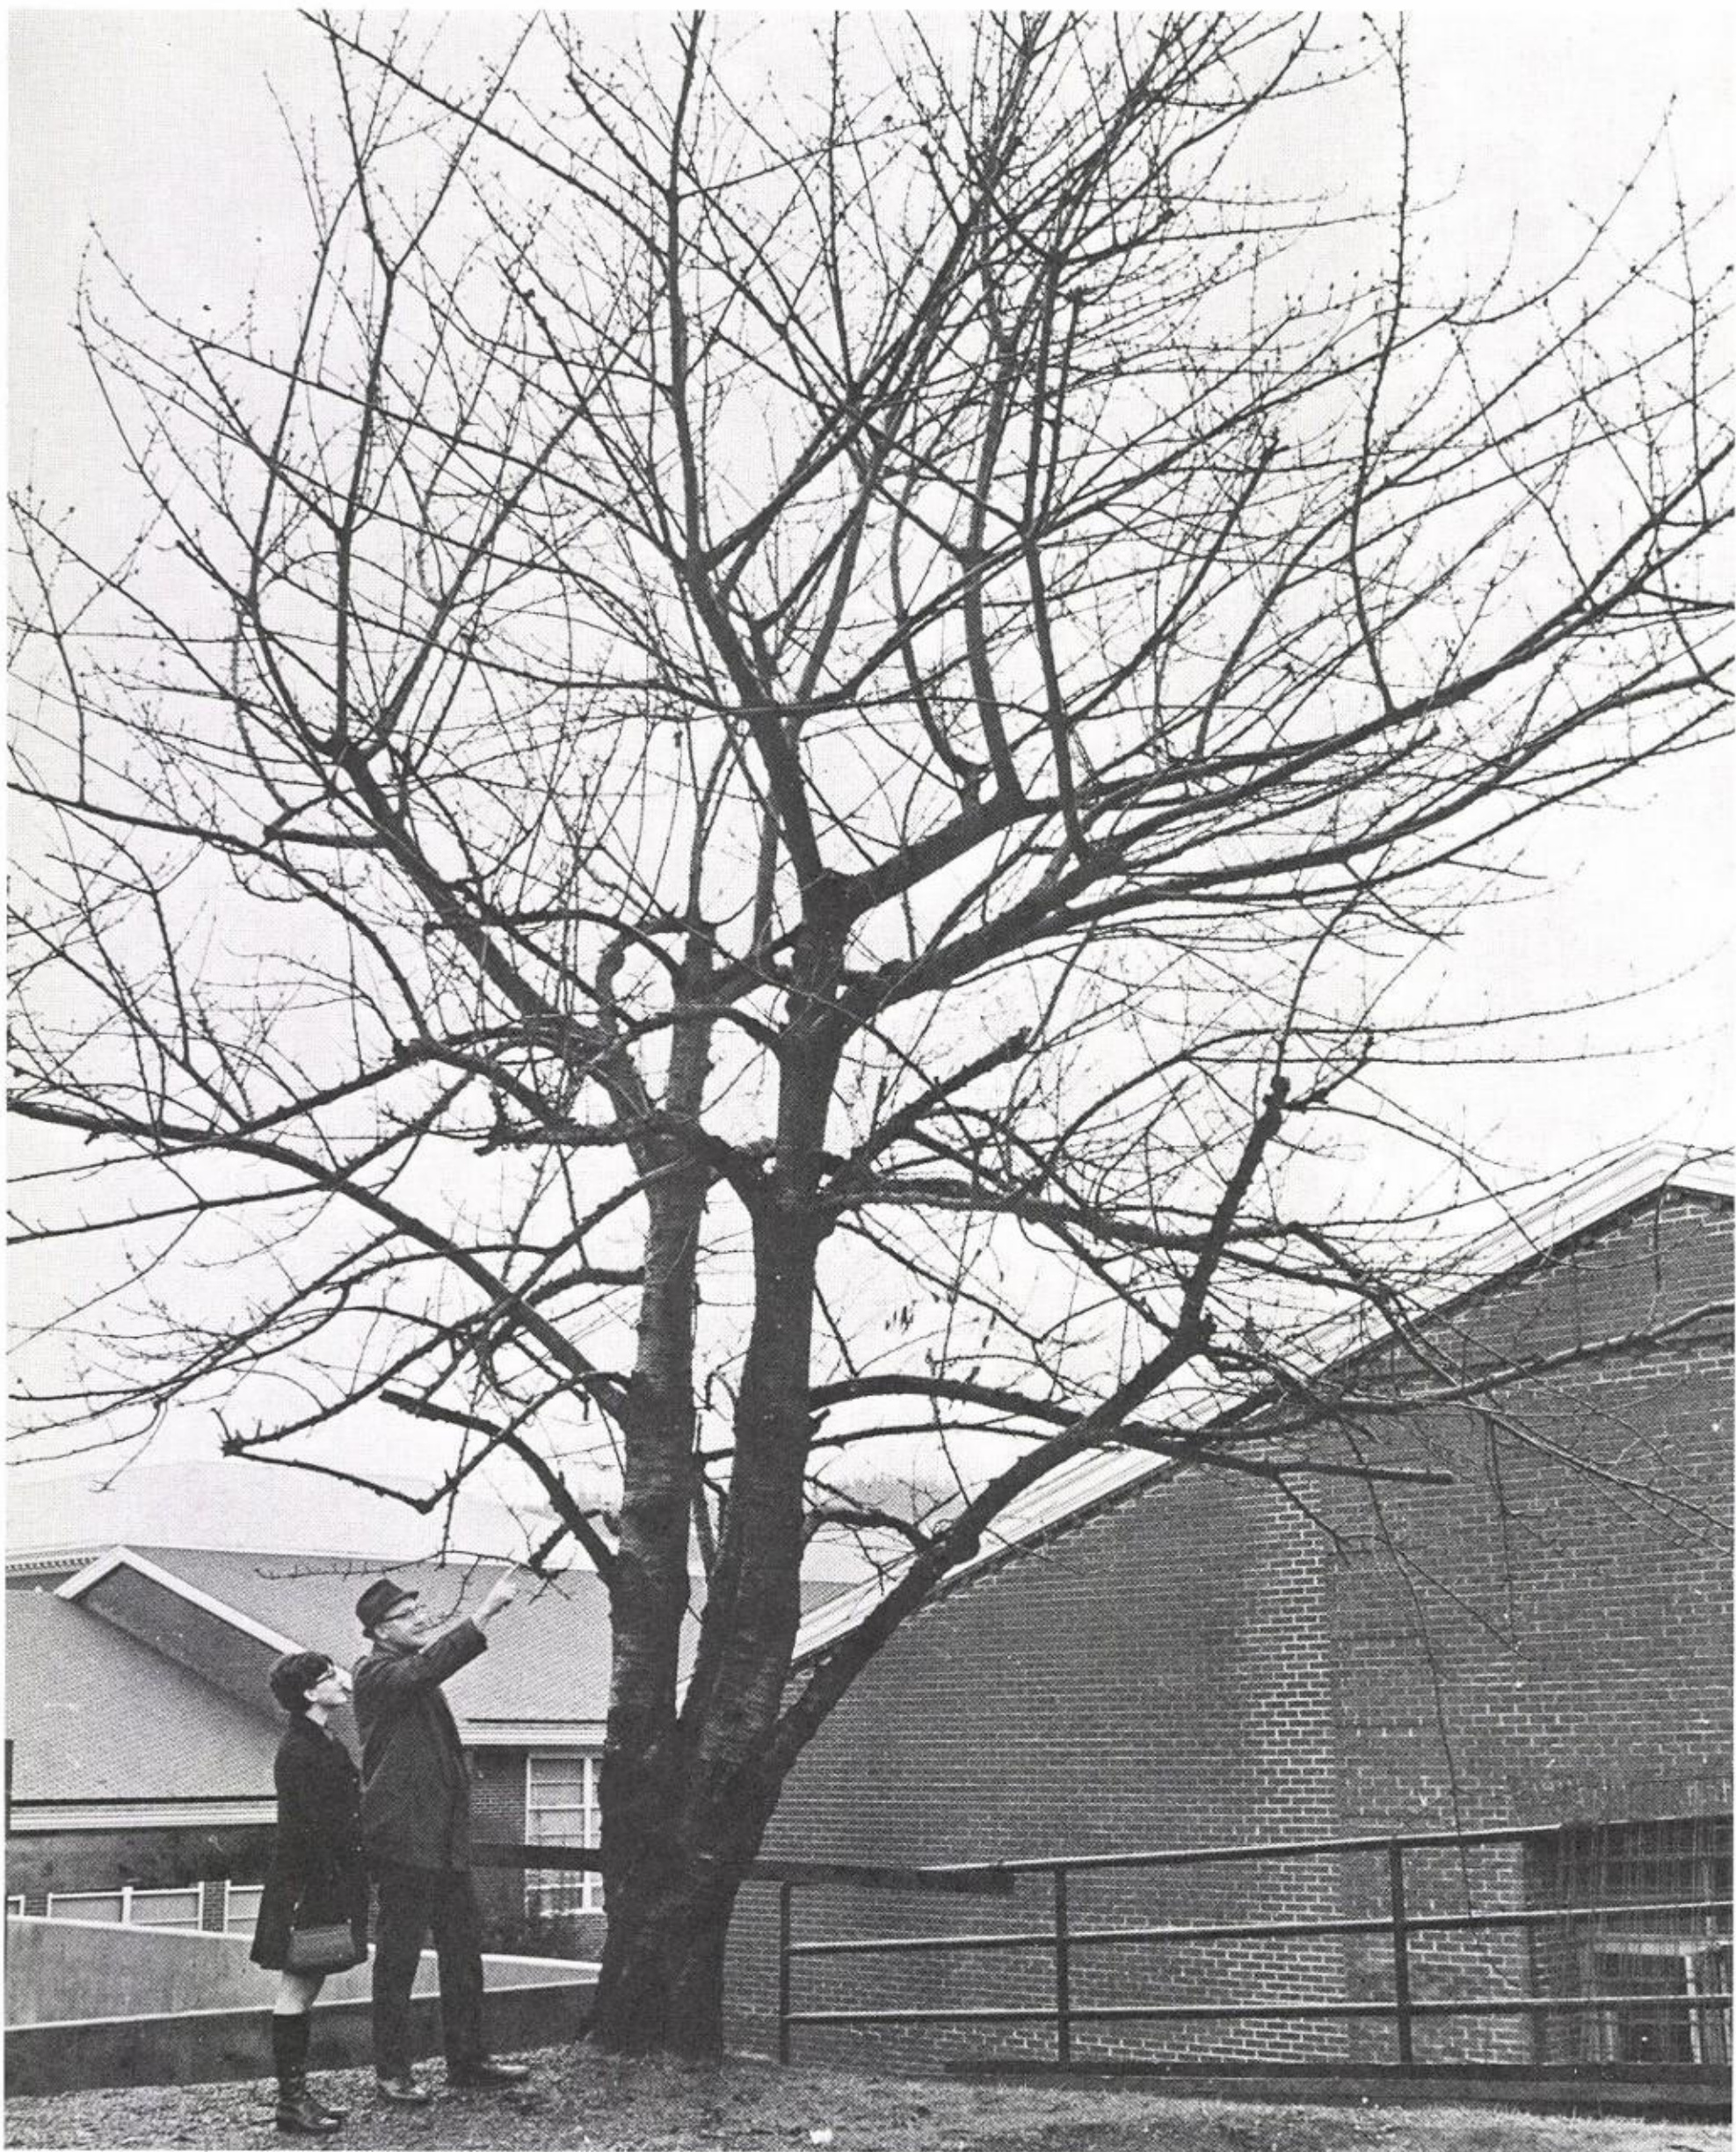

Royalty deserves special attention, so in order not to disturb Royal Ann's root structure, the building parapet has to be raised about three feet. Therefore, there is a total of 20 feet of undisturbed soil to let Royal Ann reign as she sees fit.

As the houses are moved, a structure is left isolated.

The new vocational wing begins to take shape.

"This is what we're spending $233 on!" exclaims Mr. Westcott to Chris Reverman.

'Brigadoon'

"It's almost like being in love," sang Judy Peck and Steve Giordano in Brigadoon, Franklin's only musical production of the year.

The two young lovers, Fiona MacLaren and Tommy Albright (portrayed by Judy and Steve) met and fell in love within one day. An unusual difference in this romance is that Fiona will disappear at the end of the day. For you see, Brigadoon is an enchanted village that will vanish after one day, then reappear again, 100 years later. During the 100 years, the villagers soundly sleep.

The end of the day has come and both Fiona and Tommy have admitted their undying love for each other. Sadly, they part.

Everywhere Tommy goes, things remind him of Fiona or something of the Scottish village. He has to go back.

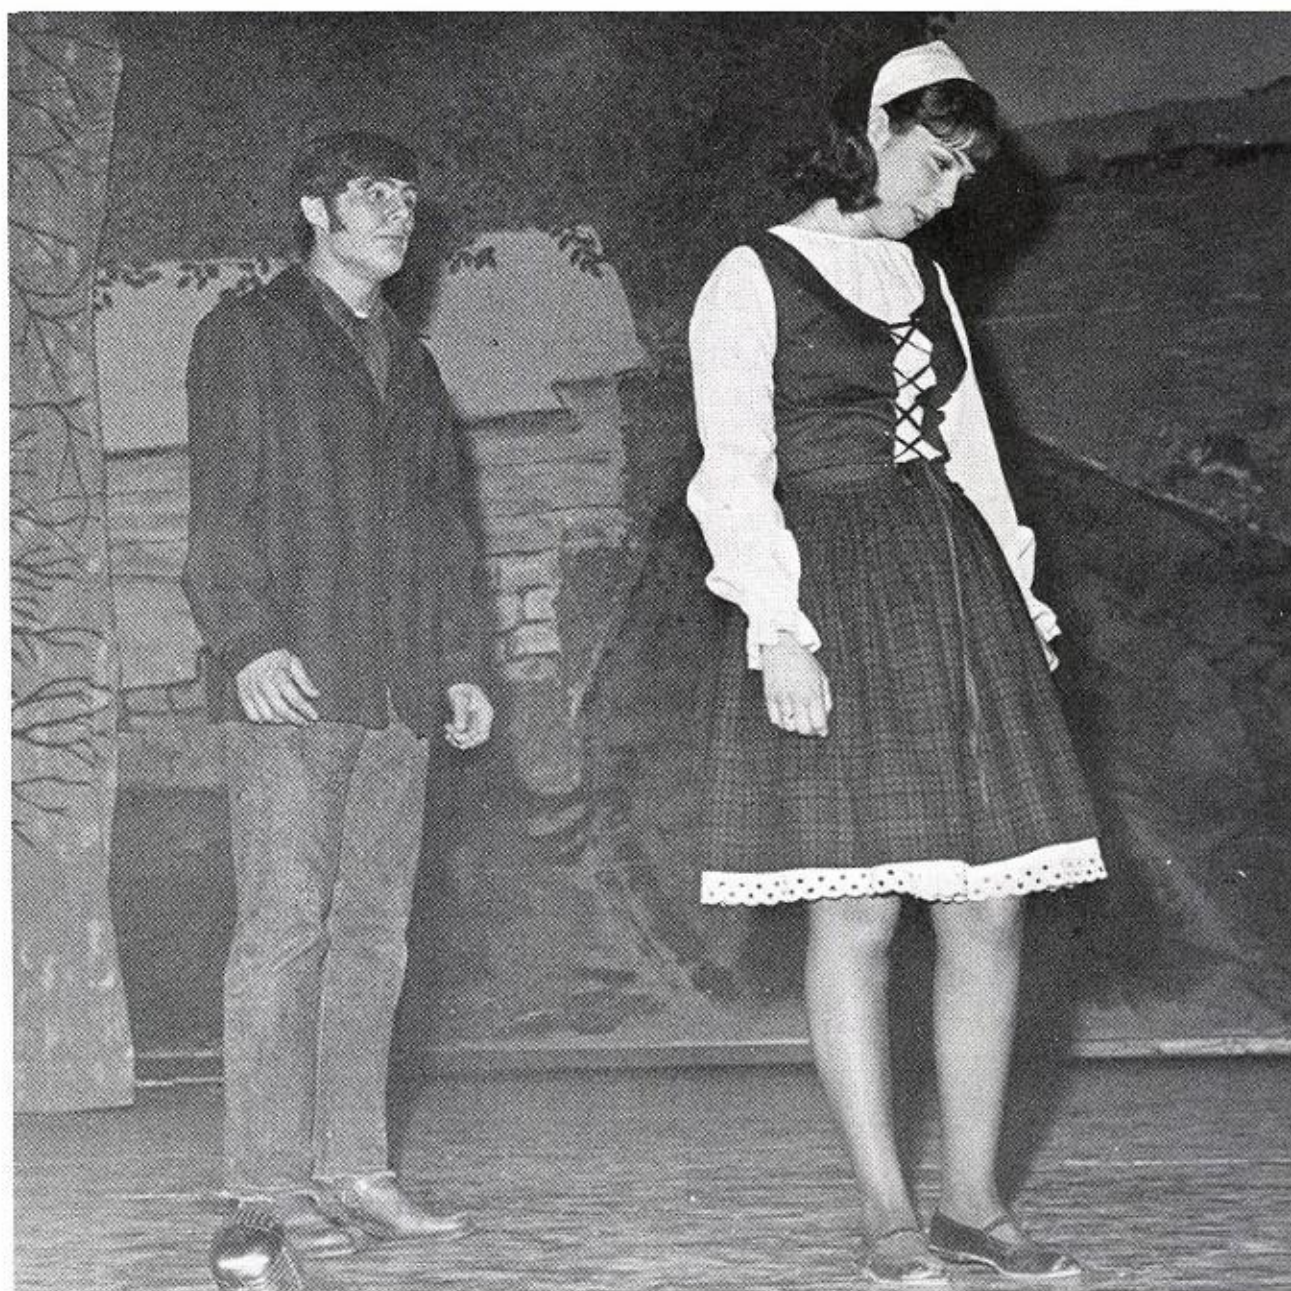

As luck prevails, the old schoolmaster, Mr. Lundi (portrayed by Bill McClane) had awakened when Tommy, accompanied by Larry Weber as Jeff Douglas, had come back to re-live his unforgettable day in Brigadoon.

Mr. Lundi offers Tommy a second chance to live with them in their village and to be with Fiona. As Tommy crosses the bridge, led by Mr. Lundi, the curtain slowly closes leaving Jeff sadly and half drunkenly waving his last good-bye to his long-time friend.

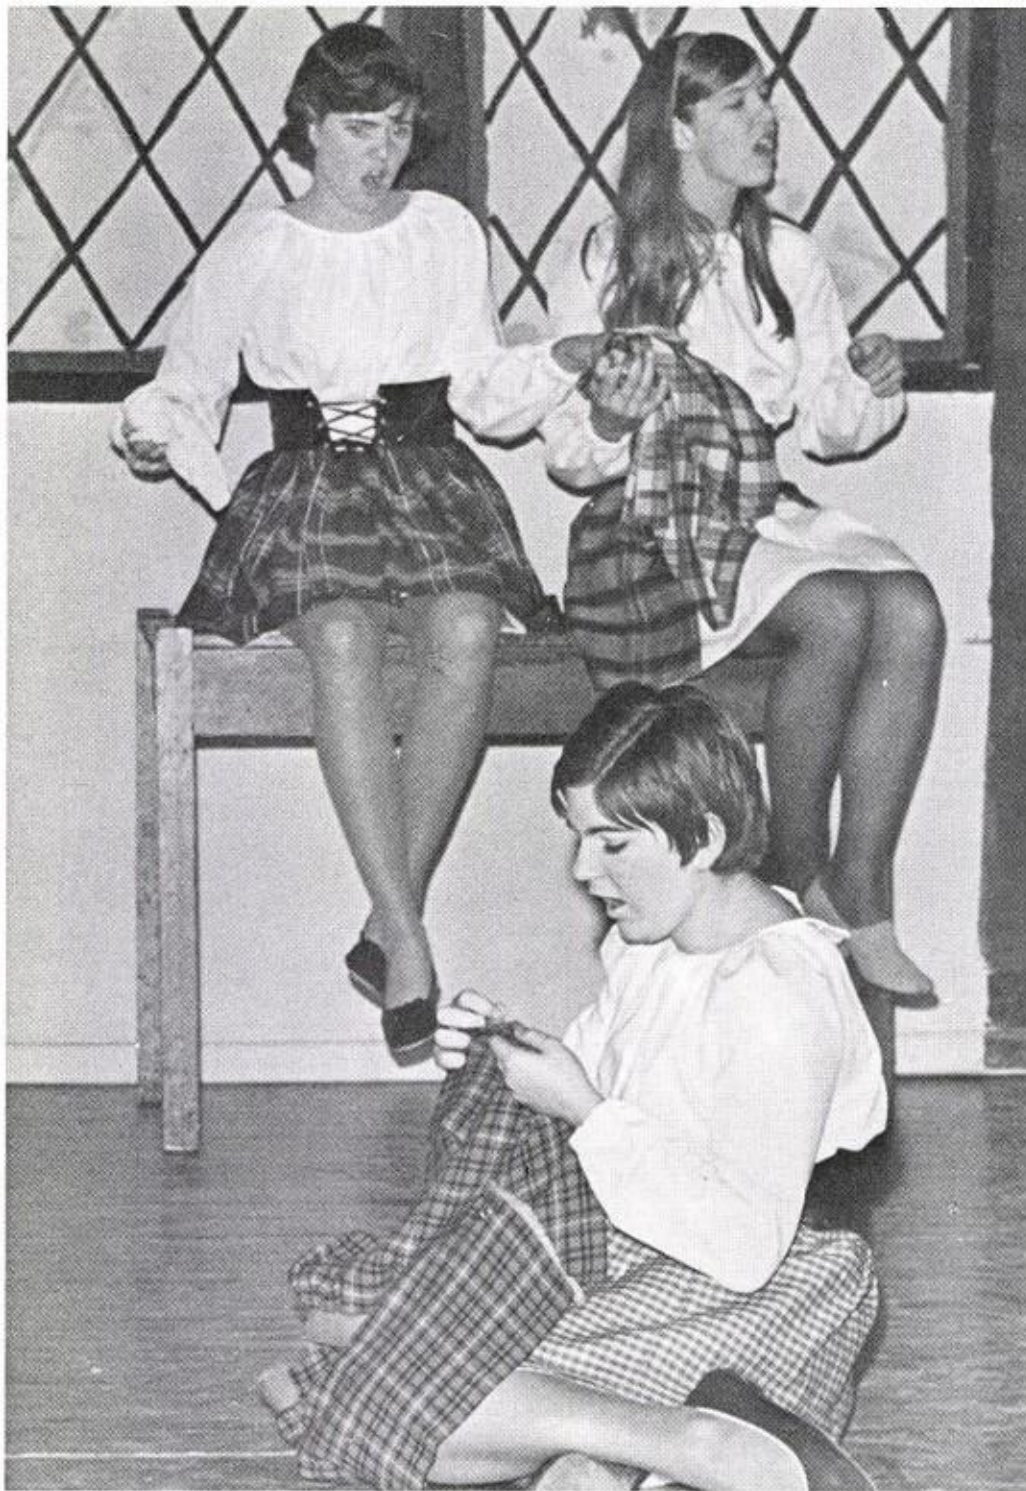

A full-house offered their congratulations and approval by giving the stars a standing ovation. For the more than 200 students who put in their time and energy, their work was well received if only for the two nights, November 20 and 21, that Brigadoon appeared on stage.

Maggie and Harry dance a Scottish reel as two townspeople look on (Linda Schultz and Lee Boroff).

"If you're not there, I won't go roamin' through the heather on the hill."

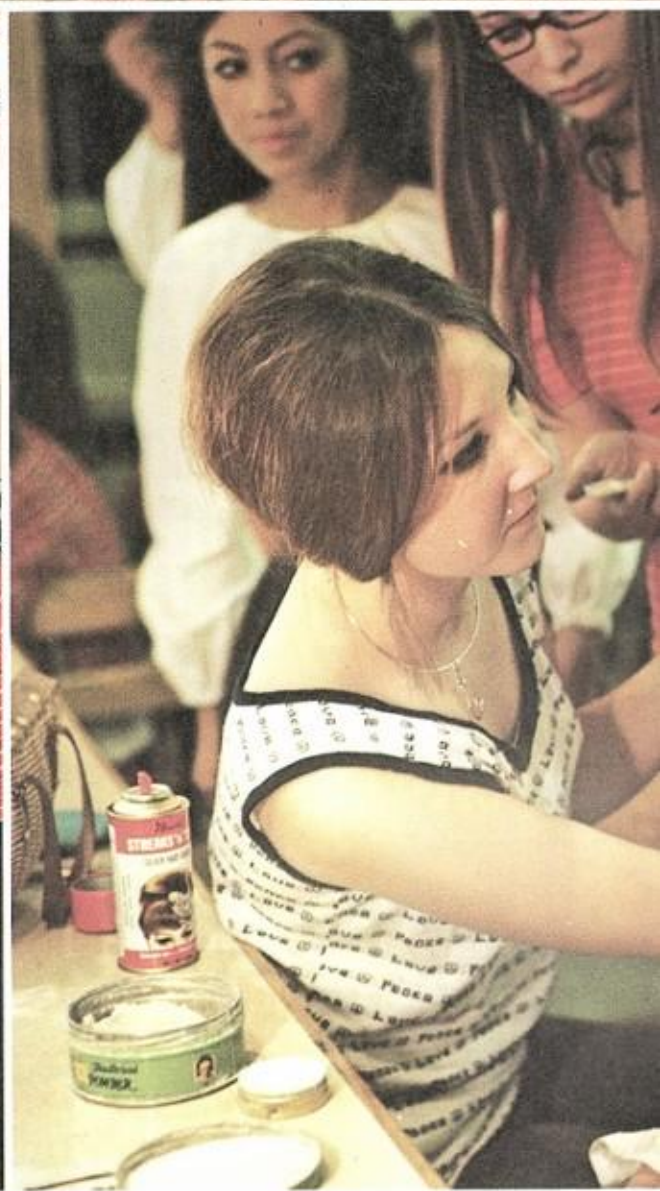

"Jeannie's packing up, Jeannie's moving out;" sang Betsy Tinker, Nancy Olson, and Linda Timmings.

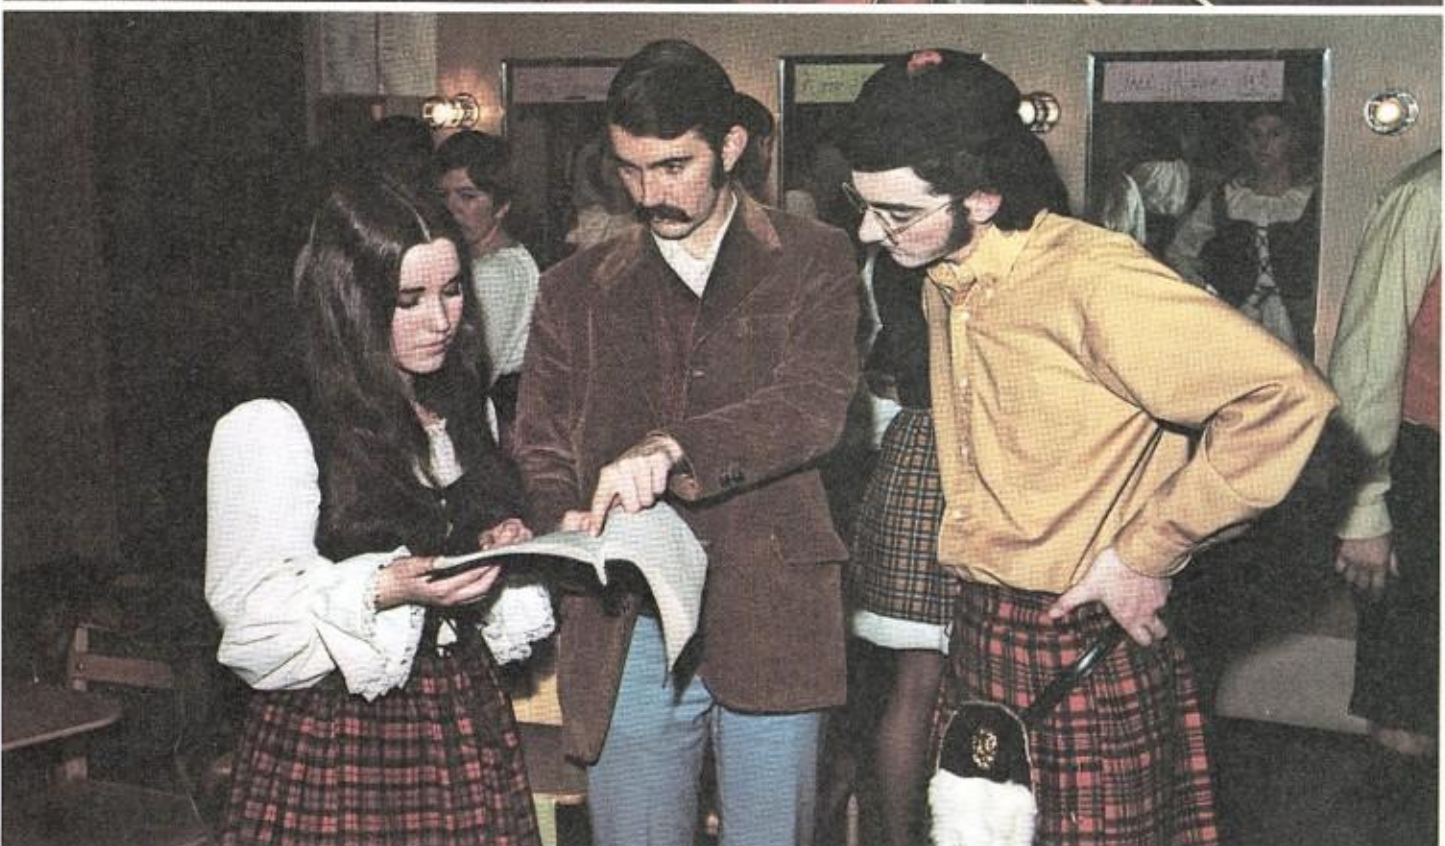

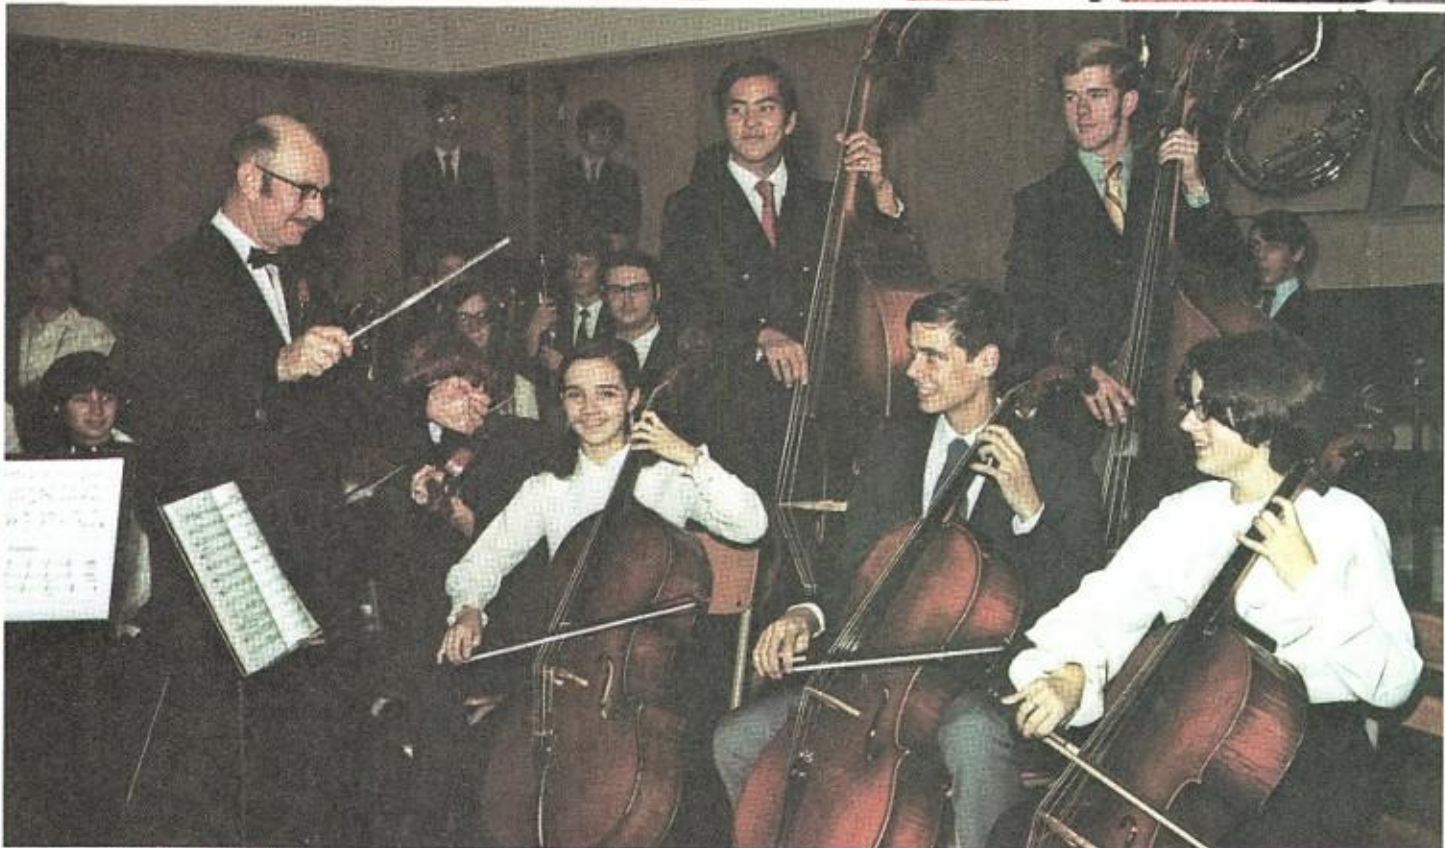

Archie Beaton straightens out his woolens and plaids while Andrew MacLaren waits patiently for his daughters Fiona and Jean.

Listening to the story of Brigadoon are Jeff (Larry Weber), Tommy (Steve Giordano), and Fiona (Judy Peck).

Musicians Find Music Challenging

Original music written for Brigadoon, composed by Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe, offered a challenge to Franklin's orchestra. Vocal solos, chorus numbers, and stage changes kept musicians alert. Directed by Mr. George Pancheau, the forty-three member orchestra practiced many extra hours in preparation for the show.

Steve Giordano and Judy Peck, as the lead soloists, sang such popular pieces as "The Heather on the Hill," "Come to Me, Bend to Me," and "Waitin' for My Dearie."

Franklinite Selected

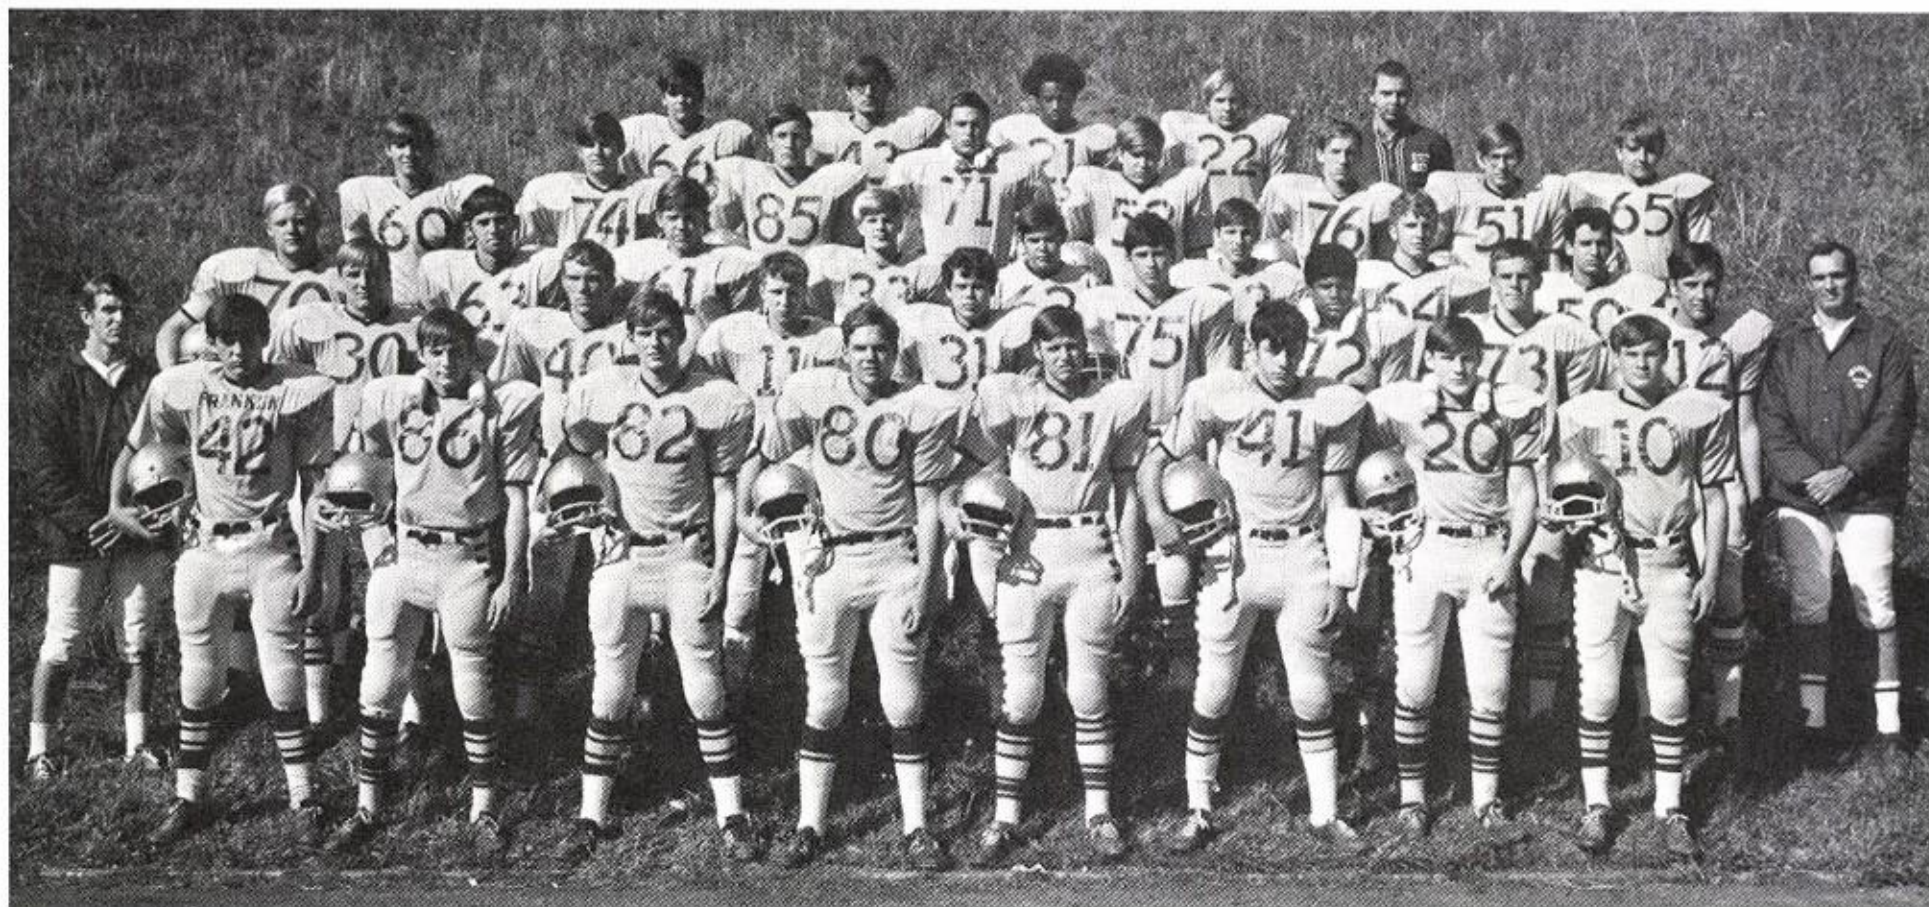

Senior Richard Wolff was the Portland Area Representative to the three-day 1970 National Youth Conference on the Atom in Chicago. He was one of two selected from the state of Oregon. A special committee for the conference reviewed his dossier and arranged an interview. His selection was formally announced at a banquet at the Hilton Hotel. In Chicago, he attended various workshops and small group discussions with leading scientists. Accompanying him was Mr. Leonard Scheele, a science teacher at Franklin. All expenses were paid by Portland General Electric.

With bags in hand, Richard Wolff leaves for Chicago.

Foes Tackle Varsity

Franklin's Varsity football team, consistently outclassed by its PIL rivals, suffered a one win—eight loss season. The one bright spot in the year for the Quakers was an impressive 24-8 victory over Adams during Homecoming.

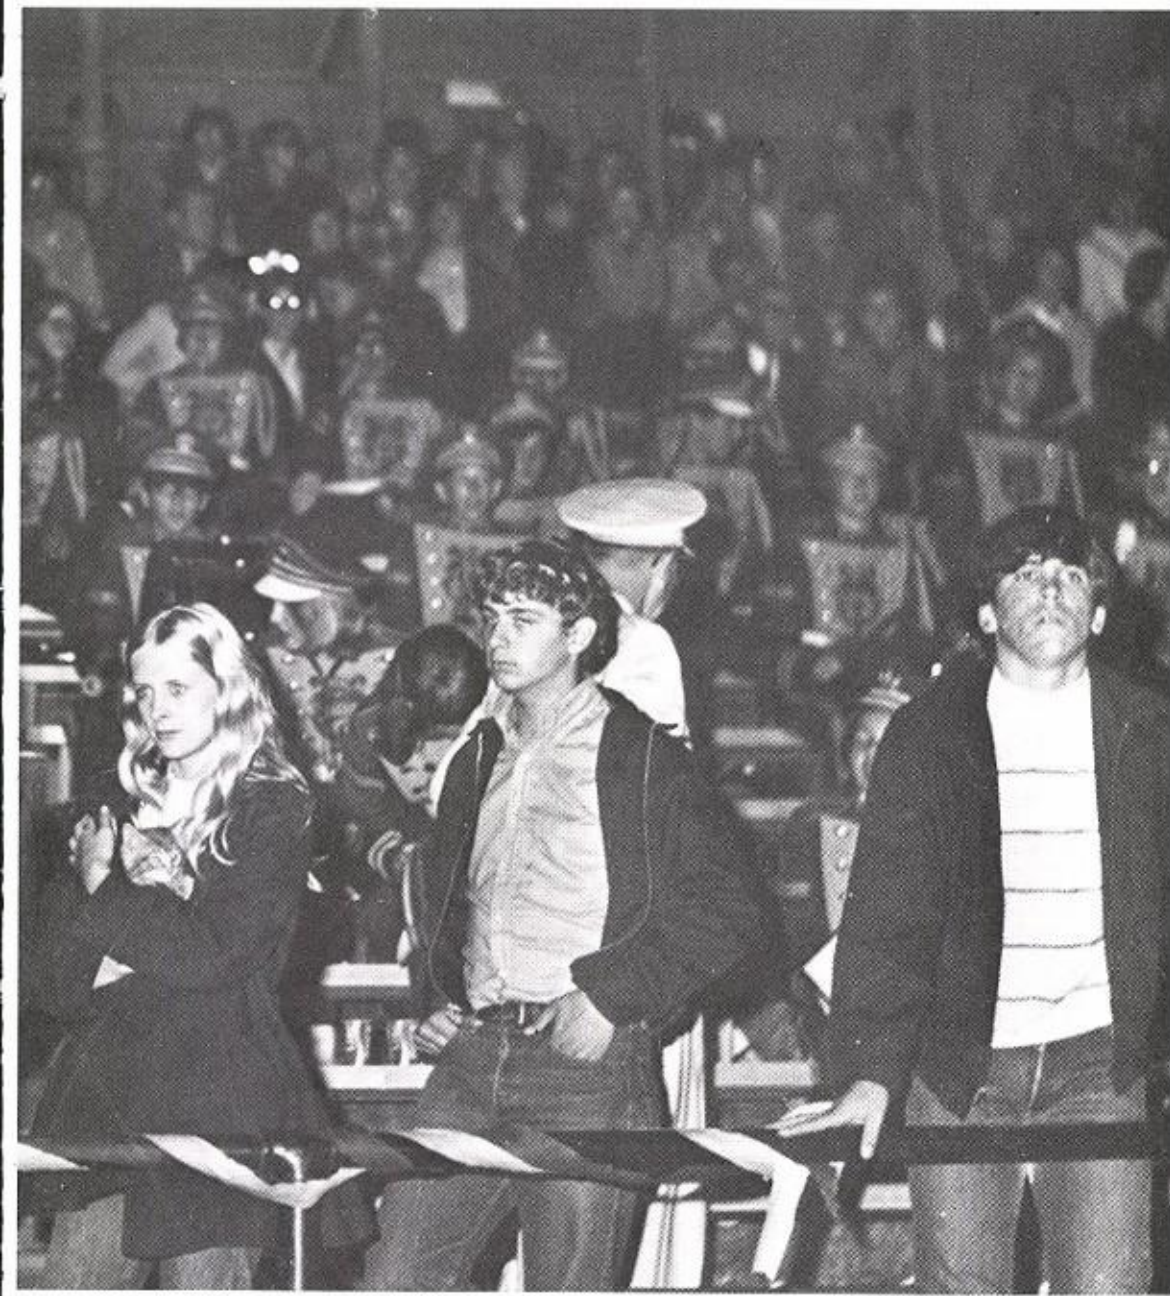

Coach Jack Knudsen presented Varsity letters to 36 players at the Varsity Football Awards Banquet. Greg Keller was voted the Most Valuable Player and named as All-City Linebacker by The Oregonian. Keller and Brian Kelley were chosen as team co-captains. The gridders selected Dan Hall the Most Inspirational and Ron Beltz the Most Improved.

JV Shows Potential

J.V. Coaches, Ken Raddle and Bob Ford, felt that the one win, six loss, one tie season "was not indicative of the team's effort and potential." A 32-12 victory over Jefferson was the highlight of the year for the J.V. squad. George Zadan, quarterback, and Roger Dryden, offensive end, were picked as outstanding individuals on the basis of a merit system. Gary Hunnel showed excellence on defense, averaging 15 tackles per game. Rick Arthur added strong kicking to the team by averaging about 40 yards per punt. Coach Raddle commented: "These guys will make an excellent contribution to next year's Varsity."

Frosh Attack Rivals

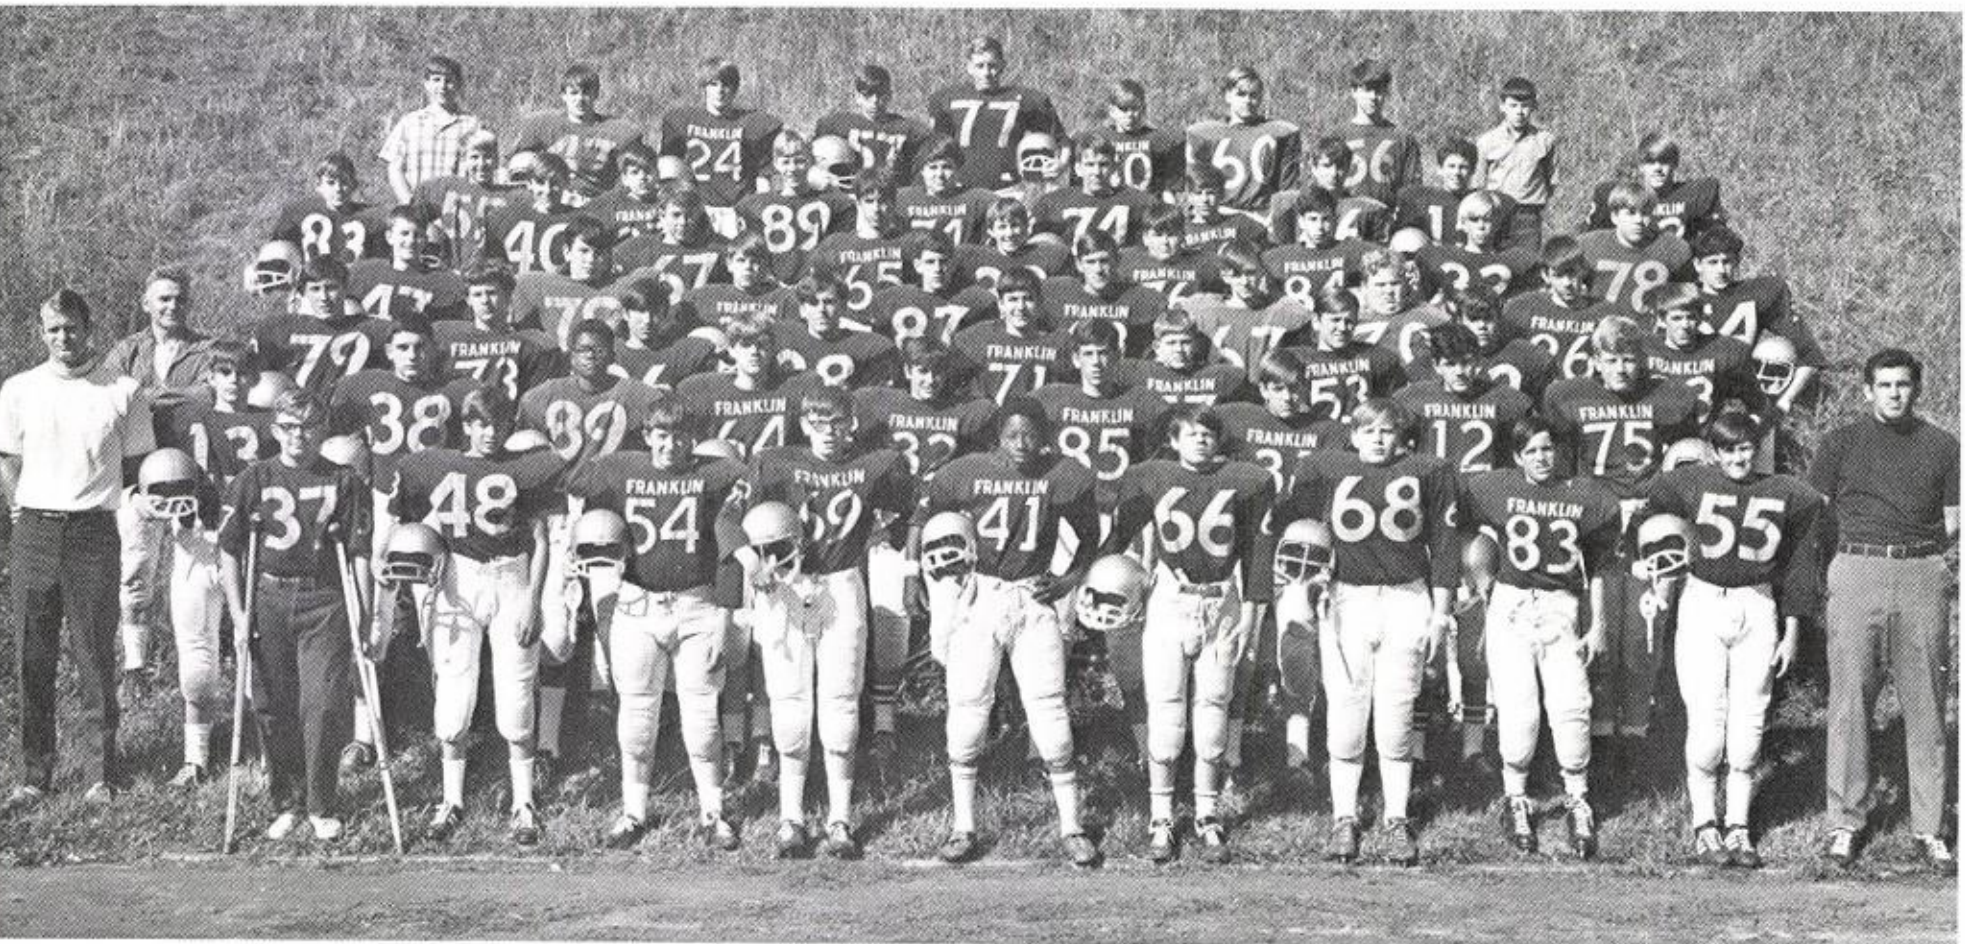

This year's Freshman football team had a successful season with a 6-2 mark for the A team and 7-0 for the B team.

Coach Bob Ellis stated that the turnout this year was "great!" He hoped that most of the boys would continue with the program and make next year's varsity squad with some hard work. "Our front line could be put up against the best line in the city on the Frosh level," asserted Coach Ellis.

Outstanding Frosh Quakers were Brad Baughmen, John Harding, and Dave McCan.

Varsity Runs Strong

Franklin's Varsity cross country team finished fifth in city and dual meets. Coach Jon Abraham named Guy Hill "the most valuable runner." Other outstanding team members were Bill Maine, Larry Hall, Tim Cowan, and Curt Jacobsen. "This team was the strongest since I've been here," commented Coach Abraham.

J.V., Frosh Take, First, Third

Junior Varsity runners completed an outstanding season, taking a first place in dual meets. The team accomplished a rare feat by finishing with a perfect score against Marshall. Greg Haven, Rex Brenton, and Ken Ottoson were leading runners this season. Ottoson received the Bronze Shoe Award for the most miles logged.

Freshmen jogged to a third place finish in dual and city meets. Paul Savory was the best runner for the young Quakers. Other team members, Randy Schiele and Tom Smurthwaite, supported his efforts.

Swim Team Strengthens

"They're the greatest bunch of kids in the school." That was how Coach Dean Mauchley described Franklin's swimming team. The boys' team finished with three wins and two losses. Mike Reverman went to the State Swim Meet and finished fourth in the 200-yard free style. The girls' team swam to a 4-1 dual-meet record, third best in the PIL. The girls had a large turnout and were able to win a majority of events in most meets. Most of the swimmers will return, making a possible strong team for next year.

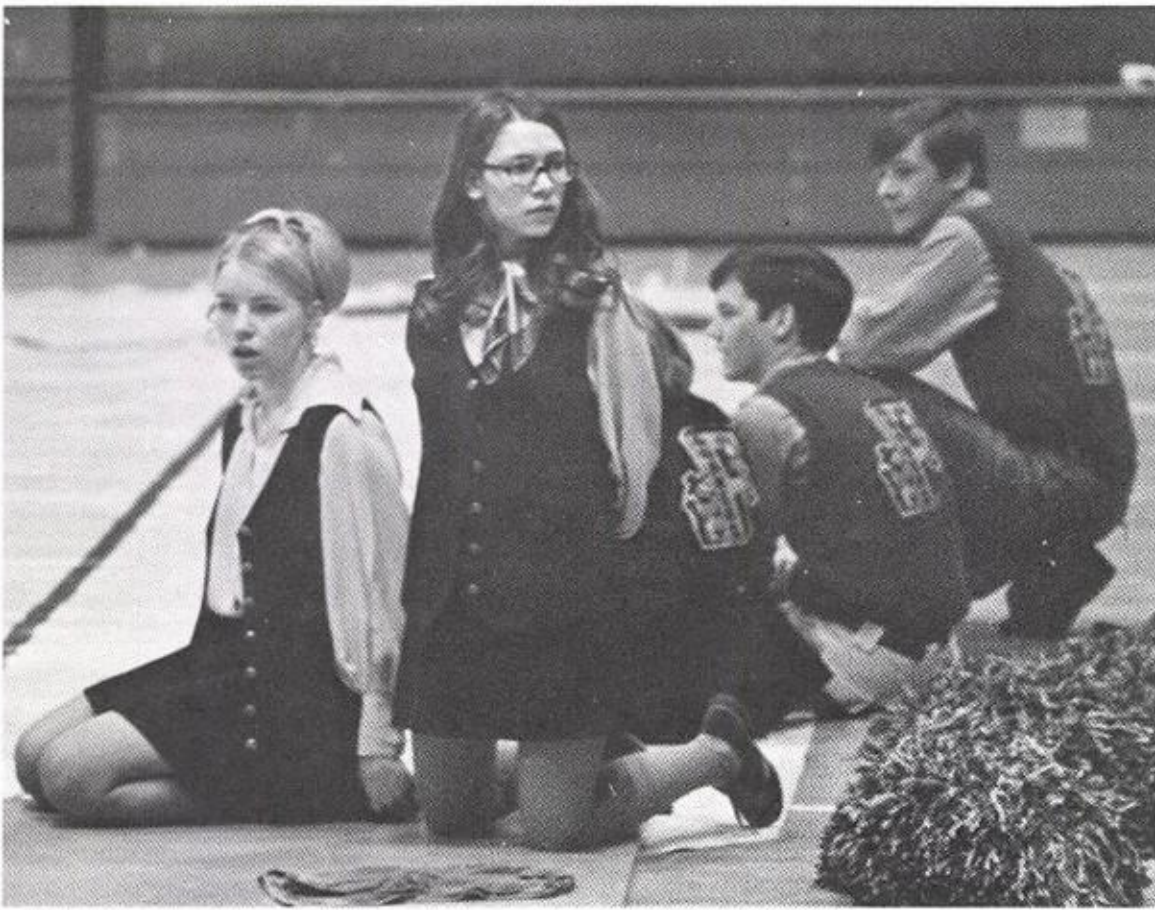

Rally Rouses Rooters

Varsity football rally overcame many obstacles in raising spirit for the 1970 football season. The new assembly schedule and a poor season challenged the rally to work together to raise spirit. They continued getting game tags, painting signs, decorating hoops, lockers and goalposts, and planning assemblies, all traditional duties of the rally squad. Carla Tweten, fall Vice President stated, "The people who came to the games, were very spirited, but the crowds were small."

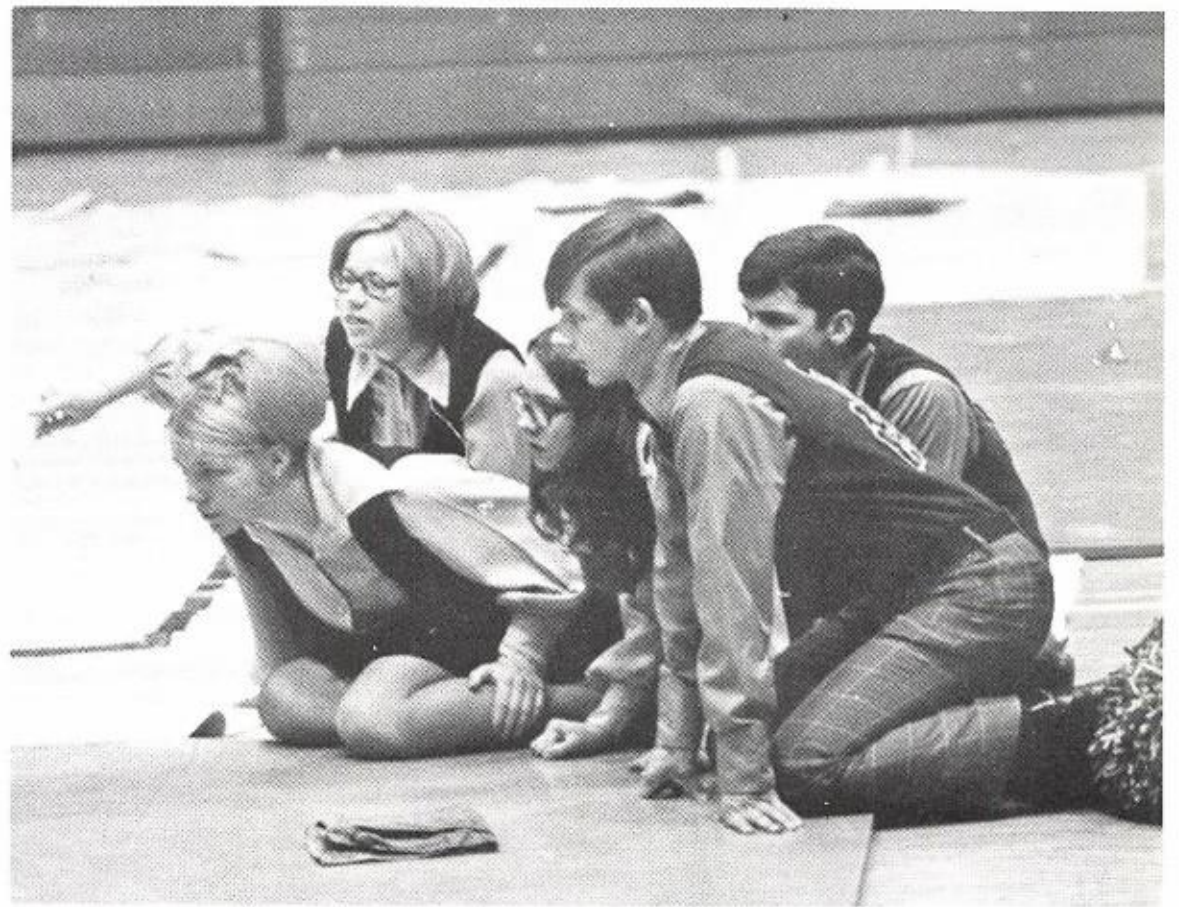

The rally cheered Varsity wrestlers on to a fine season. Wrestling rally President, Sandi Thario, wanted to thank all Franklin students who supported their teams during the year.

Staff Chooses Friendship

"Friendship," a subject that concerns everyone, was chosen as the theme of the 1970-1971 ALMANAC. A short poem on friendship, written by staff member Pamela Louie, is featured in the illustrated introduction.

Early in the year, layouts are planned and picture-taking is arranged. The staff relies on student photographers for candid and certain group shots. Individual student portraits are taken by professional photographers. After the page plan is final, the typist types the captions and copy. When the page is approved by Mrs. Miriam Puckett, the advisor, the page is sent to the publisher in California.

Carrie Swain and Vince Jelineo work on ALMANAC layouts.

Post Stresses Accurate News

POST staff members are interested juniors and seniors who have completed one year of beginning journalism. They gain responsibility and journalistic experience by writing news stories, editorials, features, sports articles, columns and reviews.

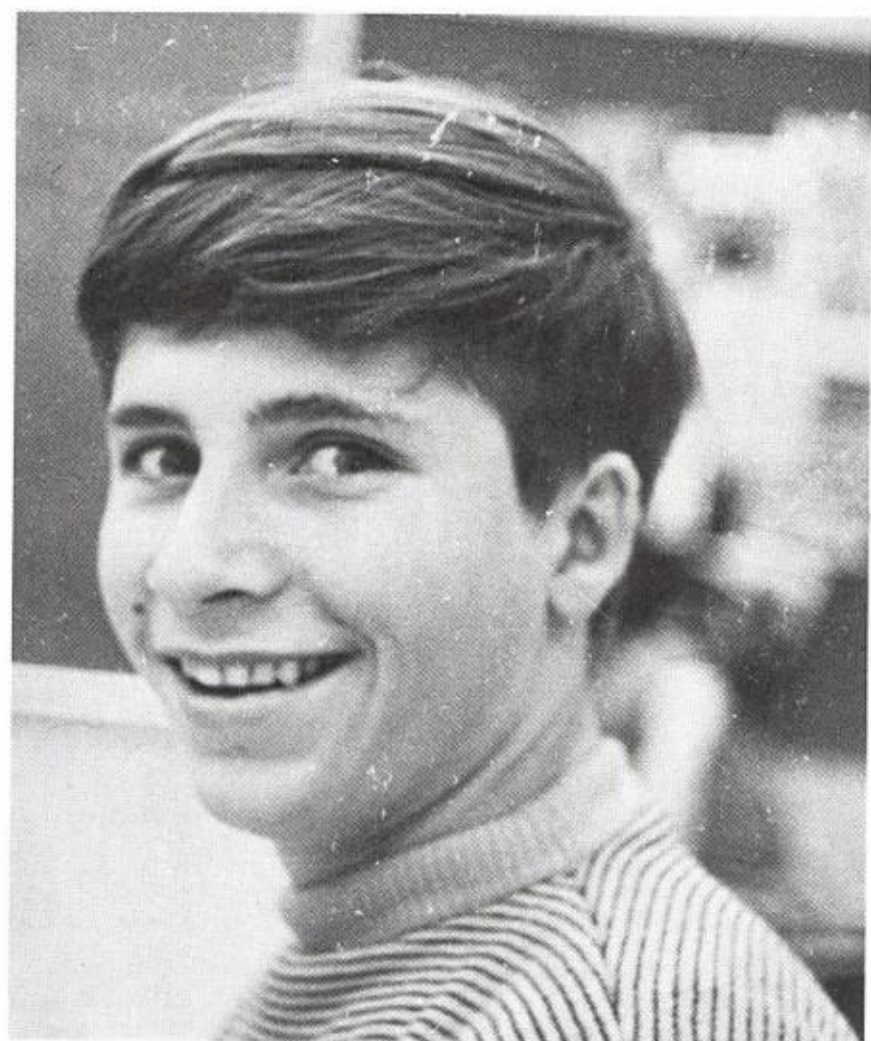

Every edition of the POST involves planning sheets, story assignments, research, interviews. The co-ordination of photos, writing copy, headlines and picture captions, editing and making page layouts are complicated with never-ending deadlines to meet.

Photographers Snap, Print

Second year photography students take, develop, and print many of the necessary pictures that make up the ALMANAC.

In first year photography, students learned photo techniques.

Second year students put these techniques into actual practice by taking pictures for the ALMANAC and the POST. This requires punctuality, responsibility, and skills in taking pictures under many different conditions.

Art Staff Capitalizes on Skills

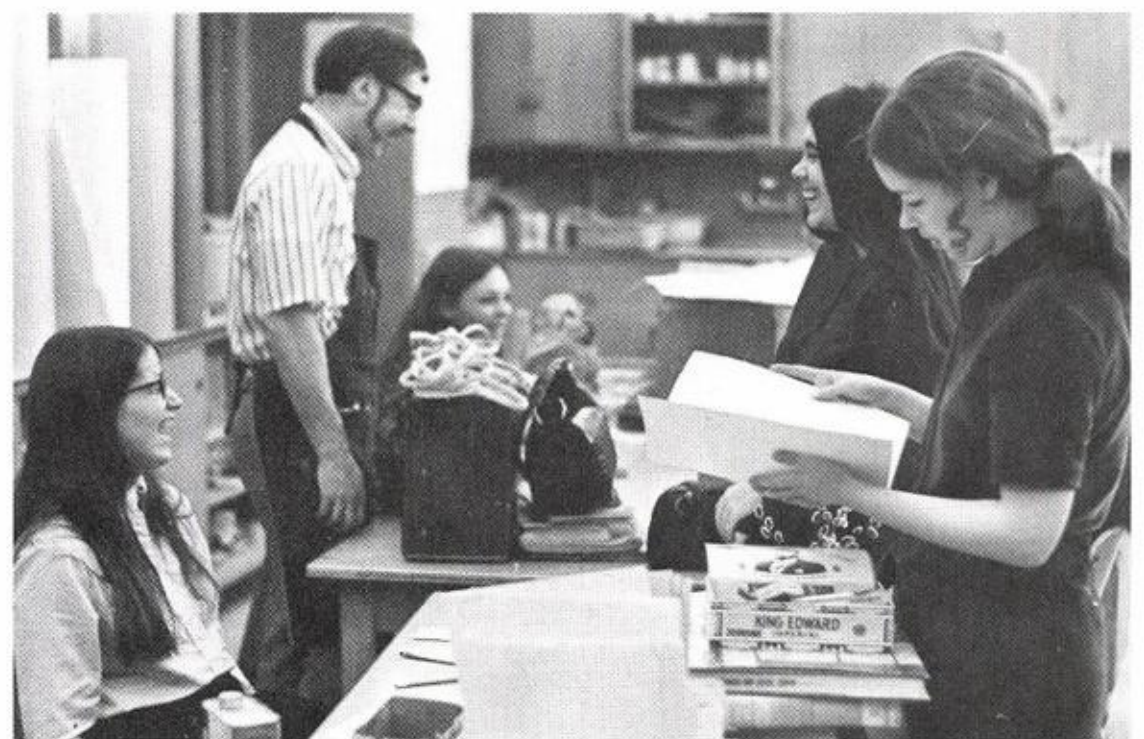

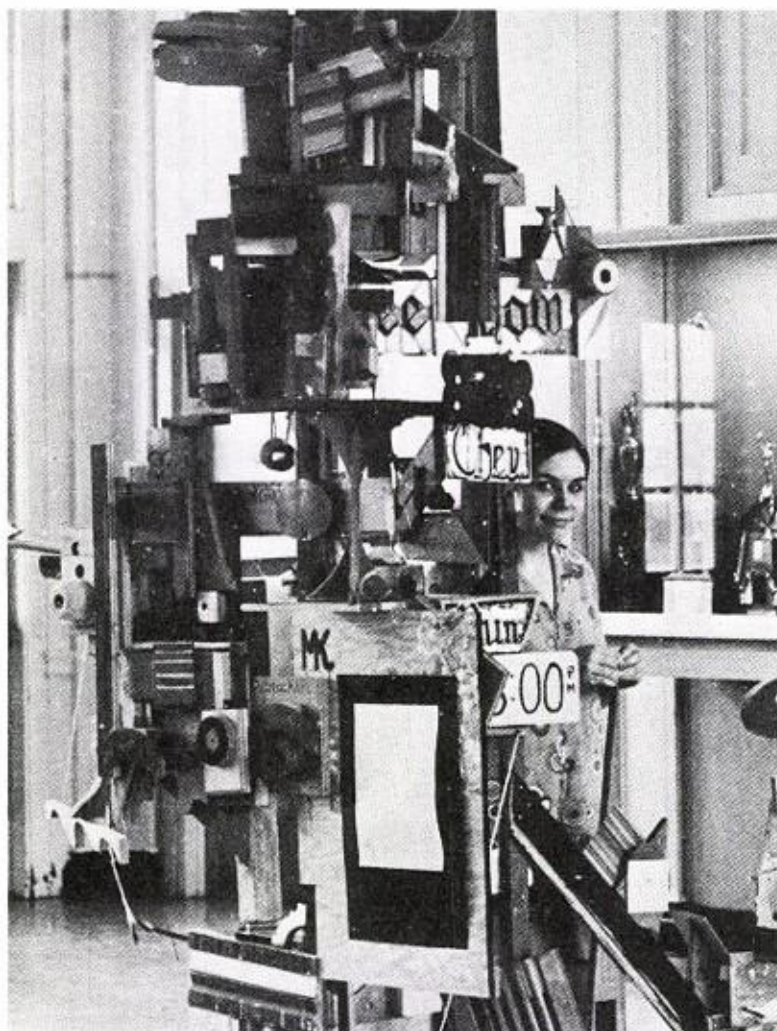

Staff members, under the direction of Mr. Jerry Bosco, are chosen on the basis of originality and skill in sign lettering and poster making. Commercial art and the recommendation of the teacher are required.

Each art staff member is allowed to use any media and supplies to carry out his assignments. The staff produces fliers announcing dramatic events, hall banners, and posters. Clubs and groups within the school ordered various types of art work from the staff.

A major prospect was the construction of a maze of wood scraps to publicize the production of "See How They Run." Names of the actors were painted on the maze.

Staffs Maintain Records

Headed by Mrs. Eleanor Norlin and Mrs. Jean Schultz, the library and bookroom staffs maintain student book records. Some 25,340 textbooks are checked out at the beginning of the year and returned in June. English novels are rotated throughout the year.

Bookroom staff members repair textbooks and other learning aids. Charging and shelving books are the main duties of a library worker.

Cafeteria Staffs Cook, Serve

Assistants in the cafeteria help the cooks prepare and serve the food and beverages purchased by the students. They also help clean the tables and wash dishes after the lunch periods. Several workers sell food in the student lounge during all periods of the day. They work hard to see that the students of Franklin have attractive, well balanced meals available.

Students Assist in Office Work

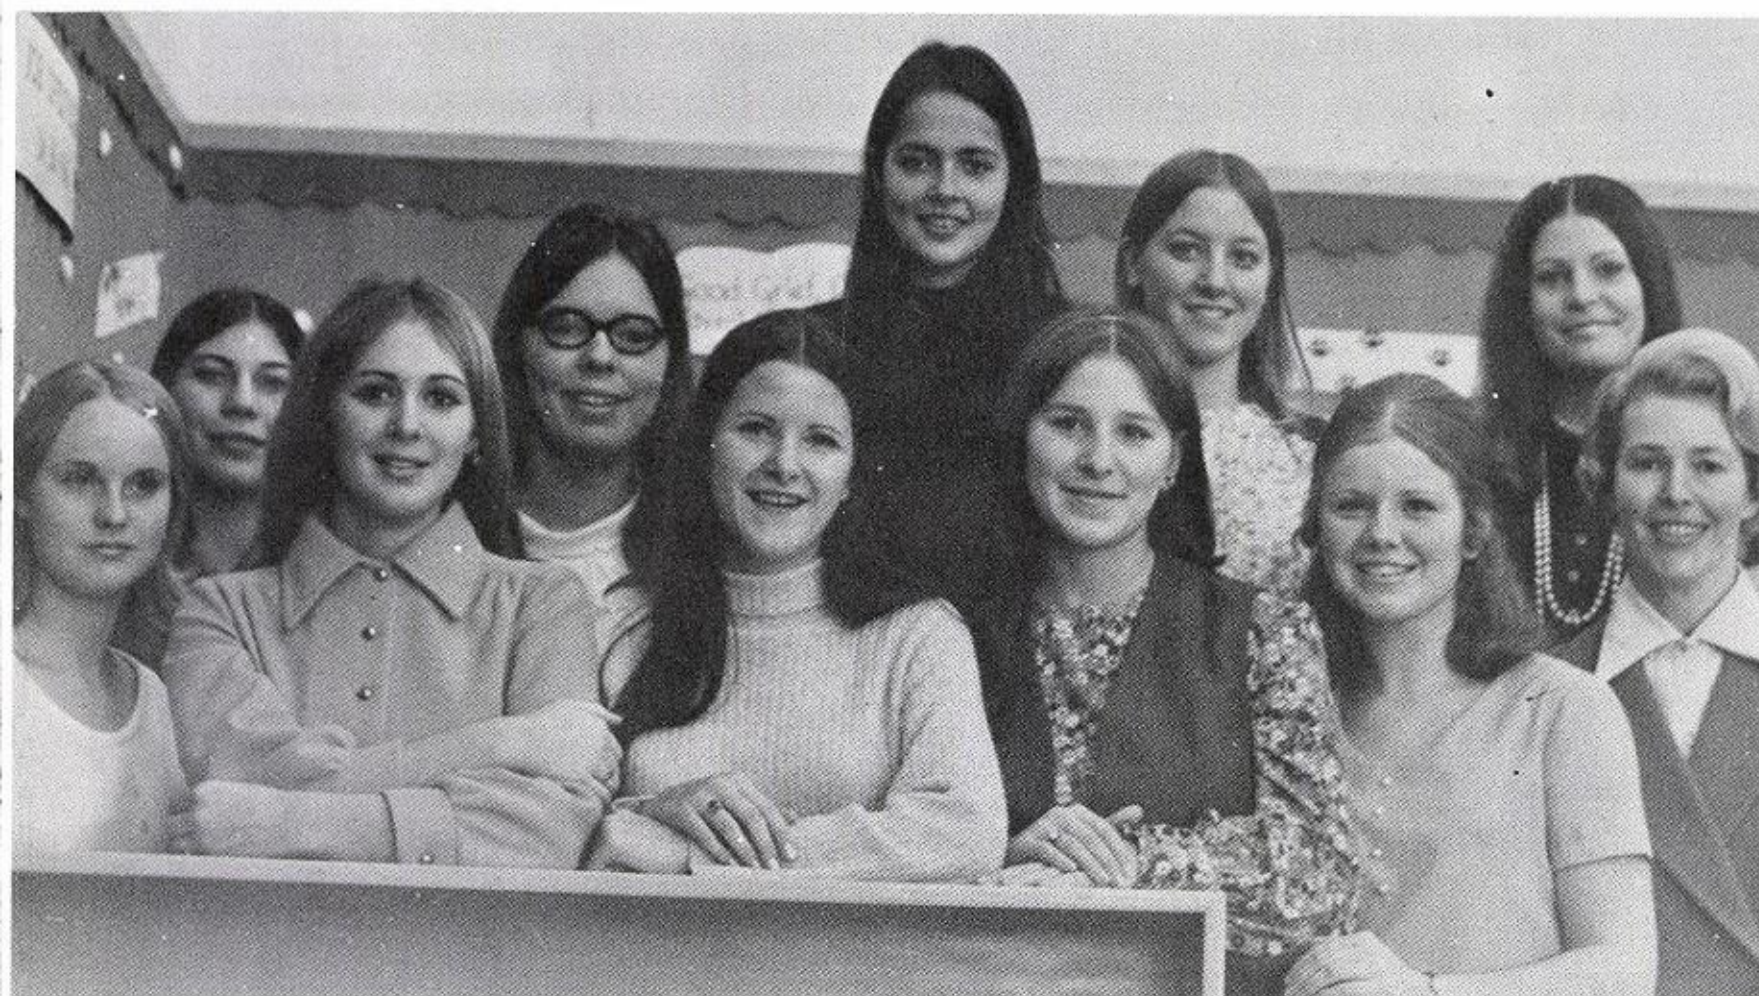

Efficient assistants in the main and attendance offices have many duties. They answer the phone, take messages, and deliver memos for Mrs. Gowing and Mrs. Davis. At the beginning of the year, these students have the tedious job of alphabetizing 2,400 schedule cards. Besides receiving a full credit, they gain valuable job experience.

A new dress code was instituted for office workers. Girls are allowed to wear pants suits while working in the office. Formerly, dresses were required. This ruling came about after the businessmen's revision of their dress code.

Students Provide Clerical Help

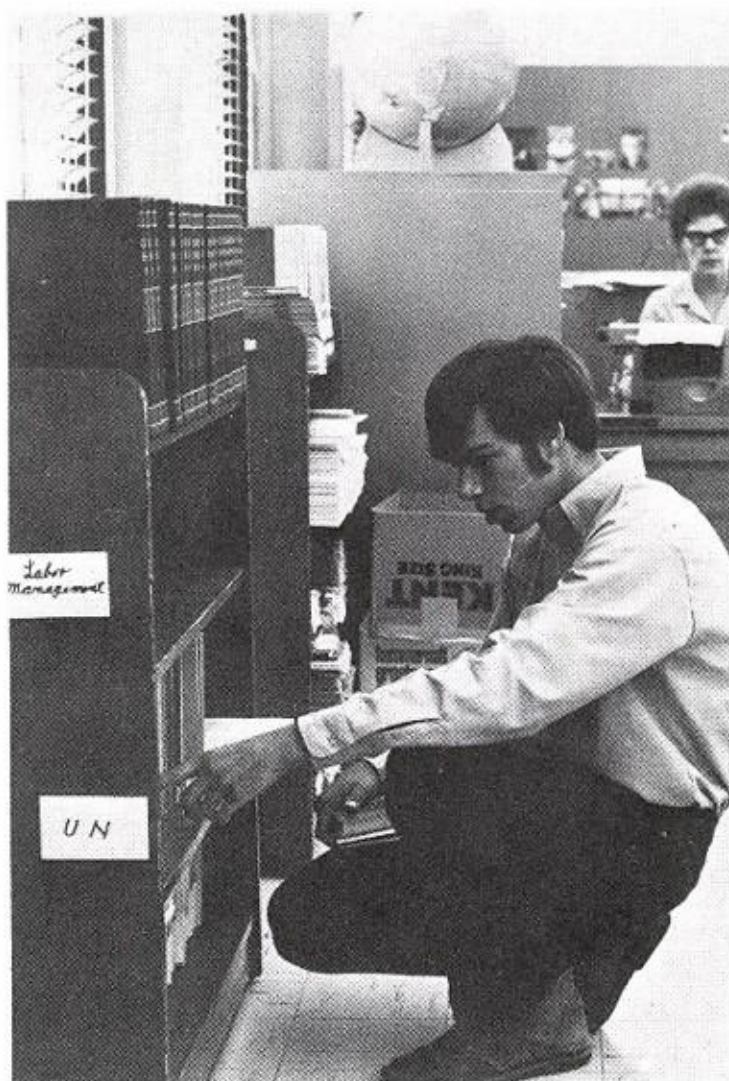

Students assisting in the counseling and college co-ordinator's offices receive a credit for performing various tasks. Answering the phone, typing, filing, and summoning students for counselors are some of their duties. Gaining office experience, these students have an advantage when they apply for jobs after graduation.

Resource Centers Specialize

Educational materials found in the resource centers provide specialized information in the areas of social studies and English.

Books on American problems and current issues are circulated through the social studies resource center. Numerous magazines, newspapers, and distributive education resource materials are available for student use.

The English resource center houses books on Shakespeare, poetry, foreign languages, composition, speech, and drama. Students from film-study and mass media classes use the English center frequently.

Pleiades Promotes Friendliness

Pleiades is the senior girls' honor club at Franklin. This year, its purpose was to promote friendliness among the students by giving parties for transfer students, to acquaint them with each other and inform them of various activities in the school.

Pleiades were originally the virtuous daughters of Atlas, according to Greek mythology. As each girl is accepted into the club, she is given a virtue for which she is outstanding.

NHS Donates Services

National Honor Society entrance requirements remained as 3.25 GPA for juniors and seniors. Sophomores needed a 3.67 GPA for admittance and must have maintained a 3.25 accumulative grade point average.

After the fall banquet at the Mayflower Building, NHS members served as guides on Parent's Night. As an annual service project, National Honor Society sponsored a Christmas party for the Multiple Sclerosis Society. Everybody participated by filling stockings with goodies, wrapping presents, and serving. Spring installation and initiation ceremonies were held in April in Franklin's auditorium. This spring cabinet abolished the nominating committee and devised a plan in which interested people would nominate themselves. Ushering at Senior Commencement was the final project of the year.

Quakerettes Entertain

Quakerette activities began in the latter part of August with practices and auditions for the Quakerette dance line. Fourteen girls qualified for membership in the Hiliners, which entertain during half time at Franklin's basketball games.

Some of the Quakerettes' activities included being usherettes at the musical, "Brigadoon," on November 20 and 21. A car wash and bottle drives were some of the major money-making projects.

Bowlers Hold Weekly Meets

Every Friday at 3:15 p.m. the Franklin bowling team meets at Eastside Bowling Alley. Thirty-one bowlers, headed by Jeff McEwen, president, and Teresa Todd, secretary, kept the club organized.

Don Dimoff, Ken Rodd, Lee Sloan, and Dave Dimoff were leading, as a team, in March. Lee Sloan bowled the best game with a 237.

Distributive Ed Uses Seller as HDQ

Benji's Seller is staffed by junior and senior DE students. Taught by Mr. Howard Grogan, the DE classes study all phases of marketing. Their activities include stocking the store, taking inventory, cashiering, arranging displays, advertising, and managing.

Selling game and field trip tickets and keeping student locker numbers straight are some of the duties of the student store bookkeepers. "It's a great opportunity to work with people," said Connie Cozzetto. The student helpers are under the supervision of Mrs. Psyche Miller.

Sigma Gives Scholarship

Sigma Phi Alpha, Franklin's music honor club, accepted members of the Girls' Choir for the first time. Previously, membership was limited to band, orchestra, and "A" Choir students. Sigma members attended musical events around the city such as the "Messiah," University of Oregon Symphony Band Concert and Franklin's "Brigadoon."

This year, the club adopted a new constitution and gave the G. E. Pancheon Scholarship to a deserving member.

Choir Tapes for Radio KISN

Sixty-nine outstanding voices blend to form "A" Choir, directed by Mr. John Peery. As Franklin's "best," they represent the school at various community activities. They sang at the Christmas program and made a tape of Christmas carols for a local radio station.

Girls Choir, under the direction of Mr. John Brewer, provides those girls with good voices an advanced choir experience. Any sophomore, junior, or senior girl who passes the auditioning is eligible to join. Among other activities, they sang for the patients at Veterans Hospital.

Ensembles Emphasize Performance

Besides singing, learning how to work together and to present yourself in a poised manner to the public are some of the objectives of the small ensembles. These groups are formed at the end of the freshman year after auditioning, and stay together as singing groups for three years.

The Harmonettes, senior girls ensemble, provided the entertainment at the Multiple Sclerosis Christmas party sponsored by Franklin's National Honor Society, and a Rotary Club luncheon. The Chantelles, the junior girls ensemble, sang at the Fall NHS banquet. Patients at the Veterans Hospital and Barnes Hospital were entertained by the Sonnettes, sophomore girls ensemble.

Hal Donkin, Roberta Henderson, Tim Nord, and George Smeraglio are members of Franklin's Brass Ensemble. Besides participation in all band activities, they play special music written for brass instruments. At Christmas, the ensemble played carols from the clock tower.

Tom Herd, John Emra, Mark Jones, Larry Weber, and Steve Giordano, seniors, make up the Terracotta 5.

Orchestra Tackles Original Score

"Brigadoon" was the major activity for the orchestra this year. Playing the original form of the music required extra practice sessions on the part of each student.

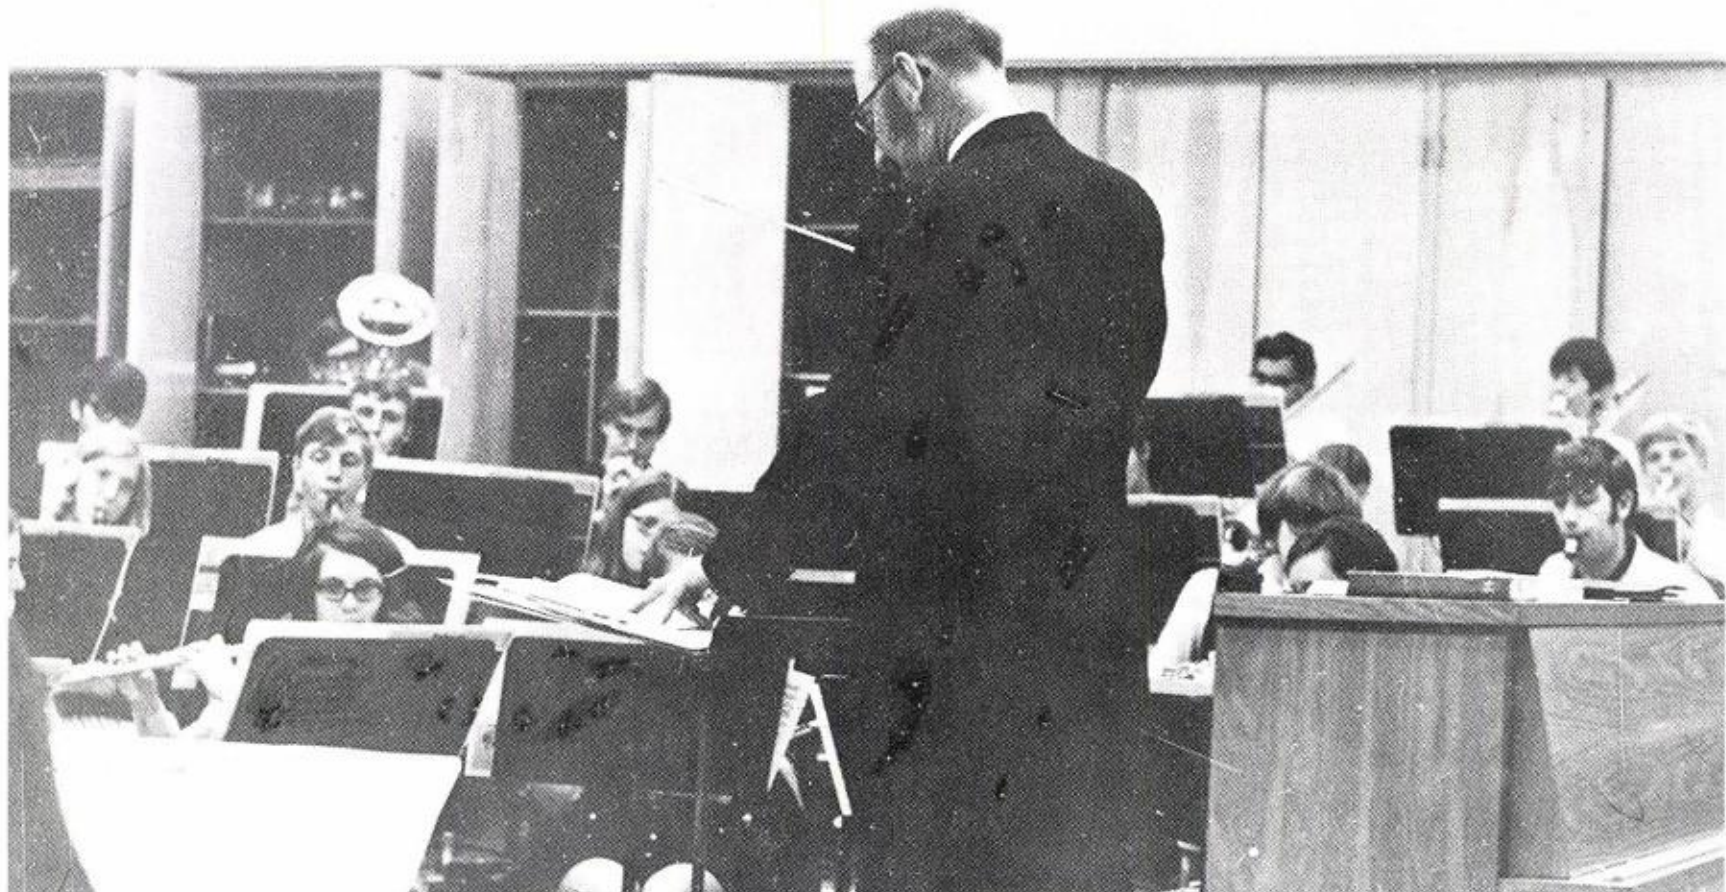

The orchestra takes part in the Christmas program and winter concert. In the spring, they play in the Fine Arts Festival, at May Fete festivities, and at the Baccalaureate.

Spirited Band Peps It Up

Spirited pep music by the band greeted the team and rooters at the Football Jamboree. Franklin's band was selected as one of the key bands at the event. In preparation for this activity, the band members came to school a week early, to learn the music and practice marching with the new drum major, Graig Flach. The band played at all the home football games.

Two volunteer groups of band members made up the Tuesday/Friday pep bands for the basketball games.

Other band activities included Fall and Winter concerts, participation in the Fine Arts Festival and marching in the Rose Festival Parade in June.

WINTER

Students Get Together for "Jam III"

On November 5, 1970, the gym was filled with the beating of drums and the strumming of guitars playing the latest rock sound. Admission to "Super Jam III" was only a dime. Once inside, people made themselves comfortable and enjoyed two hours of fun and music.

The Super Jam, organized by Student Body President, Don Geren, gave Franklin students a chance to show their talents. Although there was not enough equipment until the last moment, things worked out well.

"PORTLAND ZOO"

Dance Features "Portland Zoo"

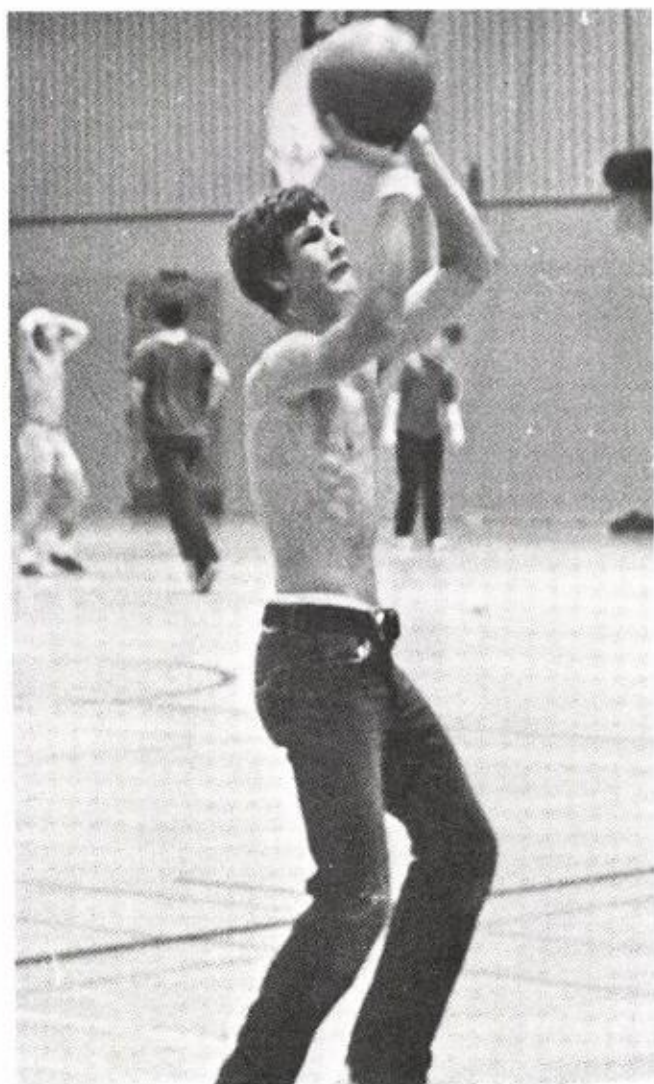

Through the Executive Cabinet's planning and organization, Franklin students were dancing to the famed "Portland Zoo" on December 4, 1970.

The majority of students expressed their desire to have the "Portland Zoo" through a vote. The vote was carried out in a special assembly directed by the Executive Cabinet.

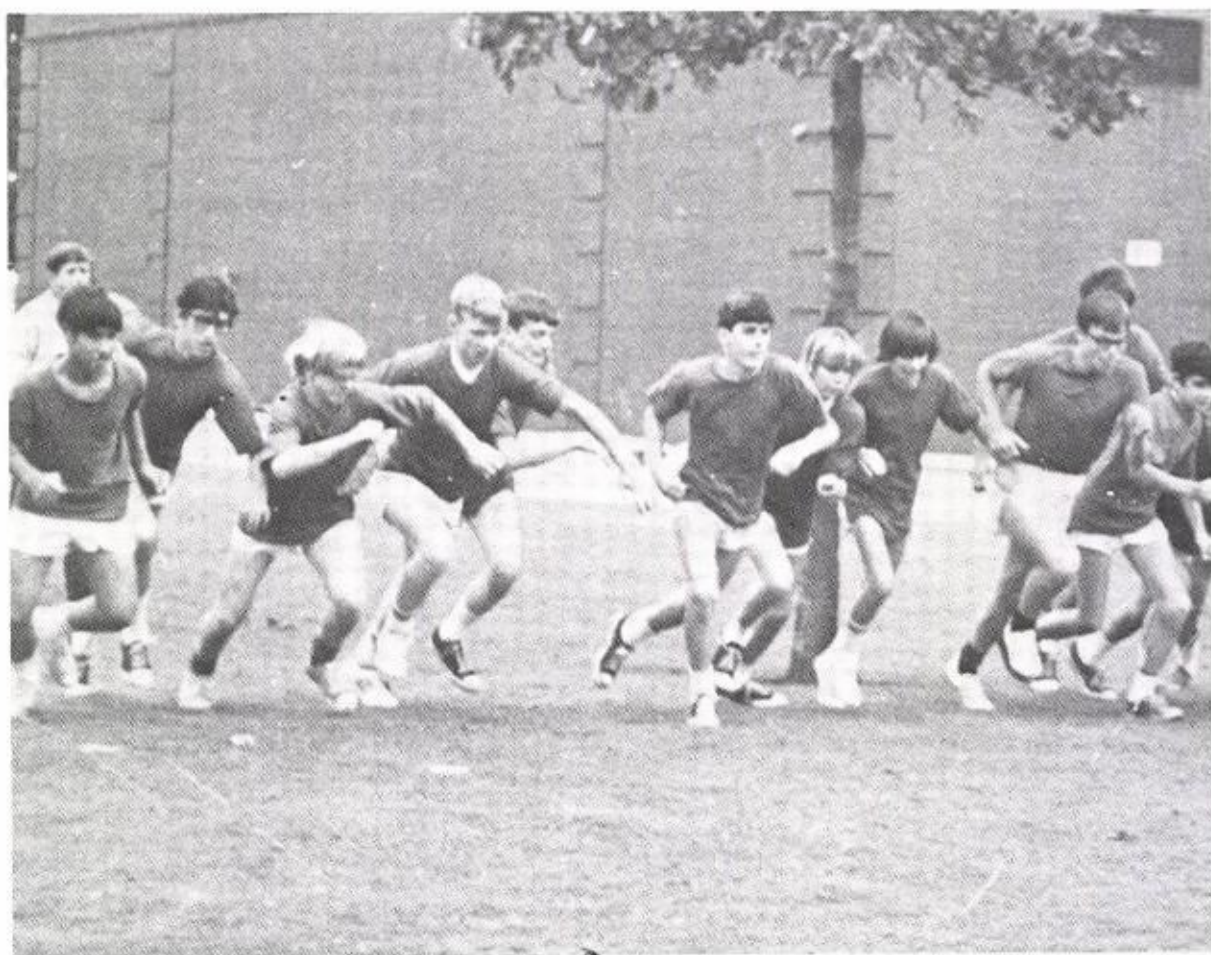

Receiving tremendous publicity, the whole school was aware of the coming event. Banners and fliers were posted throughout the halls and special attention was given in individual reg. rooms.

Intramurals Return

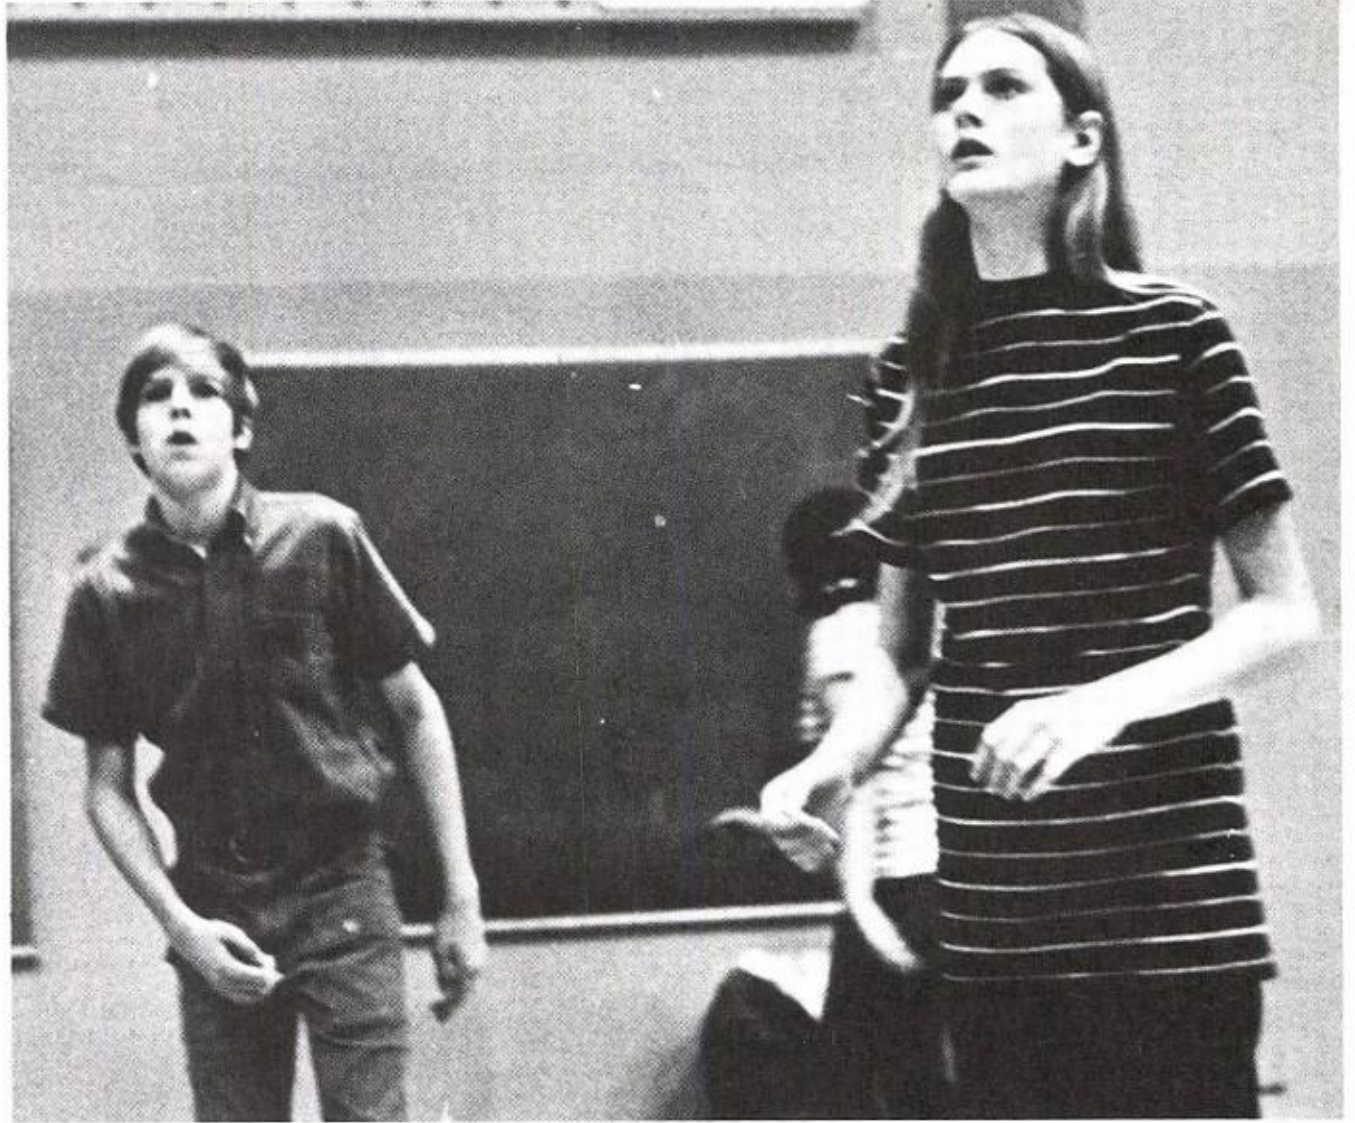

Intramurals, organized by Mr. Jon Abraham, were under a different type of arrangement. Juniors and seniors were divided into reg. room units. Freshmen and sophomores were separated by their gym classes. A unit manager was appointed to publicize the events and to select a team captain for each activity. It is hoped that this system will increase participation and competition. Fall sports included flag football and cross country. Among the winter events were basketball, volleyball, and bowling. A class trophy will be awarded at the end of the year. Place of winning, type of sport, number of players, and individuals who play all three seasons are criteria for awarding points.

'Peace...' Reigns

Happiness spread throughout a blue and white decorated gym as Franklin Quakers felt the beauty of the theme, "Peace on Earth." Holding hands, blue life-size paper dolls bordered the gym and alternated from boy to girl. Some of the dolls were of a different color, signifying a difference of races, yet, since they were holding hands, it meant friendship over the world.

Program Enhances Christmas Spirit

On December 16 and 17, the music and drama students of Franklin presented the annual Christmas program. On Wednesday, December 16, the program was presented to the Franklin community. The PTA hosted a wassail after the performance.

A special viewing was arranged for the students at a assembly on Thursday the 17th. The program began with a short excerpt of Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol. Songs of Christmas were performed by the Girls Choir, Harmonettes, Chantelles, "A" Choir, and the Franklin orchestra. The combined effort was under the direction of Mr. George Pancheau, Mr. John Peery, Mr. John Brewer and Mr. Brian Biggs.

Tea Honors Dr. Arthur Westcott

"Congratulations, Dr. Westcott," was the theme of the Valentine's tea held on February 15, 1971. It was sponsored by the faculty social committee, in honor of the newly acquired Doctor of Education degree.

Dr. Arthur Westcott began his higher education at the University of Portland, where he received a bachelor's degree. He attained his master's degree after 45 hours of study at Reed College. Finally, after more than 90 hours of additional study, the doctorate degree was awarded by the University of Portland.

Russian Dinner Sells Out

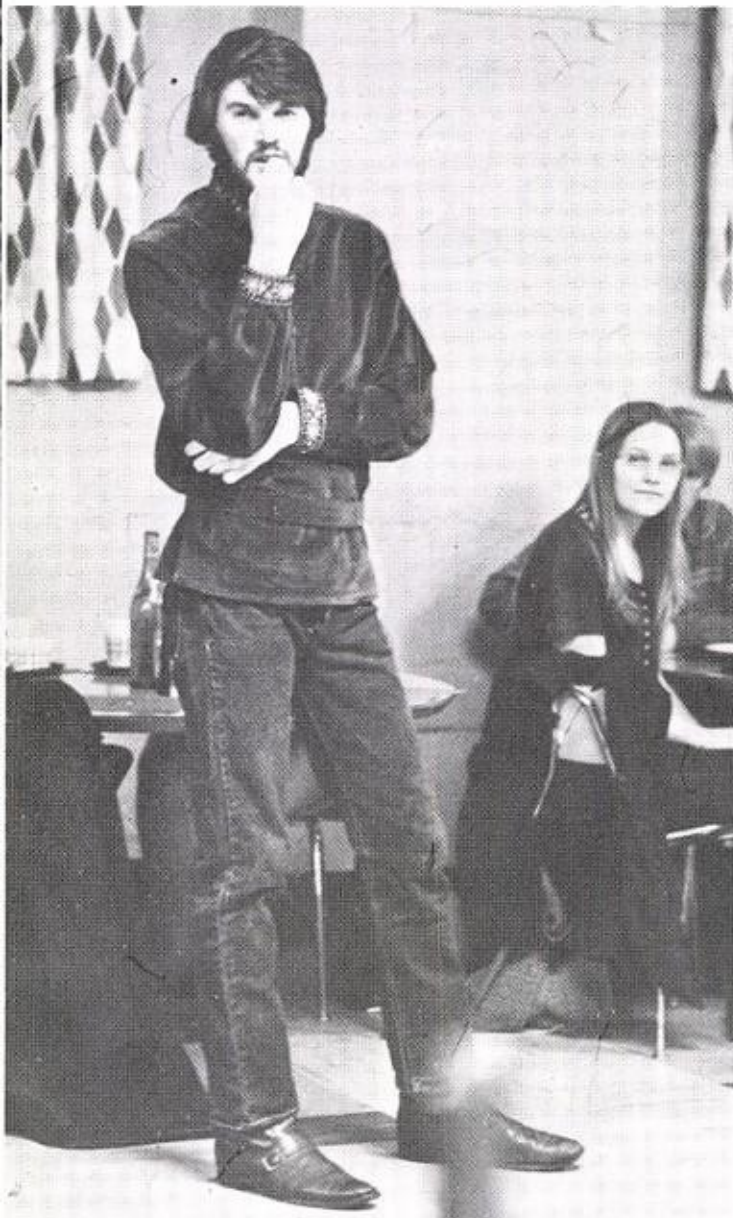

One of the most successful activities this year was the Russian Vetcherinka party. Sponsored by the Russian club, the dinner was held on Thursday, February 25. All of the 125 available tickets were sold during the week preceding the dinner.

The student lounge was decorated with colored placemats and wine bottles on each table to simulate a Russian restaurant. Members of the Russian club were dressed in traditional native garb.

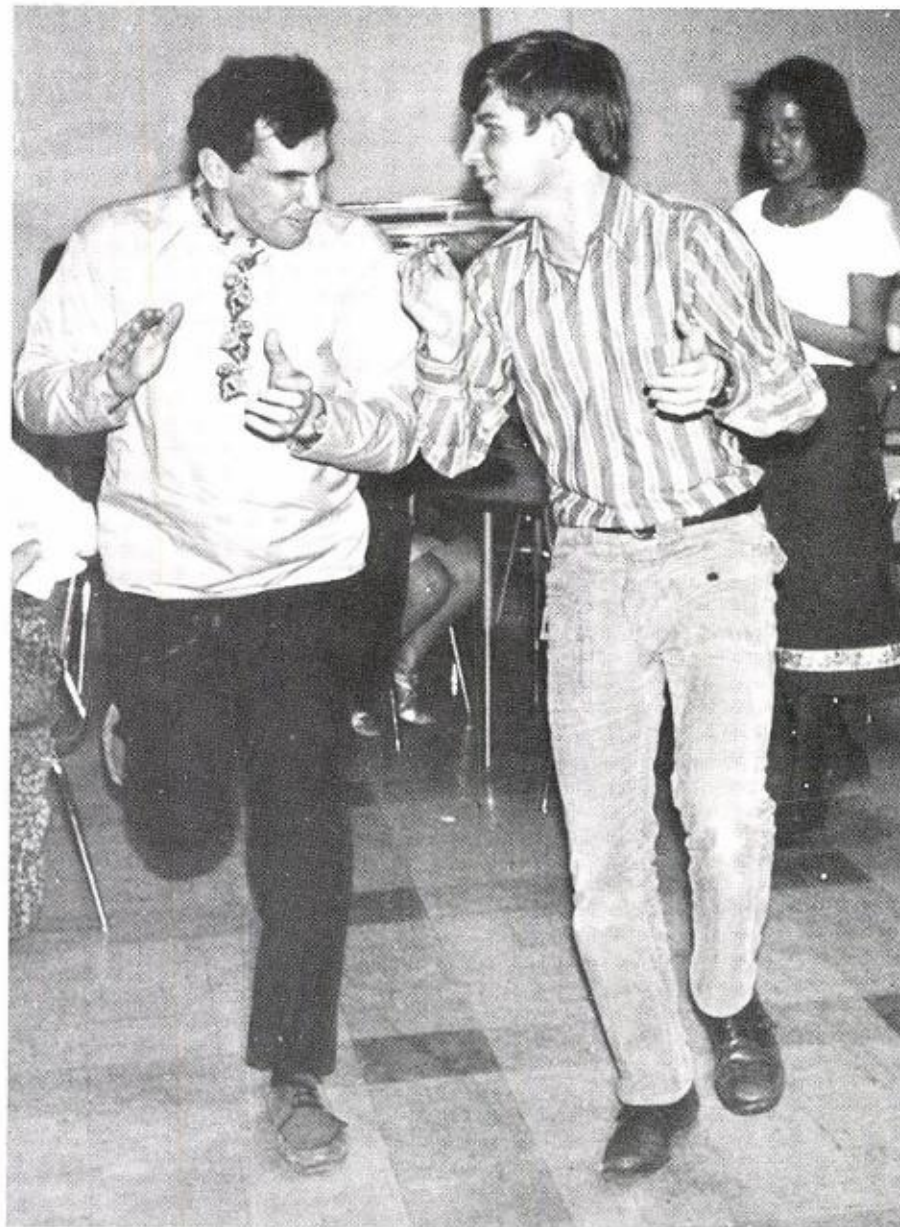

Ron Peterson, a teacher in the Russian community at Woodburn, was guest speaker. After conducting a question and answer session on Russian culture, he demonstrated the "Katya," a Russian dance.

Mary Anderson, Stella Lee, Debra Cunningham, and Theresa Ryan check over tickets.

Snow Blankets Campus

Cold red noses, snowballs in the halls, and dripping wet students were everywhere. The cold north winds blew and showers of snow could be seen out the window. Outside was a winter wonderland. (Groups of students threw snowballs and built snowmen.)

As the powdery white snow continued to fall, excitement grew. News that school was dismissed at 2:00 p.m. on Tuesday traveled quickly. Students enjoyed a vacation since schools were closed Wednesday and Thursday, January 13th and 14th.

FHS Stresses Hands Across Sea

Preceding the Saturday matches, Franklin introduced twelve Japanese wrestlers in a double assembly, January 22. A brief background of where they lived in Japan was revealed to Franklin students.

Throughout the day, each guest wrestler was accompanied by their opponent or another Franklin wrestler.

Three schools, Marshall, Roosevelt, and Franklin, participated in the ninth Cultural Exchange Wrestling Program. Representing Franklin were: Skeeter Boileau, Dennis Ward, Paul Cloutier, and Bob Lynn who was wrestling the Greco-Roman style.

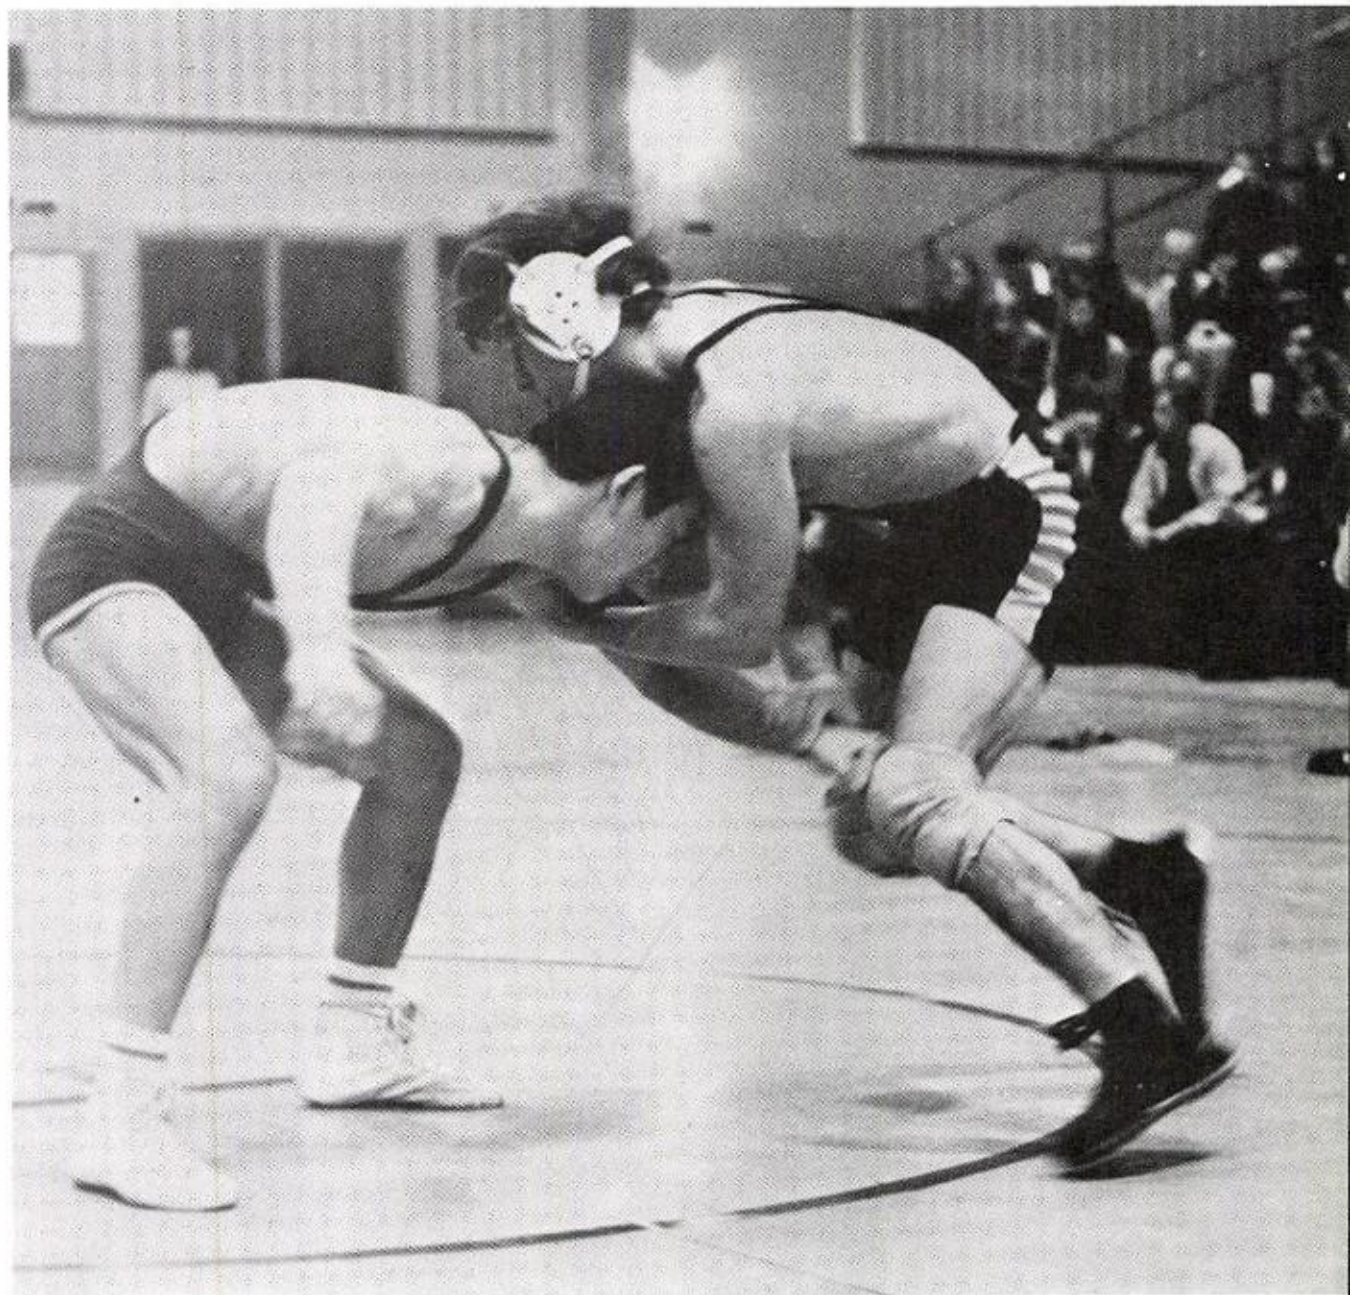

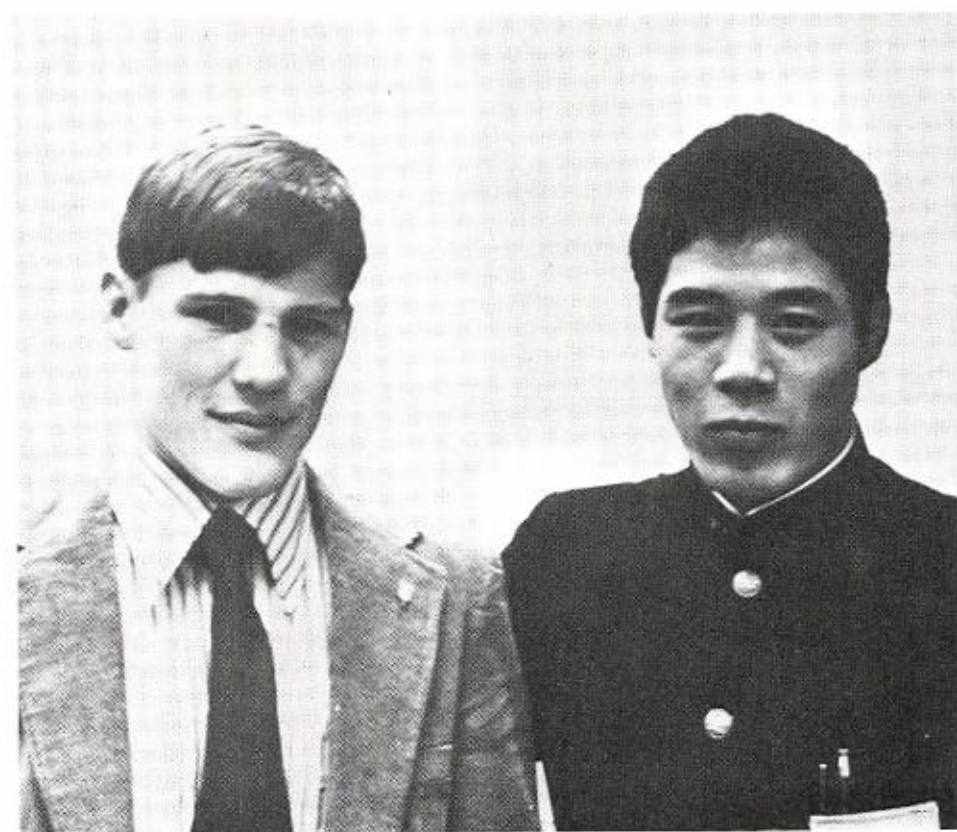

Saturday night, the Japanese wrestlers were greeted by a full gymnasium. Strengthening their title as National Champions of Japan, they won ten of their matches out of the twelve.

Drama Group Chooses Farce for Winter Production

A three-act farce, written by Philip King, was chosen as the drama department's winter production. "See How They Run" was performed on the evenings of February 11, 12, and 13 in the student lounge.

The setting was an English vicarage in the 1940's. Beth Hammond portrayed Penelope Toop, a former actress who is married to the vicar. She found herself being caught at the wrong time by the town gossip, Miss Skillon.

An old friend of Penelope's, Clive Winton, came to visit and found himself wearing one of the vicar's suits. Miss Skillon was accidentally knocked out and a bit drunk on cooking sherry. A spy entered and posed as Lionel Toop. At the same time, Clive posed as Lionel and each thought the other was Humphrey. The play was hilariously confusing.

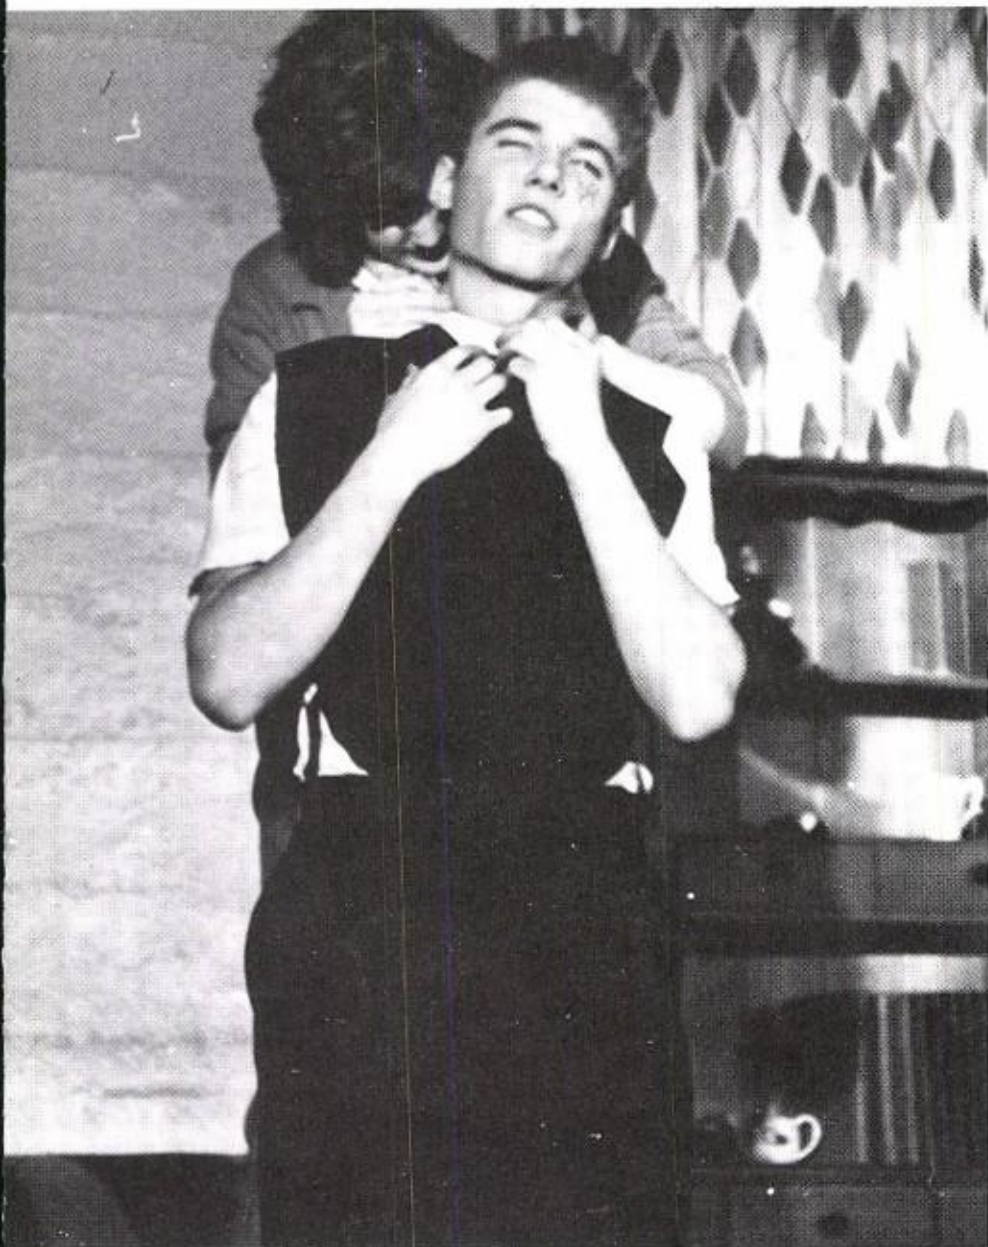

Presented in a theater-of-the-round fashion, the play was directed by Mr. Brian Biggs. He was assisted by Kent Brechtbill.

Mrs. Toop shrieks as Lionel dashes out of the closet.

"Please miss, I'm a married man!" exclaims Humphrey.

Varsity Hoopmen Hustle

The Varsity basketballers, coached by Mr. Nick Robertson, had a losing season but played competitive basketball in the tough PIL. Aggressive defense was stressed and each week a player was chosen as "most aggressive." Several games were decided by only a few points. Wins over Adams, Jackson, and Madison highlighted the year. Dave Burnell led the Quaker attack, both in points and rebounding. Forward John George followed closely in scoring while guard Mike Santangelo led the assist category. Brian Kelley was the hustling defensive leader of the team. With several junior lettermen returning, an experienced, confident team can be expected by Franklin next year.

J. V., Frosh Show Promise

The Junior Varsity hoopmen, coached by Mr. Mike O'Gara, proved to have potential for the future. Junior guards John Jones and Don Wiggins, and sophomore Tom Lovlien added scoring and playmaking to the team. Sophomore forwards Pete Lukich, Jim Ewing and Bob Lamb handled the rebounding and contributed to the team's well balanced scoring. First half games against Newberg, Adams, Wilson, Jackson, Benson, and Madison were all victories for the JV.

Franklin's freshmen team's strength was its ability to score points. Coach Robert Ford had several players capable of putting the ball through the basket. Jay Coe was the team floorleader while Reed Palmer and Paul Durbin were the leading scorers and center Glen Scott was outstanding in the rebounding department. First-half wins were over Sandy, Marshall, Cleveland, Roosevelt, and Madison.

Middleweights Lead Matmen

Varsity Coach Jack Burri felt the wrestlers had a fairly good season. "However, due to injuries, and some people not turning out we didn't do as well as we should have." Coach Burri named Bob Lynn, Darwin Rasmussen, and Dennis Ward as his three most valuable men this year.

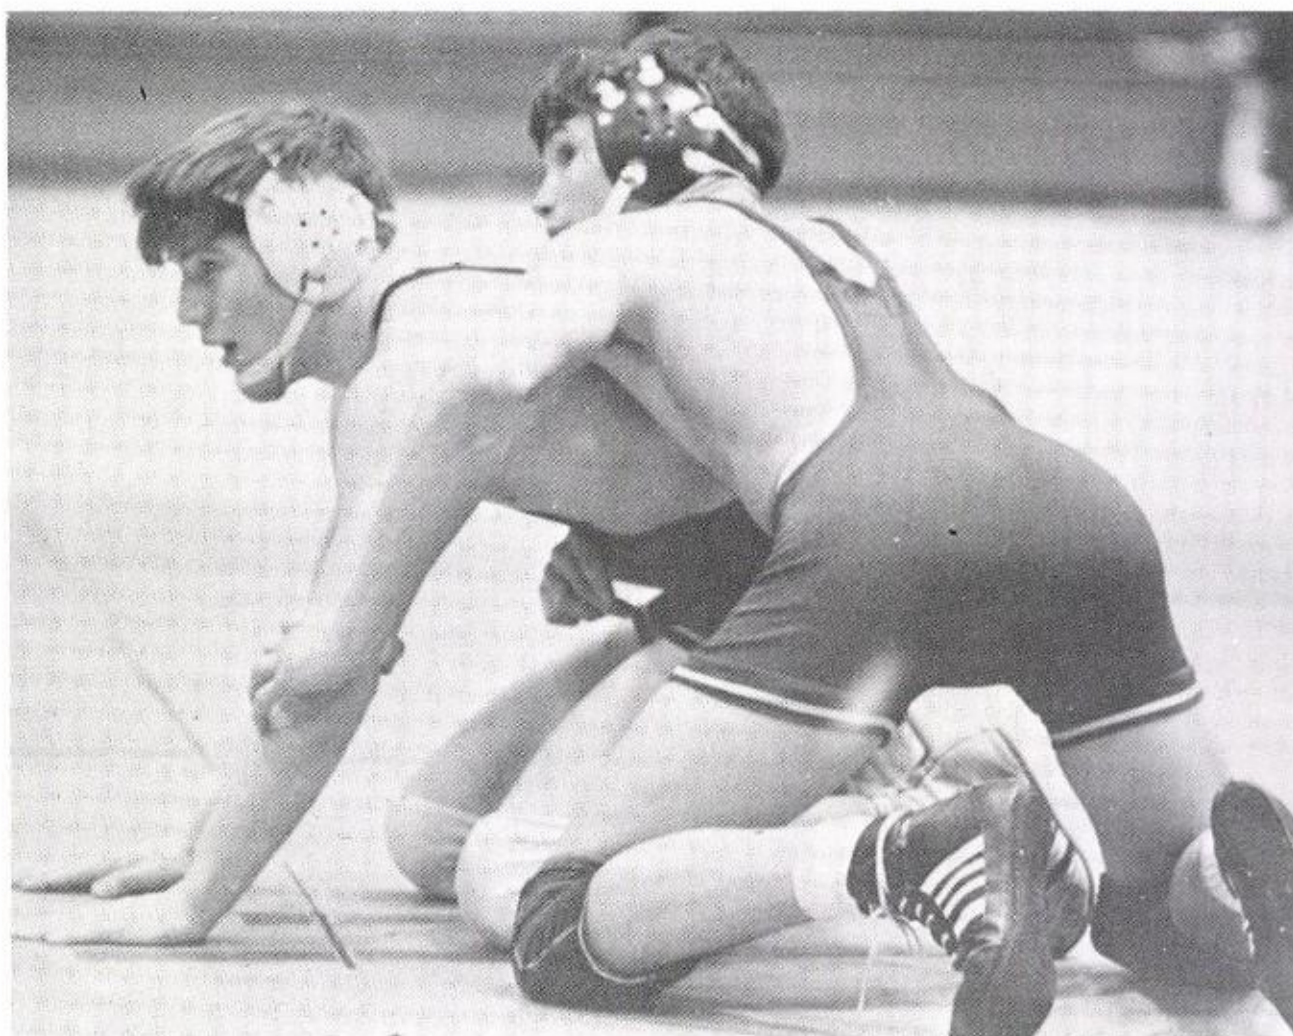

"We have the strongest middleweights in the PIL," stated Coach Burri. He projected that they would do well in city meets, and hoped to place in the top ten at State. The team was young, so the outlook for next year is good, with such promising wrestlers as Guy Hill, Paul Cloutier, and Skeeter Boileau.

Muskets Hit Bullseye

The Franklin Rifle Team, established in 1964, remains as one of only two teams in the city. Practices were held at the Marshall rifle range. Outstanding shooters for the team were captain Marc Wilson and freshman Shery Alley. The riflers finished the season in the second division, although coming close in several key matches. Coach Davis commented: "The rewards are great, as are the efforts required in mastering a rifle. The best kids in the whole school are well represented on my team and I'm proud of them."

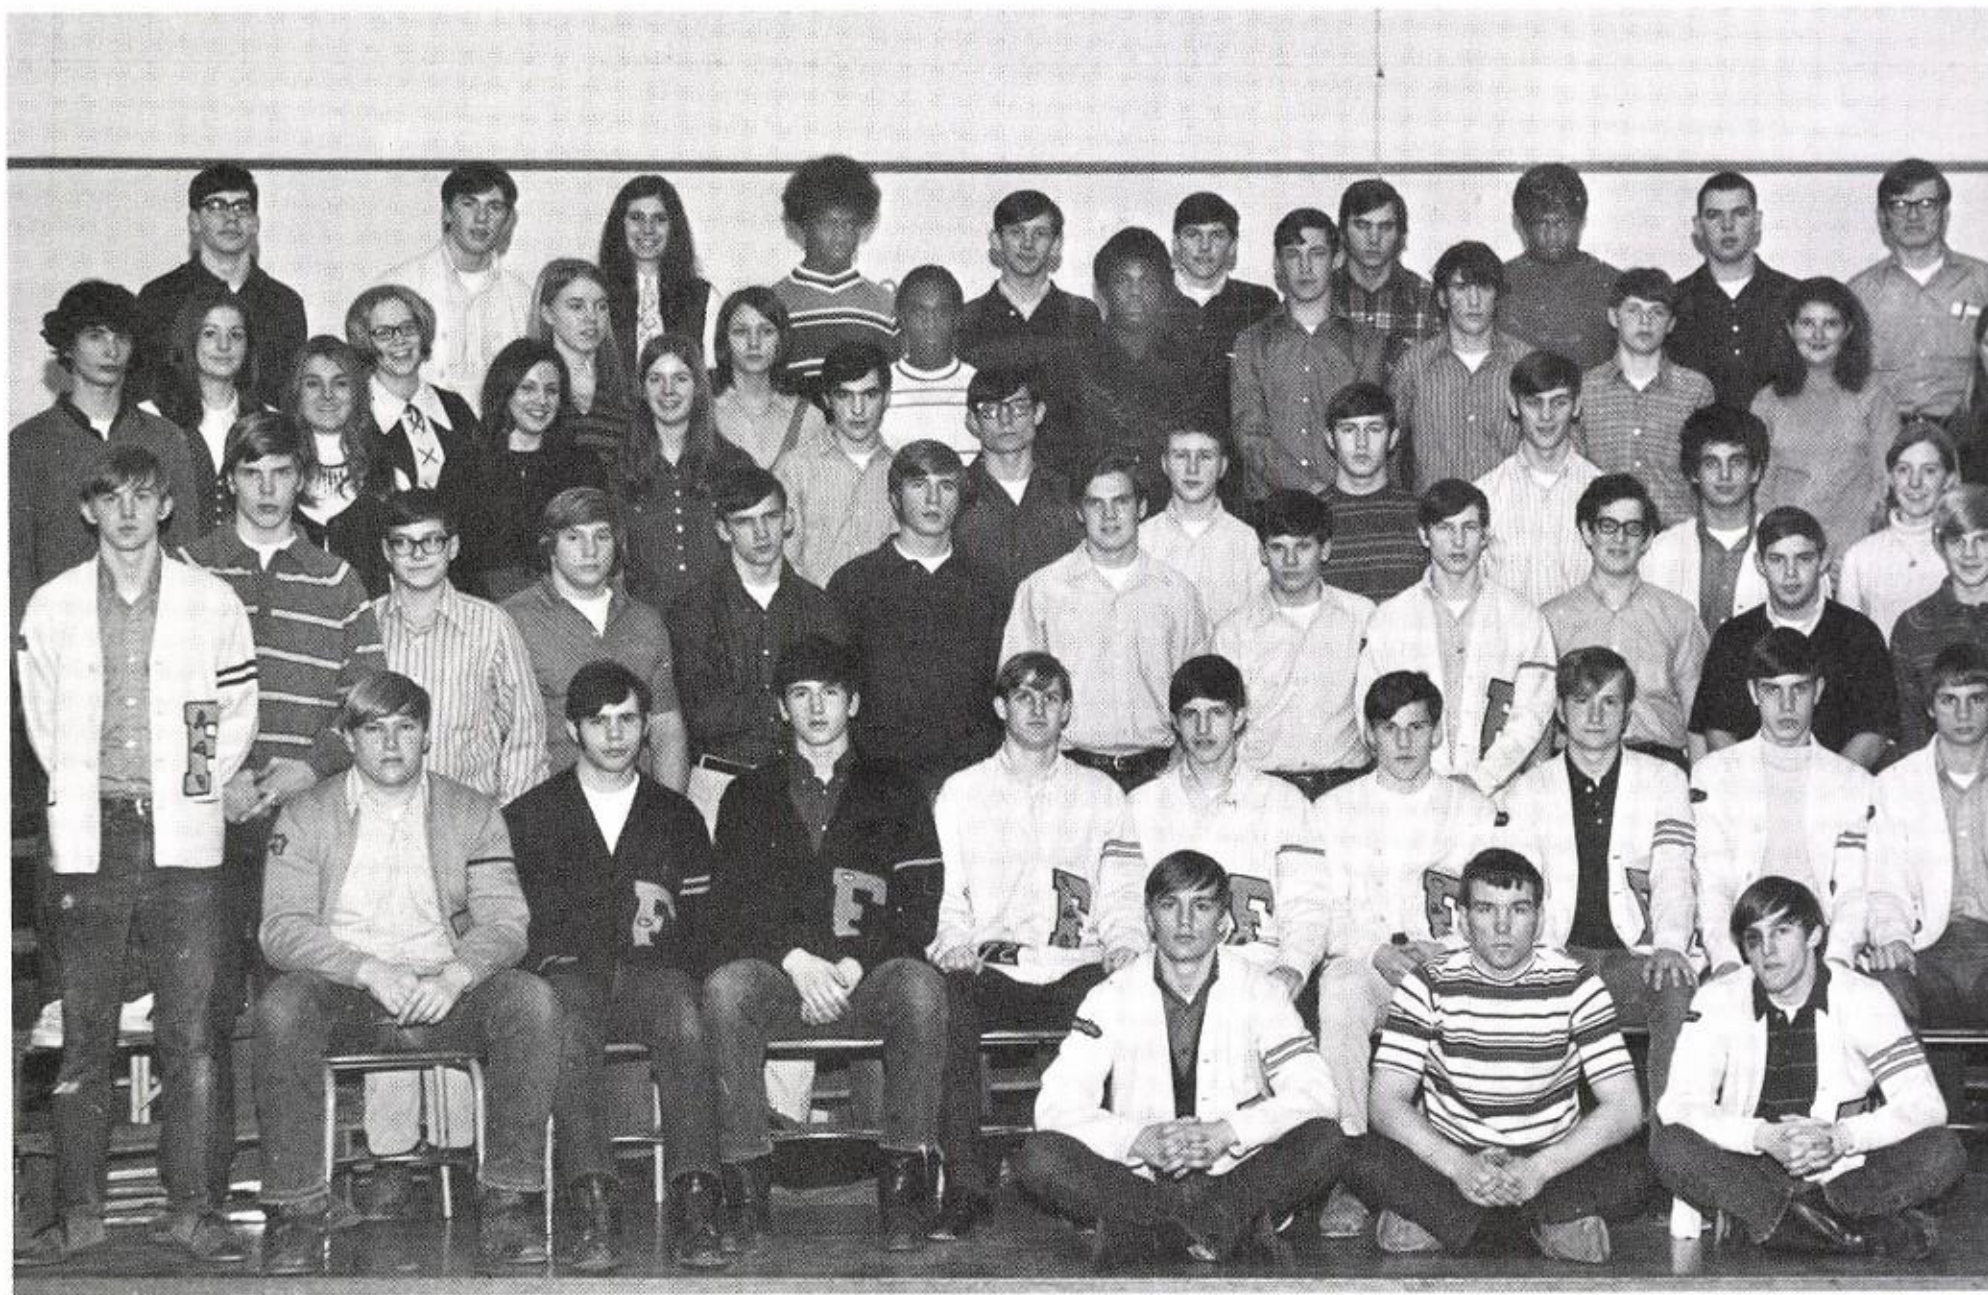

JV, Frosh Dominate

Coach Jim Miller felt the Junior Varsity grapplers were "one of the strongest in the city". The highlight of the season was an all city tournament with the Franklin team taking 7 out of 9 firsts. Named as outstanding wrestlers were Rod Waterhouse, Dave Cooper, Fred Rodd, and Steve Hall.

The Quaker's Frosh wrestling team enjoyed one of the best seasons to date, according to Coach Tom Dyar. The team sported a 9-2 record this year. Outstanding wrestlers were Randy Irish, John Harding, Joe Woodard, and Don Demoor.

Lettermen Serve School

Students of either sex, who earn a varsity letter, are eligible for membership in the Franklin Lettermen's Club. The club serves the school and participates in various fund raising projects and activities. A bake sale, a concession stand at basketball games and a car wash were some of this year's activities. An all school dance and a hockey game were some possible activities planned for spring. Greg Keller, president, and Mr. Jack Burri, faculty adviser, have worked hard to make Lettermen's Club a success. Greg commented: "It's a great organization and can be even greater if the members want it to be."

B-Ball Rallies Bounce With Enthusiasm

Summer practices and early planning helped the Basketball rally to prepare for the season ahead. Planning assemblies, buying treats for the team, and promoting spirit at the games were the goals of the Varsity Basketball rally.

Junior Varsity rally members were chosen by the freshmen and sophomore classes late in the Fall. With a short time to prepare their yells, the rally turned into one of the most outstanding J.V. rallies in several years.

Nancy Wohlers smiles over Quaker victory.

Rally leads the crowd in "Action" yell.

Senior Class Curriculum Council members: Alecia Armstrong, Jim Poujade, Joan Evans.

Cabinet Clears Debt

Financially, the senior class was a great success. Starting with a nearly $200 deficit, the cabinet managed to raise over $1200.

The success of the cabinet was not solely financial. Fall activities, projects, and planning for spring events have given every senior ample opportunity to become actively involved. The success of these activities shows not only the success of the class cabinet but the senior class itself.

Year Ends Successfully

"My cabinet got off to a great start because of the big boost we received from the fall cabinet and their ability to raise our treasury to $900. With this amount in the bank, we didn't have to worry about money-making projects; we could concentrate on making our activities completely successful.

The Senior-Faculty Game, Baccalaureate, Senior Movie, Commencement and the Senior Prom at the Town Hall were the major, well-planned activities during my Spring term. The seniors jumped at the opportunities to insure success of these activities by encouraging participation. Without their support we could not have had the success we did. This whole year has proven my theory that Seniors really are great."

Dan Hall

JUNIORS: FALL OFFICERS

President—Sue Bolder
Vice President—Janice Fossati
Secretary—Debbie Johnson
Treasurer—Debbie Walz
Publicity Chairman—Patty Ryan

Juniors Initiate Changes

The world outside of the school with its activities is moving ahead. One of the goals of the Fall Junior Cabinet was to keep up with this pace. Seeing things that needed to be changed, they attempted to accomplish those changes.

The replacement of the Junior Prom by an all-school semi-formal dance, the carrying-over of the President to the succeeding cabinet as an advisor, and the initiation of a Christmas food drive were innovations.

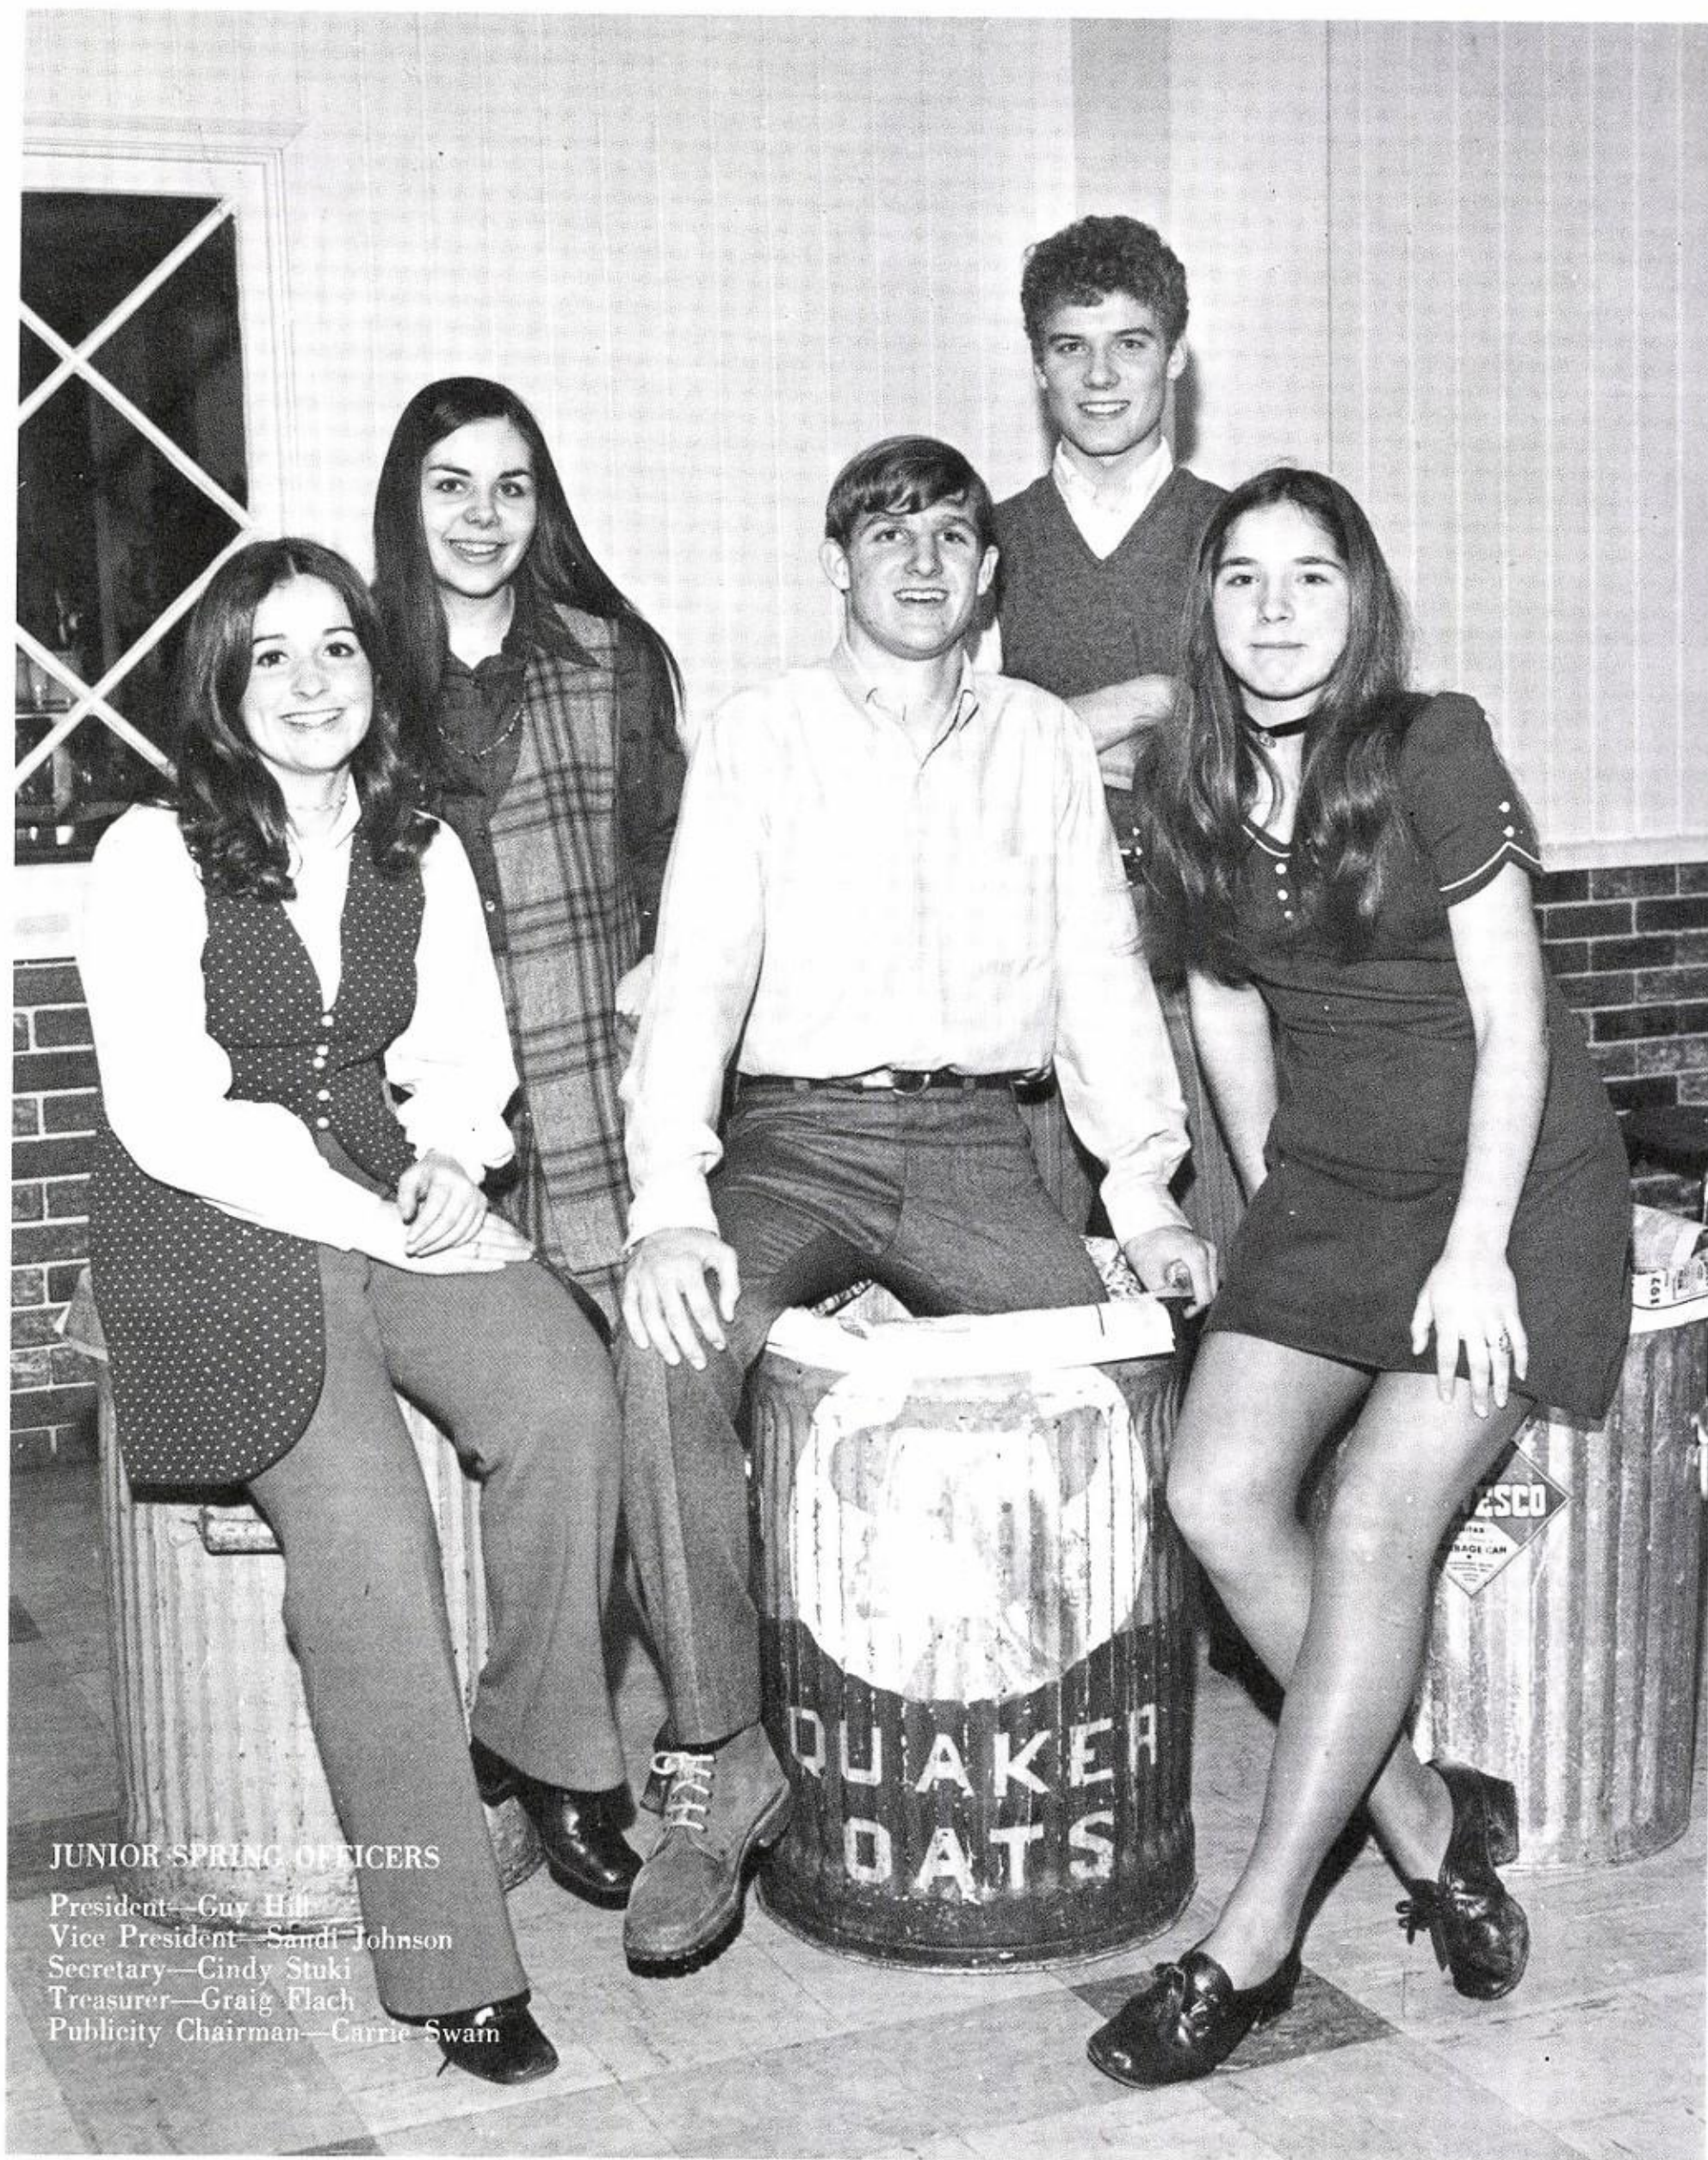

These may not be continued in future years, but the Junior Class Cabinet took an opportunity to react to the discontentment of many juniors with some traditions.

The Fall Junior Class Cabinet tried to help to bring student government to a more realistic level through their actions.

Curriculum Council, a new addition to student body government, consists of three members from each class. Junior Council members are Dawn Gallentine, Mike Weiss, and Don Dimoff.

Sergeants-at-Arms: Sally Daniels, Maureen McFarlane, John George, Karen Santell, Sue Johnson, Don Caniparoli.

Juniors Alter Traditions

"There are lots of things I can say as President of the Junior Class; but without unity and togetherness we cannot accomplish much. This is what I am working on first, both with my cabinet and the class as a whole. I want to keep the class informed."

Guy Hill

Junior Class President (Spring)

The new cabinet and old cabinet got together at the beginning of the spring term to discuss class activities. They decided to have one member of the outgoing cabinet go to all the Spring Cabinet's meetings to assist the new officers.

The Junior Class decided to have a Spring Dance, which could be semi-formal or formal, instead of the traditional Junior Prom. The Juniors worked hard on this project. Their efforts were headed by Karen Siegle.

"The Junior Cabinet is an excellent cabinet," stated Mrs. Borchers. "They know what they want, and they do it."

SOPHOMORES: FALL OFFICERS

President—Fred Rodd
Vice President—Carrie Bergstrom
Secretary—Gayle Grant
Treasurer—Steve Stone
Publicity Chairman—Linda Sanders

The Sun Shines On Sophomores

Since the Sophomore class was low on funds, their main objective was to increase their treasury to a more stable amount. Sophomore class week was the largest money-making project. Others included the traditional car washes and bake sales.

Spirited Sophomores wore royal blue ribbons throughout their week proclaiming: "The sun shines on us." Signs displaying this fact were placed in strategic places in the hall where the sun shines for the major part of the day. Unusually good weather made it an appropriate theme.

The most important achievement was the writing of the class constitution. Carrie Bergstrom, Carol Knutsen, and Bob Pearson were leaders in this project.

Fall Sergeants-at-Arms: (Seated): Deanne Dimoff. (Standing): Jeff Parker, Melvin Huie, Cheryl Inahara, Dennis Giena, Gail Martin.

Sophomores Stress Unity

"Our Spring Cabinet is really great. Our cabinet is working together with the class to promote spirit, and to get our class interested in all activities. Class unity and organization are two of the things that make a great class, and I will try to accomplish these things."

Carrie Bergstrom

Sophomore Class President (Spring)

Sophomore Week was held March 15 through 19. Such activities as "Pigtail and Tennis Shoes Day" and "Think Green Day" for St. Patrick's Day brightened the week. It was highlighted by a three hour dance on Friday, for which OKRA played.

Freshmen Preview Future

Since the freshman cabinet was elected near the middle of the school year, it was hard for them to get organized before the first semester was over. The cabinet planned to have meetings every two weeks. They organized a "Frosh" week and sponsored a dance. Writing the class constitution proved to be a challenge for the freshman cabinet.

"I think the freshman class has good insight on what's to happen the rest of their years at Franklin," commented Dave McGann, freshman class president.

SPRING

Student Council Makes Changes

The most powerful and potentially effective organ of student government, the Student Council, underwent a series of changes resulting from sentiments expressed during the mid-year elections. The election of student council representatives from the history and English classes was the most noticeable alteration. The expected results were more participation and better communication between the individual student and his leaders.

Spring Student Body President, Jack Landau, addresses students.

A.G.S. Keeps Up Tradition

Beginning her fall term, Marlene Roberti, A.G.S. president, scheduled bake sales and car washes during the summer. The purpose was to build the treasury so that more activities could be scheduled.

Keeping up the tradition of Girl-of-the-Month, the cabinet also took the job of arranging a fashion show featuring the many styles from Wards and Lipman's hi-boards.

Marlene believes that A.G.S. is "an important part in the activity functions in Franklin High School."

Spring A. G. S. Unites Girls

"The purpose of the Associated Girl Students is to provide a medium through which the girls as a unit may learn to work for a common goal, either as leaders or intelligent followers. It is also the goal of all its followers to promote the ideals of character and friendliness," comments Janice Blackman, spring president.

Twirp Week (April 19-23) and an April 30 banquet were part of Janice's goals. To let all girls participate, committees were set up.

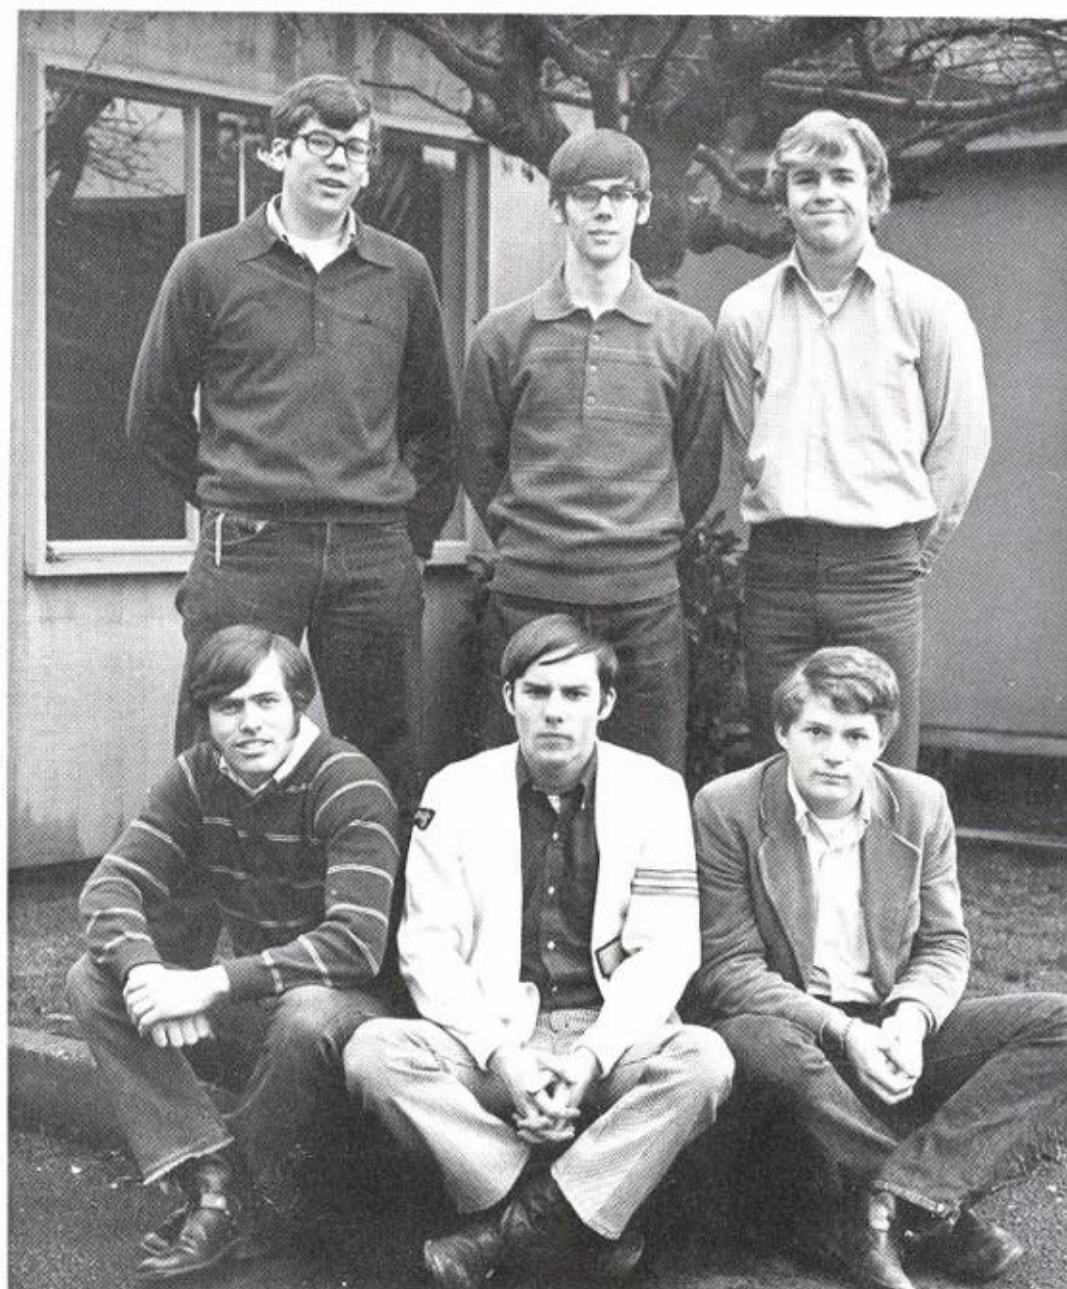

A.G.S. cabinet members are: Bev Bankston, Karen Benson, Janice Blackman, Denise Wong, Debbie Johnson.

Through the efforts of fall president Mike Ryan and his cabinet, the Association of Affiliated Franklin Men was put on a sound financial base. The treasury was bolstered by the money received from the sale of A.F.M. cards. The main goal of the two cabinets was to arouse interest in A.F.M. The major activities for the spring were: the selection of a former Franklin graduate as the "Alumnus of the Year" and the awarding of the "Man of the Year" award to the most deserving senior boy.

Seniors Earn Victory 29-25

On Tuesday, March 9, the senior girls experienced a victorious basketball game over the juniors. The Senior rally, Jack Landau, Steve Giordano, Dan and Larry Hall, and Mike Casciato, led the yells for their class. They wore the Varsity Wrestling Rally's outfits. Graig Flach, Mark Santangelo, Guy Hill, and Rick Jones, were on the junior rally. The girls practiced for four weeks at 7:15 in the morning in preparation for the game.

Joy Graham and Pam Biggs get the game off to a fast start.

Jack Landau promotes spirit.

The Junior rally, Mark Santangeto, Guy Hill, Graig Flach and Rick Jones, watch the game with interest.

Mardi Gras Comes Alive

A French maiden, a Spanish senorita, gypsies, peasants, gangsters, and clowns made their appearance at the Mardi Gras. The festivities were organized and initiated by foreign language students under the guidance of Miss Susan Wohld and Miss Dorothy Grant. Collections were taken up the preceding week to help pay for the food and decorations. The music started during eighth period and the dancing and merry making continued until 4:15.

Mugsy (Rod Hildenbrand) reinforces his threats.

Merrymakers pose at the Mardi Gras.

Costumed characters invade Franklin: Thresa Ryan, Bernice Hawkins, Heather Beard, Linda Mills, Cindy Klein, Donna Harding, and Beth Hammond.

The gypsy woman, Bernice Hawkins, speaks with a clown and a pair of peasants.

IN THE SOULS OF ITS CITIZENS WILL BE FOUND THE LIKENESS OF THE STATE WHICH
 IF THEY BE UNJUST AND TYRANNICAL
 THEN WILL IT REFLECT THEIR VICES BUT IF THEY BE LOVERS OF RIGHTEOUSNESS CONFIDENT IN THEIR LIBERTIES SO WILL
 IT BE CLEAN IN JUSTICE BOLD IN FREEDOM

Sue Johnson, Cindy Klein, and Linda Trappe admire round plaque embedded in capitol building floor.

Selected Students Tour Capitol

Two hundred juniors and seniors visited our state legislature in Salem to view the Congress in action.

March 3 proved to be an interesting day. Some students conversed with Secretary of State Clay Meyers and some chatted awhile with Bob Davis, governor's assistant. Governor Tom McCall was scheduled to speak but was officially absent.

Preceding lunch at 12:45, speakers were scheduled in the basement conference room. Franklin students were honored by listening to Senator Betty Roberts, Representative Marv Hollingsworth, Representative Robert Elliott, and a distinguished lobbyist.

Fifty students remained to sit in on committee meetings, where most of the legislative work is done. Among the subjects of meetings were litter, scholarship, motorcycle helmets, and firearms.

Dave Pelinka solemnly rides to the capitol.

Franklin students gather and meet in rotunda to await further instructions.

Career Center Dedicated

On Wednesday, March 10, the faculty and administration of Franklin sponsored the formal dedication of the James Manning Career Center. The activities began at 2:20 with an assembly in the auditorium followed by the ribbon cutting and tea. All students and teachers were invited to the assembly. Entertainment was provided by a brass quartet from the school's instrumental department. Miss Dana Small, a former mathematics teacher at Franklin, was guest speaker.

Mrs. Sara Borchers and Mrs. Emma Moore serve refreshments at the tea.

Mr. Richard Laughlin and Miss Dana Small watch as Mrs. James Manning officially opens the Manning Career Center.

Mike Weiss happily accepts his position on the Advisory Council.

Mike Appointed to Advisory Council

Junior Mike Weiss was one of the two student representatives on the Area 3 Advisory Council. After being recommended by Franklin's Student Council, Mike was interviewed by a screening committee. He received a letter of notification of his appointment in July 1970.

"This Council functions in an advisory capacity to the Area 3 Superintendent, much in the same way that the Board of Education functions to the Superintendent of Schools except that our decisions are not as binding," explained Mike.

Marily Attends Presidential Classroom

Senior Marily Caton was Franklin's representative to the Presidential Classroom in Washington, D.C. held February 13 to 20. To qualify, Marily wrote an essay stating why she wanted to attend. She was chosen by a special committee on the basis of her rated theme and records.

Besides attending seminars and participating in discussions, Marily toured the National Cathedral and the Arlington National cemetery. She also visited the Lincoln Memorial, Jefferson Memorial, the Capitol, and the National Archives.

The Baker's Labor Union and Portland Provision Trades Council raised the necessary funds for her trip.

Oregon Congresswoman Edith Green spends time with Marily Caton, Franklin's representative to the Presidential Classroom.

Tradition Takes a New Road

Breaking tradition, the junior class voted out the Junior Prom and replaced it with a spring formal dance. Unselfishly letting the whole school attend (instead of only juniors), the juniors added these profits to their existing funds for the Senior Prom.

Guided by the theme, "On the Threshold of a Dream," the decoration committee transformed the gym into a wonderland on April 17. Crossing the wooden bridge, couples stepped into a heavenly atmosphere. Reality was left behind. Dancing to the Midday Rain made the evening more beautiful and complete.

During Junior Week, the court was nominated and voted on by the whole class, another change in tradition. The counselors usually choose the court but, the court committee decided to have the class have a court that they themselves would pick.

Princess Terry Joins Rosaria

Amidst joyful tears, Princess Terry Brock was crowned, on April 7 by Miss Joan Vassar, as Franklin's 1971 representative to the Court of Rosaria.

Appearing in a pink scooped-neck formal with white daisy trim and sleeves, Princess Terry captured the hearts of Franklin students as she spoke of "Doorways to Dreams."

"When you find that opened doorway and know your dream, make your pathway to it rewarding. Don't fear it—come to know it, understand it, love it, and you shall attain it. When you touch that dream with your mind and heart, you know you have reached that unreachable star."

"I can't believe it!" exclaims Terry as the envelopes were opened.

Joann Vassar's reign ends as she places the crown on Princess Terry Brock.

Terry receives a warm hug from Ann Bennett.

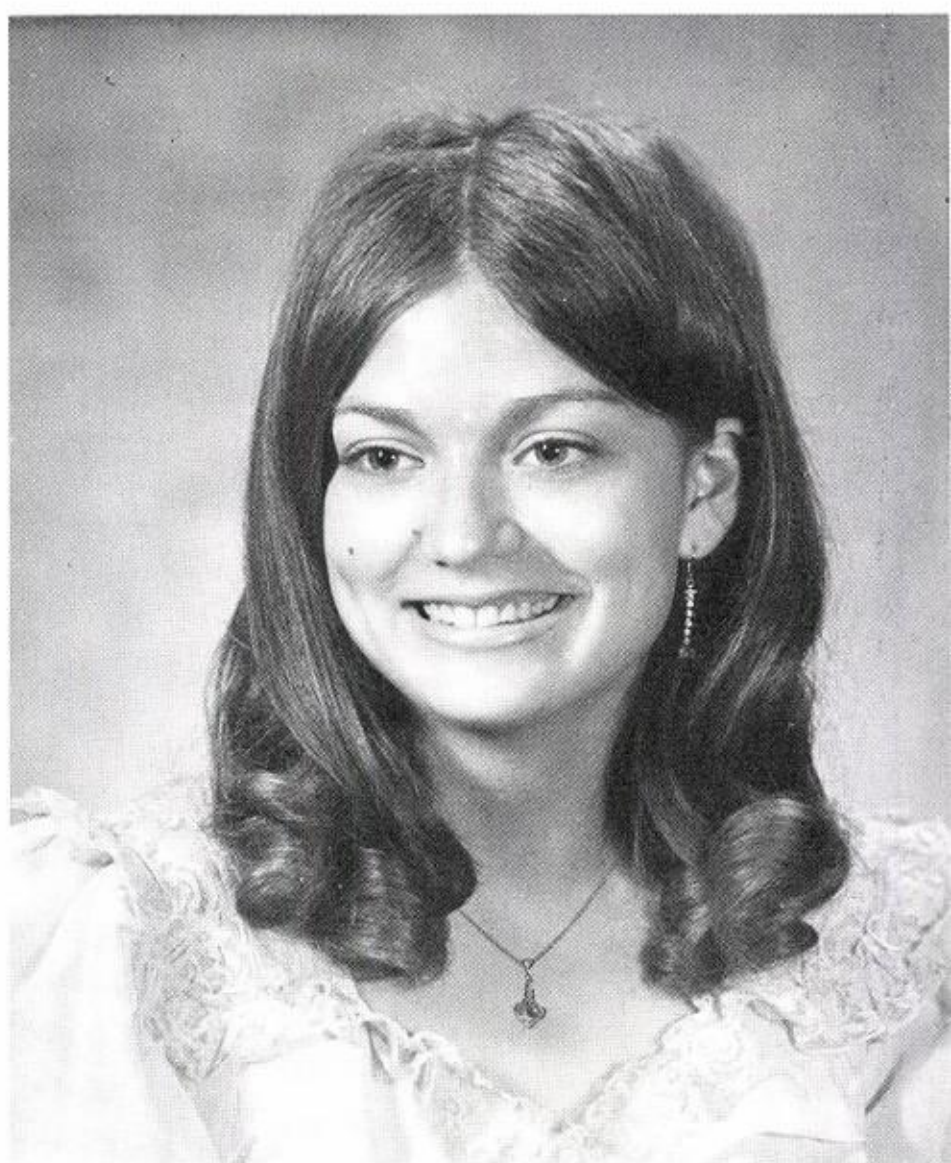

Candidates for Franklin's 1971 Rose Festival Princess were Ann Bennett, Karen Lee, Jeanne Lovlien, Lori Frimm, Terry Brock, Patty Fontana.

We've Only Just Begun

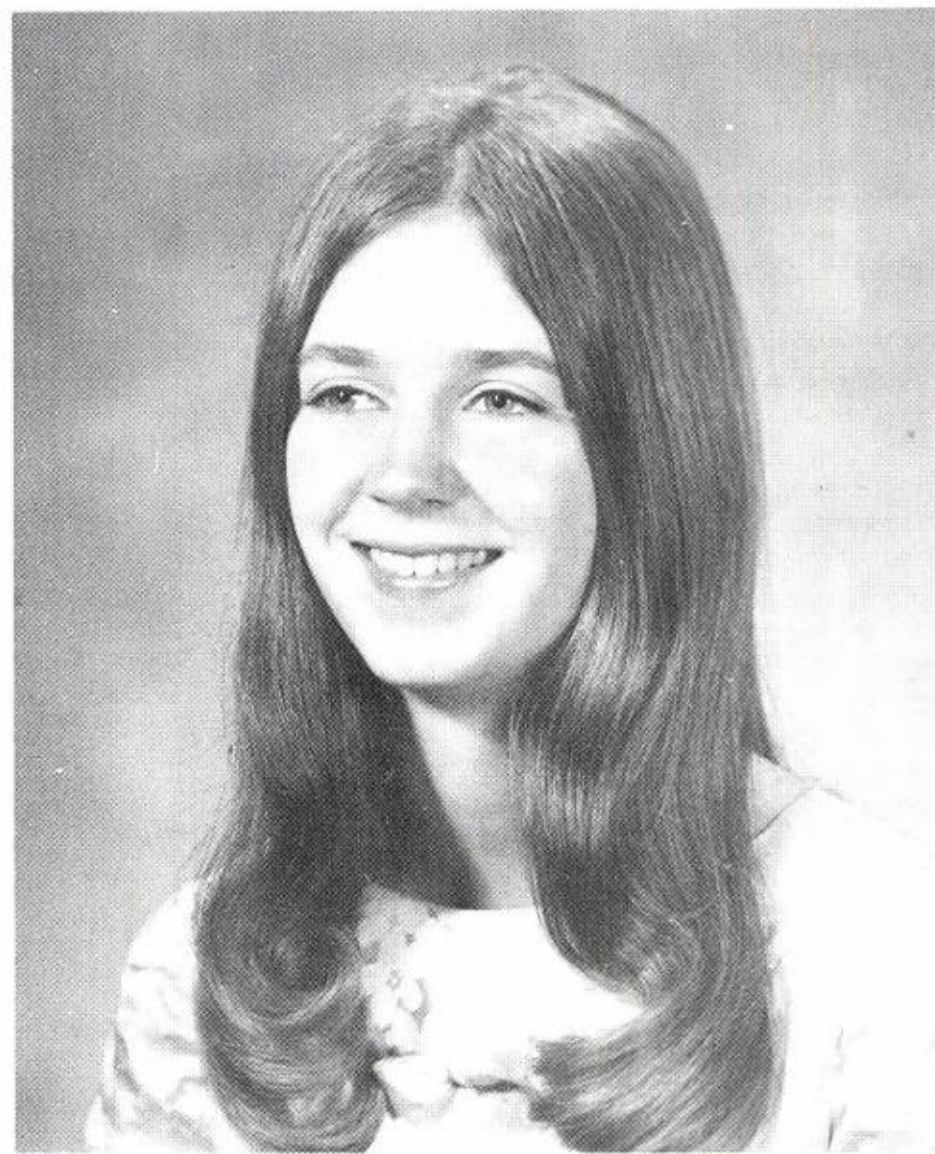

May Fete is the special time of year when one senior girl is crowned, honoring her for her services to the school.

This year's ceremonies, on May 7, involved more meaning, as was expressed in the theme, "We've Only Just Begun." It reflects the starting of a new life, the crossroads to reality.

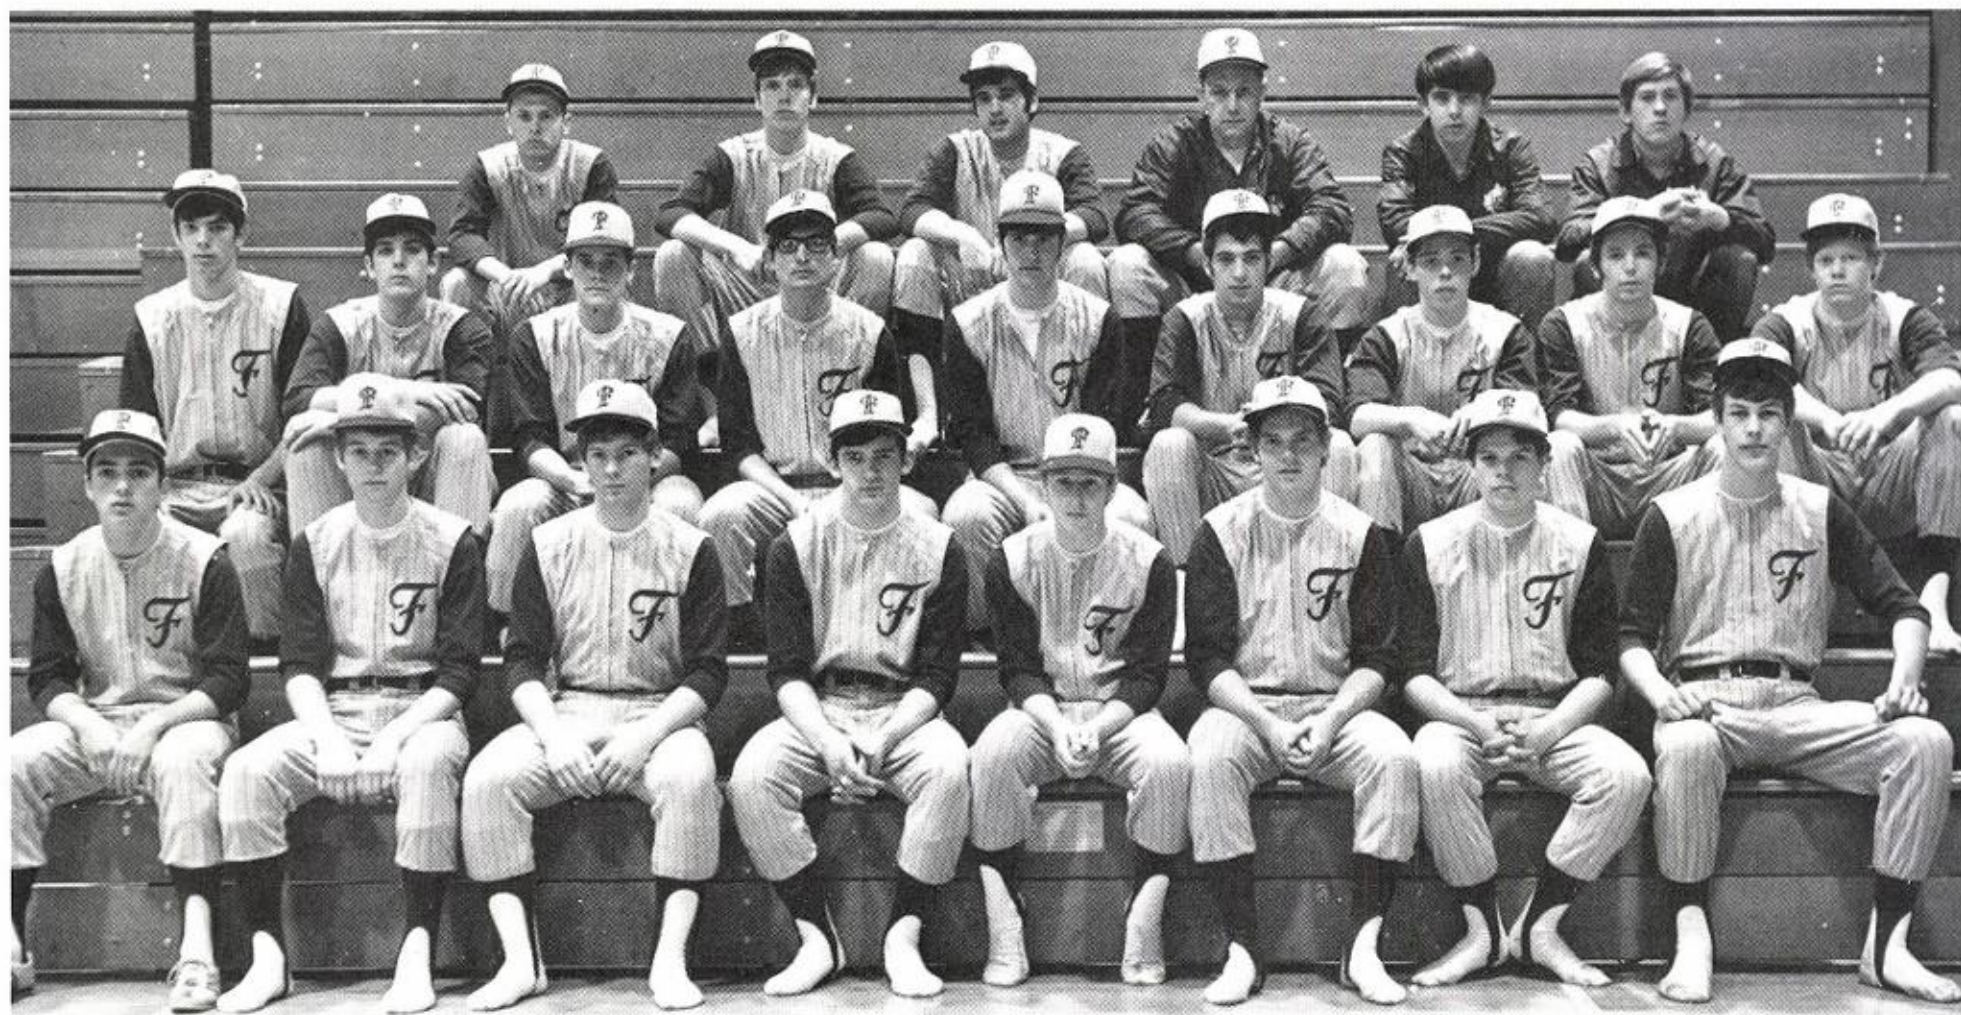

Seven girls were nominated to the court of May Fete and from them, a queen was chosen. This queen is not a sovereign without her knights. So, several people with unpublished services to Franklin were knighted.

Diamondmen Hit Well

Varsity Coach Walt Buckiewicz commented that if the pitching can match the team's early season hitting, the Quakers would have a fine season. Jim Elston, Bob Forsyth, Steve Roos, Rob McClintock, Curt Madson, and Gary Lawwill were expected to give Franklin support on the mound. All of the 20 players on the varsity roster provide consistent hitting for the team. Junior Varsity Coach Jack Knudsen and Freshman Coach Alan Ellis developed players for future baseball seasons.

Cindermen Show Winning Potential

Coach Jon Abraham felt this year's team was the finest he has coached in several seasons. Named as outstanding team members this year were, Guy Hill, Mike Lockhart, George Hunter, John George, and Oren Donnell.

The girls were as enthusiastic as the boys, and also had an excellent season.

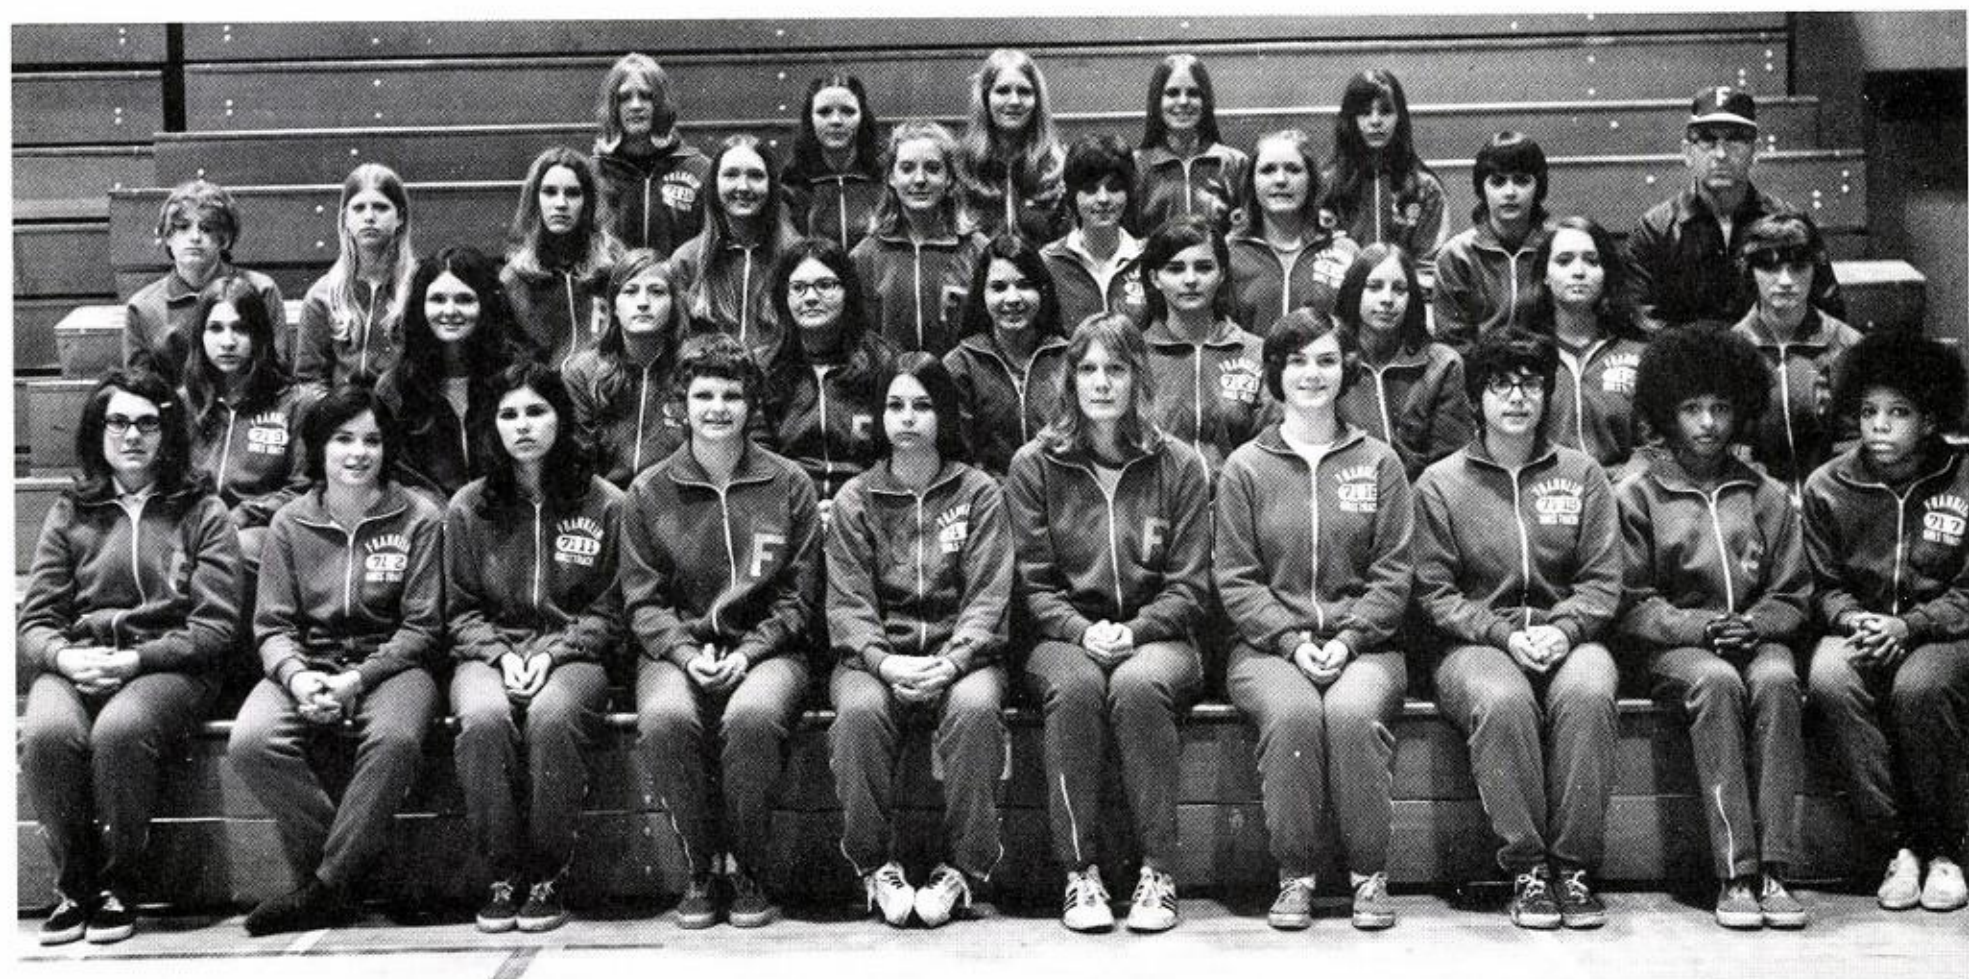

The girls turned out for daily workouts, to build a fine team. The girls' team defeated several strong teams such as Grant and David Douglas, and were looking forward to the city meets.

Golf Swings

Although the 1971 Franklin golf team was a young one, the season had been even in wins and losses. The team was led by Don Wiggins and Pete Lukich who played in the one and two positions. Consistent members of the team were Joel Bailey and Jeff Parker. The outlook for next year should be excellent with only one senior on this year's team.

Netters Volley

Both the boys' and the girls' tennis teams were strong and looked forward to winning seasons. Coached by Bob Coles, the boys' team was led by Stan Gish, first singles, Bob Baker, second singles, and Allan Sweet, third singles. Joanne Marini coached the large girls' team led by Betsy Tinker, first singles, Roberta Henderson, second singles, and Donna Roisom, third singles.

you,
How do I rate! The back Page! Shit how do I start off this original like. I mean it's been the same every year, "when you are Mrs. Capps and I am Mrs.
Jones..." only the names are changed to protect the innocent. But this year I think we are alot closer to the Mrs. bit than in years past. Shit this is our 6th or 7th year I'd say man - that's a long time and we've seen each other (a long time) through alot of shit, and I mean shit. But I think the worst is yet to come. (you thought I'd say over didn't ya!!) No!! There's alot to face yet. And I'd rather face it feet first, I have a phobia for trouble!!! I have one more fucking year, (you have 0) but I'll make it if I'm not pregnant. (ha ha) for your mother's benefit know where really can race to get Pregnant!!! (not really)

So as the two of us walk off into the sunset (looking for Ben + Steve, who are out on a drunk somewhere) we smile and say "well damn those ass holes, they can get it somewhere else," and trip marriely into the nearest bar on selves!! (knot true unless we both like a slow death!!) "But I love life and so do you, and so does Ben and Steve does too." Had to get in my poem for the day!!
Be Good as possible, (which isn't very damn good) and we'll have a ball this summer.

P.S.
the foam is down the
the toilet!! Penny times.

Love ya,
Penny

Aug 1
is still our dead line
(Steve & I)

Yer.
may I wish ya luck in future years to come.
Have fun this summer
a stay out of trouble; and Good luck in school; and stick with it.

TEXT
BEN READ THIS)
HI HOW HAVE YOU
BEN (oops). I'm fine.
HAVE FUN THIS SUMMER
KEEP ON GROOVEN AND KEEP COOL.
IT'S COOL @
MIKE

every-night my mind it wanders,
And everytime at you it ponders.
I'd tame the seas of Hell to a silent bliss
Just for a little of the love I miss.
I could live and die a million deaths, never stop and take a rest, just for you, your love's the best
